DEFENDANT OMNIVISION TECHNOLOGIES, INC.'S
ANSWER TO COMPLAINT FOR PATENT INFRINGEMENT

Defendant OmniVision Technologies, Inc. (“OmniVision”) hereby answers Plaintiff Godo Kaisha IP Bridge 1’s (“IP Bridge”) Complaint for Patent Infringement (“Complaint”), on personal knowledge as to its own activities and on information and belief as to the activities of others, as follows:

THE PARTIES

1. OmniVision lacks knowledge or information sufficient to form a belief as to the truth of the allegations contained in paragraph 1 of the Complaint, and on that basis denies them.
2. OmniVision admits that it is a corporation organized and existing under the laws of the State of Delaware, and has a principal place of business at 4275 Burton Drive, Santa Clara, California 95054. Except as expressly admitted, OmniVision denies the allegations contained in paragraph 2 of the Complaint.

JURISDICTION AND VENUE

3. OmniVision admits that the complaint purports to allege an action for patent infringement under the patent laws of the United States of America, Title 35 of the United States. While parties cannot confer subject matter jurisdiction on a federal court, OmniVision admits this Court has subject matter jurisdiction over an action for patent infringement pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §§ 1331 and 1338(a). Except as expressly admitted, OmniVision denies the allegations contained in paragraph 3 of the Complaint.

4. OmniVision does not contest personal jurisdiction in the District of Delaware. OmniVision admits that it is a corporation organized and existing under the laws of the State of Delaware. OmniVision admits that it has a registered agent for service of process in the State of Delaware. Except as expressly admitted, OmniVision denies the allegations contained in paragraph 4 of the Complaint.

5. OmniVision does not contest personal jurisdiction in the District of Delaware. Except as expressly admitted, OmniVision denies the allegations contained in paragraph 5 of the Complaint.

6. For the purpose of this action only, OmniVision admits that venue is proper in the District of Delaware pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §§ 1391(b) and 1400(b). OmniVision denies that this Court is a convenient venue for this action and seeks transfer to a more convenient forum. Except as expressly admitted, OmniVision denies the allegations contained in paragraph 6 of the Complaint.

PATENTS-IN-SUIT

7. OmniVision admits that Exhibit A to the Complaint purports to be a copy of U.S. Patent No. 6,583,324 (“the ’324 patent”). OmniVision further admits that, on its face, the ’324 patent is entitled “Multi-layered wiring layer and method of fabricating the same,” has an issue date of March 25, 2003. OmniVision lacks knowledge or information sufficient to form a belief as to the truth of the remaining allegations contained in paragraph 7 of the Complaint, and on that basis denies them.

8. OmniVision admits that Exhibit B to the Complaint purports to be a copy of U.S. Patent No. 6,794,677 (“the ’677 patent”). OmniVision further admits that, on its face, the ’677 patent is entitled “Semiconductor integrated circuit device and method for fabricating the same,” has an issue date of September 21, 2004.
