Subject: [EXTERNAL] RE: Finjan Amending Infringement Contentions

Dan,

Juniper opposes Finjan's proposed supplementation. There is no good cause to amend because Finjan knew, or at least should have known, that the Court would apply the construction of "content" that it applied because that is the same construction the PTAB applied. There is also no good cause to amend because the proposed amendments are futile for at least the reasons in our briefing on the Court's Order to Show Cause.

Please explain why Finjan believes that there is good cause to amend. After we have a chance to consider, we can schedule a time to confer, as you requested.

Regards,
Josh

Subject: Finjan Amending Infringement Contentions

Counsel,

In light of the Court's recent claim construction on the '154 Patent, Finjan will be amending its infringement contentions. Please advise whether Juniper agrees to such amendment, or else please provide a time for lead counsel to meet and confer on this issue.

Regards,

Dan
