1 Amazon.com, Inc. and Amazon Web Services, Inc. (collectively, “Amazon”) respectfully
2 request, with consent by PersonalWeb Communications, LLC (“PersonalWeb”), a telephonic con-
3 ference with the Court on July 25, 2019 at 11:00 a.m., to address scheduling issues in light of 4 Amazon’s pending motion for judgment on the pleadings on infringement claims against Cloud-
5 Front (the “CloudFront motion”). (See Dkt. 413.)

6 The hearing for the CloudFront motion is currently scheduled for October 3, 2019, the 7 Court’s earliest available date for the motion. However, Amazon contends resolution of the Cloud-
8 Front motion will determine whether CloudFront will remain an accused technology at issue in this 9 action, and will therefore have a significant effect on the scope of the expert reports that are cur-
10 rently due on August 23, 2019. In fact, Amazon contends that if the Court dismisses the CloudFront
11 claims from the action, that will resolve the Amazon case in its entirety. For these reasons, Amazon 12 respectfully requests a telephonic conference for the Court to consider an expedited resolution of 13 the CloudFront motion.

14 Before requesting this conference, Amazon sought to confer with PersonalWeb on this is-15 sue. Amazon suggested that, with the Court’s permission, the parties could stipulate to waive oral 16 argument to render the motion ripe for decision. PersonalWeb has informed Amazon that it does 17 not waive oral argument and that it intends to present oral argument on the motion as is currently 18 scheduled, or at a sooner noticed hearing date that is convenient for the Court and on which counsel 19 for all parties is available. PersonalWeb has also informed Amazon that the Court would be aided 20 by oral argument on the issues raised by the Motion, including issues raised by Amazon’s reply.

23 Respectfully submitted,
