I. INTRODUCTION

The Board instituted this CBM Review because it found that it was “more likely than not that Petitioner would prevail in establishing unpatentability of claims 1, 12-25, 30-32, 42, and 43” under 35 U.S.C. § 101. Institution Decision, Paper No. 19 at 26 (P.T.A.B. Mar. 4, 2014) (“ID”). Nothing in the Patent Owner’s Response (“POR”) changes the reasoned and correct conclusions of the Board.

Alice reaffirmed that claims directed to abstract ideas, without limitations sufficient to tie them down, are patent ineligible. Rather than address this standard, Patent Owner (“PO”) concocts its own misguided tests for patent-eligibility that have no basis in precedent and run afoul of the holdings in Alice and CyberSource.

II. CLAIM CONSTRUCTION

The Board’s constructions in the Institution Decision were correct, and should be adopted in the Final Decision.<sup>1</sup> Under the guise of “lexicography,” PO’s proposed construction of “commission engine” represents an improper attempt to amend claims, not construe them. PO’s proposed constructions are unsupported by the claim language or the specification. In any event, since PO proposes even *broad*er constructions than already-adopted by the Board, these proposed

<sup>1</sup> Indeed, PO does not challenge the Board’s constructions of “module,” “modules,” “backbone,” and “engine.” POR 16.
