DOCKET A L A R M Find authenticated court documents without watermarks at docketalarm.com. Plaintiff PersonalWeb Technologies, LLC ("Plaintiff" or "PersonalWeb") files this First Amended Complaint ("Complaint") for patent infringement against Defendant Buzzfeed, Inc.
 ("Defendant"). Plaintiff PersonalWeb Technologies, LLC alleges:

PRELIMINARY STATEMENT

PersonalWeb and Level 3 Communications, LLC ("Level 3") are parties to an agreement between Kinetech, Inc. and Digital Island, Inc. dated September 1, 2000 (the "Agreement").
 Pursuant to the Agreement, PersonalWeb and Level 3 each own a fifty percent (50%) undivided interest in and to the patents at issue in this action: U.S. Patent Nos. 6,928,442, 7,802,310, and 8,099,420 ("Patents-in-Suit"). Level 3 has joined in this Complaint pursuant to its contractual obligations under the Agreement, at the request of PersonalWeb.

Pursuant to the Agreement, Level 3 has, among other rights, certain defined rights to use, practice, license, sublicense and enforce and/or litigate the Patents-in-Suit in connection with a particular field of use ("Level 3 Exclusive Field"). Pursuant to the Agreement PersonalWeb has, among other rights, certain defined rights to use, practice, license, sublicense, enforce and/or litigate the Patents-in-Suit in fields other than the Level 3 Exclusive Field (the "PersonalWeb Patent Field").

17 3. All infringement allegations, statements describing PersonalWeb, statements 18 describing any Defendant (or any Defendant's products) and any statements made regarding 19 jurisdiction and venue are made by PersonalWeb alone, and not by Level 3. PersonalWeb alleges that 20 the infringements at issue in this case all occur within, and are limited to, the PersonalWeb Patent 21 Field. Accordingly, PersonalWeb has not provided notice to Level 3—under Section 6.4.1 of the 22 Agreement or otherwise—that PersonalWeb desires to bring suit in the Level 3 Exclusive Field in its 23 own name on its own behalf or that PersonalWeb knows or suspects that Defendant is infringing or 24 has infringed any of Level 3's rights in the patents.

PERSONALWEB BACKGROUND

8 13. The Patents-in-Suit cover fundamental aspects of cloud computing, including the 9 identification of files or data and the efficient retrieval thereof in a manner which reduces bandwidth 10 transmission and storage requirements.

11 14. The ability to reliably identify and access specific data is essential to any computer 12 system or network. On a single computer or within a small network, the task is relatively easy: simply 13 name the file, identify it by that name and its stored location on the computer or within the network, 14 and access it by name and location. Early operating systems facilitated this approach with standardized 15 naming conventions, storage device identifiers, and folder structures.

16 15. Ronald Lachman and David Farber, the inventors of the Patents-in-Suit, recognized 17 that the conventional approach for naming, locating, and accessing data in computer networks could 18 not keep pace with ever-expanding, global data processing networks. New distributed storage systems 19 use files that are stored across different devices in dispersed geographic locations. These different 20 locations could use dissimilar conventions for identifying storage devices and data partitions. 21 Likewise, different users could give identical names to different files or parts of files—or unknowingly 22 give different names to identical files. No solution existed to ensure that identical file names referred 23 to the same data, and conversely, that different file names referred to different data. As a result, 24 expanding networks could not only become clogged with duplicate data, they also made locating and 25 controlling access to stored data more difficult.

Lachman and Farber developed a solution: replacing conventional naming and storing conventions with system-wide "substantially unique," content-based identifiers. Their approach assigned substantially unique identifiers to "data items" of any type: "the contents of a file, a portion of a file, a page in memory, an object in an object-oriented program, a digital message, a digital scanned image, a part of a video or audio signal, or any other entity which can be represented by a sequence of bits." Applied system-wide, this invention would permit any data item to be stored, located, managed, synchronized, and accessed using its content-based identifier.

5 17. To create a substantially unique, content-based identifier, Lachman and Farber turned 6 to cryptography. Cryptographic hash functions, including MD4, MD5, and SHA, had been used in 7 computer systems to verify the integrity of retrieved data—a so-called "checksum." Lachman and 8 Farber recognized that these same hash functions could be devoted to a vital new purpose: if a 9 cryptographic hash function was applied to a sequence of bits (a "data item"), it would produce a 10 substantially unique result value, one that: (1) virtually guarantees a different result value if the data 11 item is changed; (2) is computationally difficult to reproduce with a different sequence of bits; and 12 (3) cannot be used to recreate the original sequence of bits.

13 18. These cryptographic hash functions would thus assign any sequence of bits, based on 14 content alone, with a substantially unique identifier. Lachman and Farber estimated that the odds of 15 these hash functions producing the same identifier for two different sequences of bits (i.e., the 16 "probability of collision") would be about 1 in 2 to the 29th power. Lachman and Farber dubbed their 17 content-based identifier a "True Name."

18 19. Using a True Name, Lachman and Farber conceived various data structures and 19 methods for managing data (each data item correlated with a single True Name) within a network-20 no matter the complexity of the data or the network. These data structures provide a key-map 21 organization, allowing for a rapid identification of any particular data item anywhere in a network by 22 comparing a True Name for the data item against other True Names for data items already in the 23 network. In operation, managing data using True Names allows a user to determine the location of 24 any data in a network, determine whether access is authorized, and to selectively provide access to 25 specific content not possible using the conventional naming arts.

26 20. On April 11, 1995, Lachman and Farber filed their patent application, describing these 27 and other ways in which content-based "True Names" elevated data-processing systems over 28 conventional file-naming systems. The first True Name patent issued on November 2, 1999. The last

Explore Litigation Insights

Docket Alarm provides insights to develop a more informed litigation strategy and the peace of mind of knowing you're on top of things.

Real-Time Litigation Alerts

Keep your litigation team up-to-date with real-time alerts and advanced team management tools built for the enterprise, all while greatly reducing PACER spend.

Our comprehensive service means we can handle Federal, State, and Administrative courts across the country.

Advanced Docket Research

With over 230 million records, Docket Alarm's cloud-native docket research platform finds what other services can't. Coverage includes Federal, State, plus PTAB, TTAB, ITC and NLRB decisions, all in one place.

Identify arguments that have been successful in the past with full text, pinpoint searching. Link to case law cited within any court document via Fastcase.

Analytics At Your Fingertips

Learn what happened the last time a particular judge, opposing counsel or company faced cases similar to yours.

Advanced out-of-the-box PTAB and TTAB analytics are always at your fingertips.

API

Docket Alarm offers a powerful API (application programming interface) to developers that want to integrate case filings into their apps.

LAW FIRMS

Build custom dashboards for your attorneys and clients with live data direct from the court.
