TABLE OF CONTENTS

I. INTRODUCTION	2
II. THE '013 PATENT HAS NOT BEEN SHOWN TO BE ELIGIBLE FOR COVERED BUSINESS METHOD PATENT REVIEW.	4
A. Petitioners Fail To Meet Their Burden To Demonstrate That The '013 Patent Is A Covered Business Method Patent.	5
1. Whether the '013 Patent is a covered business method patent depends on what the Patent claims.	6
2. Claim 14 (like claims 7 and 16) is disclaimed and cannot be a basis for standing.	11
3. Petitioners' arguments based on claim 14 cannot support standing. ...	12
4. Petitioners' citations to the specification in reference to what the Patent claims do not support standing.	18
5. Assertion of the Patent against providers of financial products or services does not support standing.	20
6. The Board's institution decision in an earlier case based on a disclaimed claim in another patent does not support standing.	22
B. Even If Petitioners Had Not Forfeited Other Standing Arguments, They Could Not Have Shown The Patent Is Directed To Financial Activities. ...	24
1. Standing must be based on what the patent claims, not what it discloses but does not claim.	25
2. The Patent's remaining claims are undisputedly not directed to financial activities.	26
3. The Office previously found that subject matter to which the Patent is directed is not directed towards financial activities.	28
4. The Board has found that claims with similar subject matter are not directed to financial activities.	31

C. Review Must Also Be Denied Because The Patent Is For A Technological Invention.....33

1. Petitioners’ attempts to show that the Patent does not claim a novel and unobvious technological feature instead confirm the opposite.36

 a. The claims are apparatus claims replete with technical features......37

 b. Petitioners fail to disprove the claimed technical features’ novelty and nonobviousness individually......37

 c. Petitioners fail to disprove the claimed technical features’ novelty and nonobviousness collectively......39

 d. *Petitioners’ untested expert testimony does not eliminate these flaws.*41

 e. *Petitioners fail to refute the intrinsic evidence of novelty and nonobviousness in technical features of the claims.*42

 f. *Petitioners also fail to overcome the extrinsic evidence of novelty and nonobviousness.*46

2. Petitioners do not show that the Patent does not solve a technical problem with a technical solution, and the Patent in fact uses both hardware and software to solve a technical communication problem.47

III. EVEN IF THE PATENT HAD BEEN DEMONSTRATED TO BE A COVERED BUSINESS METHOD PATENT, THE PETITION WOULD STILL NOT SATISFY THE 35 U.S.C. § 324 THRESHOLD.....52

A. Petitioners’ Unpatentability Arguments Cannot Be Fully Addressed At The Institution Stage.....52

B. The Petition Makes Incorrect Claim Construction Proposals.53

 1. The “Broadest Reasonable Interpretation” Claim Construction Standard Should Not Apply In This Case.53

a. The Patent will expire before any final written decision.	54
b. No claims will be added or amended.	55
c. The same construction standard should apply at institution as at trial.	55
2. Petitioners propose an incorrect construction of “transaction groups.”	59
3. Other terms should be construed according to their ordinary meaning.....	60
IV. PETITIONERS PROPOSE REDUNDANT GROUNDS OF REVIEW....	60
A. The Board Routinely Rejects Redundant Or Duplicative Grounds.....	61
B. Proposed Grounds I And II, Which Both Attack The Same Claims On The Same Statutory Basis, Are Redundant.....	63
C. Proposed Grounds III and IV are each vertically and horizontally redundant.	64
V. CONCLUSION.....	66
