    E. The Spin-Off .....7

    F. The Precedex Premix Project .....8

    G. FK’s Evidence of Inherency .....10

ARGUMENT .....11

I. THE 2% LIMITATION RENDERS THE CLAIMS NON-OBVIOUS .....11

    A. FK failed to show the 2% limitation was inherently present in the prior art .....11

        1. FK was required to exclude the possibility that an embodiment of claim 6 would fail the 2% limitation .....12

        2. Inherency cannot be shown by proving only that the inventor’s own work and the infringing product meet the limitation .....12

        3. The 20 µg/mL samples from the IND disprove inherency .....13

    B. FK’s new “reasonable expectation of success theory” is legally improper and unsupported by the record .....14

        1. FK’s RES theory is contrary to the law .....14

        2. FK failed to prove there was a reasonable expectation of success for the 2% limitation .....17

            a. The evidence precludes a reasonable expectation of success that the 2% limitation would be met .....18

            b. FK failed to prove a reasonable expectation of success for the 2% limitation .....20

                1) Dexmed is not “rock stable” .....21

                2) Attorney argument is belied by the evidence .....22

II. THE CLAIMS ARE NOT OBVIOUS OVER THE IND .....23

    A. The IND is not prior art under the on sale bar .....24

        1. Neither Shafer nor the IND were on sale .....24

            a. The IND is not an embodiment of Shafer .....24

            b. The 1994 Agreement did not trigger the on-sale bar .....25

1)	The IND is licensed ‘Know-How’ .....	26
2)	The FDA letters cannot override the license.....	27

2.	The IND was used for experimental purposes .....	30
3.	Shafer did not disclose an invention ready for patenting.....	31

2.	Shafer was disclosed as part of a joint research effort.....	35
C.	Shafer and Precedex Concentrate do not render the claims obvious .....	36
III.	THE CLAIMS OF THE ’106 PATENT ARE ENABLED .....	37
A.	The ’106 patent teaches a POSA how to make the claimed formulation .....	37
B.	The ’106 patent is not required to delineate every possible configuration that meets the 2% limitation .....	39
IV.	CONCLUSION.....	41
	PROPOSED FINDINGS OF FACT AND CONCLUSIONS OF LAW .....	41
I.	FINDINGS OF FACT.....	41
A.	Obviousness .....	41
B.	Enablement of the ’106 patent .....	44
