David,

I have communicated with my client and we are prepared to accept the new language you have inserted on the condition that you agree we have until Friday, June 6, to file the stipulation and order of dismissal with the Court. For business reasons other than this case, my client needs that timing. This email shall constitute our agreement today to the terms of the dismissal as you have expressed them. We agree that no further action by any party in connection with this case shall occur, that no party will be serving expert reports on Monday, and that our office will file the stipulation of dismissal and order in the form you have proposed on or before Friday, June 6.

Please let me know ASAP if you have any problem with any of the above. Thanks.

Best regards,

Jeanne

Jeanne,

I tweaked the attached documents to clarify that Amazon retains all defenses in any future litigation. With those clarifications you may file. Please let me know if there are any issues. You can reach me on my cell at [REDACTED] if needed. Thank you.

take care

Dave

David,

At the request of Larry Hadley, I've attached a stipulation and an order of dismissal of the PWeb v. Amazon case. Please be aware that our client has not had an opportunity to review these documents, and so they are submitted with the understanding that they are subject to our client's approval. Please let me know if the attached documents are in a form acceptable to your client. Thanks.

Best regards,

Jeanne Irving
