

EXHIBIT B
TO DASHE DECLARATION

The screenshot shows a web browser window with the URL <https://web.archive.org/web/20040208224016/http://nuvasive.com/>. The browser's address bar shows the URL, and the page title is "http://nuvasive.com/". The browser interface includes a search bar with "862 captures" and a date range of "5 Dec 1998 - 1 Nov 2020". The main content area features a purple navigation bar with links: "Maximum Access Surgery", "Classic Fusion", "Motion Preservation", "Corporate Info", "For Surgeons", and "For Patients". Below the navigation bar, the "CoRoent Family of Radiolucent Systems" is highlighted. The page content includes the CoRoent logo, a description of the radiolucent design, and images of three white plastic surgical instruments. A disclaimer states: "This device is not intended for spinal indications. The safety and effectiveness of this device when implanted in the spine have not been established." The NuVasive logo "Creative Spine Technology" is visible in the bottom right corner of the main content area. The footer contains links for "Home", "Calendar", "Careers", and "Contact", along with copyright information: "All contents © Copyright NuVasive, Inc. 2002, 2003, 2004. | Terms and Conditions | Privacy Policy".