Patrick,

Thanks for the call yesterday.

Following up, below are categories of documents that Amazon would like PersonalWeb to prioritize from the Stubbs Alderton collection. As we stated, the intent in prioritizing these categories for collection/production is that Amazon upon reviewing them may be able to forego or limit further production. We have added two categories beyond those discussed on the call, though it may be the case that PersonalWeb has already produced all documents responsive to one of the categories.

Initial Priority Categories:

1. Any responsive documents or communications for which Mr. Markiles is a custodian, sender, recipient.
2. Documents concerning the corporate or investment structure of PersonalWeb, including the purpose of its structure vis a vis its investors and principals, and any advice provided by Stubbs Alderton or other professionals concerning those subjects.
3. Information on the loans between PersonalWeb and the secured creditors, including but not limited to, why PersonalWeb entered into the loans, negotiations of the loans, extensions of the loans, and the decisions to foreclose on the loans, including any advice provided by Stubbs Alderton or other professionals concerning those subjects.
4. Information on the receivership, including the possibly of entering into a receivership, the decision to enter into receivership, purpose of the receivership, and winding-up/termination of the receivership, including any advice provided by Stubbs Alderton or other professionals concerning those subjects.
5. Documents responsive to ROG No. 9, i.e., communications regarding a potential for a fee award against PersonalWeb in seeking to monetize its patent assets. ROG No. 9 asks for an identification of these communications by Bates number, and they are also responsive to at least RFPs 22, 29, 35, 41, and 42, and potentially others.
6. Any communications between Stubbs Alderton and Ronald Richards.
7. All agreements between Stubbs Alderton and PersonalWeb or its principals.

We look forward to the Monday status report, including PersonalWeb's proposal for completing review and production of the other withheld documents on a rolling basis and in accordance with the Court's deadline.

Regards,
Chris

Patrick,

We would like to confer concerning the SAM production, specifically a proposal to prioritize certain categories of documents. Are you available tomorrow?

Best,
