Remarks

The claims as issued in the '276 Patent remain unchanged by this Preliminary Amendment. New Claims 17-21 are added. The newly added claims are directed to additional features of the contemplated invention. Support for the new claims can be found in the specification of the '276 Patent (and its originally filed application), and also in the specification of U.S. Patent No. 7,814,575 ("the '575 Patent") from which priority is claimed. No new matter is added by these amendments.

Pursuant to 37 CFR §1.173(c), the following is an identification of the support for the added claims as found in the specification of the '276 Patent (for which reissue is sought) and the '575 Patent.

Newly Added Claim 17

17. The garment portion of claim 15, wherein the stitches or knitted tension extend along multiple paths arranged in an elliptical pattern that curves, so as to cradle a curved abdomen.

Column 4, lines 11-13 of the '276 Patent (for which reissue is sought) describes the claimed feature as follows: "The knitted tension or stitches extend along multiple stitch paths grouped in an elliptical pattern that curves so as to cradle a curved growing abdomen..."

Similarly, column 3, line 67-column 2, line 2 of the '575 Patent describes the claimed feature as follows: "The knitted tension or stitches extend along multiple stitch paths grouped in an elliptical pattern that curves so as to cradle a curved growing abdomen..."

Newly Added Claim 18

18. The garment portion of claim 1, wherein the belly panel further comprises a series of stitches or knitted tension in a backside of the belly panel to provide spinal and back support against the wearer.

Column 4, lines 15-19 of the '276 Patent (for which reissue is sought) describes the claimed feature as follows: "...the backside of the garment upper portion 102 is provided with spinal column and back support for a wearer of the garment, in the form of a series of sewn supporting stitches or knitted tension..."

Column 4, lines 4-8 of the '575 Patent describes the claimed feature as follows: "...the backside of the garment upper portion 102 is provided with spinal column and back support for a wearer of the garment, in the form of a series of sewn supporting stitches or knitted tension..."

Newly Added Claim 19

19. The garment portion of claim 18, wherein the series of stitches or knitted tension extends along a pattern of multiple stitch paths.

Column 4, lines 12-13 of the '575 Patent describes the claimed feature as follows: "For example, the series of supporting stitches are arranged along multiple stitch paths..."

Newly Added Claim 20

20. The garment portion of claim 1, wherein the belly panel defines a tubular structure that is shaped and formed as a hyperboloid cylinder to fit a body type having a tapered torso.

Column 3, lines 62-64 of the '276 Patent (for which reissue is sought) describes the claimed feature as follows: "...the tubular structure is shaped and formed as ... hyperboloid cylinder to fit a body type having a tapered torso..."

Column 3, lines 52-54 of the '575 Patent also describes the claimed feature as follows: "...the tubular structure is shaped and formed as a... hyperboloid cylinder to fit a body type having a tapered torso..."

Newly Added Claim 21

21. The garment portion of claim 1, wherein the belly panel defines a tubular structure that is shaped and formed as a straight-sided cylinder to fit a body type having a correspondingly shaped torso.

Column 3, lines 66-67 of the '276 Patent (for which reissue is sought) describes the claimed feature as follows: "...the tubular structure is shaped and formed as a straight-sided cylinder..."

Similarly, column 3, lines 55-56 of the '575 Patent describes the claimed feature as follows: "...the tubular structure is shaped and formed as a straight-sided cylinder..."

Conclusion

As indicated above, there is support for each of the features of the claims as added by this Preliminary Amendment in the specification of US Patent No. 7,900,276 (for which reissue is now sought), and in the specification of US Patent No. 7,814,575 (from which priority is claimed).

It is respectfully submitted that the claims as pending in this reissue application are in allowable form. Acceptance of all amendments and a notice of allowance are requested, followed by publication of the reissue patent.

BELLY COVERING GARMENTCROSS REFERENCE TO RELATED APPLICATION

The present application is a continuation of U.S. patent application Ser. No. 11/756,242, filed May 31, 2007 now U.S. Pat. No. 7,814,575.

FIELD OF THE INVENTION

The present invention relates to a garment worn during different stages of pregnancy and different stages of postpartum body changes.

BACKGROUND OF THE INVENTION

Garments intended to cover a wearer's body below the abdomen or belly during various stages of pregnancy have been manufactured as knits or woven fabrics. Some of the knits or woven fabric garments are constructed with an elastic belt or waist band which caused discomfort when tightened about the body. Some of the garments have stretchable fabric panels sewn into place with sewn seams. Such garments cause discomfort due to the presence of the sewn seams, urged by elastic stretching of the panels pressing against the torso. Moreover, women have complained that such garments are difficult to keep in place, as they gradually slip downward while they are being worn.

Denim jeans or trousers have been recycled by removing the waistband at the front of the jeans and replacing the same with an elastic band that cradles a growing abdomen. Alternatively, denim jeans or trousers are manufactured without a waistband at the front so that a separate band can be attached at the front.

Accordingly, a need exists for a garment that covers and fits a growing abdomen during different stages of pregnancy. Such a garment is required to stay up, and desirably would fit comfortably while being worn. Moreover, such a garment would stay up when worn over different body types.

SUMMARY OF THE INVENTION

A purpose of the invention is to provide a garment that adapts to cover and fit a growing abdomen during pregnancy, wherein the garment stays up when worn.

A garment comprises a garment upper portion and a garment lower portion. The garment upper portion has a belly panel that is expansible to cover and fit over a growing abdomen during different stages of pregnancy. The garment lower portion has a first torso encircling circumference that recedes downward to make way for expansion of the belly panel. The garment upper portion has a second torso encircling circumference to hold the garment up and in place over the torso.

An embodiment of the garment is adjustable to encircle different body types. Another embodiment of the invention provides a garment that fits comfortably while being worn.

An embodiment of the garment comprises an adjustable torso encircling circumference that is adjustable in girth to encircle different body types.

An embodiment of the upper portion of the garment comprises a seamless tubular elastic fabric to stretch elastically and fit different body types.

An embodiment of the abdomen covering area comprises an elastic fabric.

An embodiment of the abdomen covering area comprises an elastic fabric that is contractible elastically to cover an abdomen during different stages of postpartum body changes.

According to an embodiment of the invention, an expandible tubular upper portion of the garment is seamless to fit comfortably while being worn.

BRIEF DESCRIPTION OF THE DRAWINGS

FIG. 1 is a front view of a garment according to the present invention.

FIG. 1A is a view similar to FIG. 1, and discloses a body panel covering a growing abdomen.

FIG. 2 is a view of a backside portion of the garment disclosed by FIG. 1.

FIG. 3 is view of a front portion of another embodiment of a garment.

FIG. 4 is view of a backside portion of another embodiment of a garment.

FIG. 5 is a view of a backside portion of yet another embodiment of a garment.

FIG. 6 is front view of a portion of another embodiment of a garment.

FIG. 7 is front view of a portion of yet another embodiment of a garment.

DETAILED DESCRIPTION OF THE INVENTION

FIG. 1 discloses a garment 100 for encircling a lower torso portion of a wearer of the garment 100. The garment 100 comprises a garment upper portion 102 and a garment lower portion 104. A lower end perimeter 106 of the garment upper portion 102 is attached to a corresponding upper end perimeter 108 of the garment lower portion 104. The garment lower portion 104 comprises, for example, a pair of trousers, such as, denim jeans. Alternatively, the garment lower portion 104 comprises a skirt depicted in FIG. 1 in phantom outline.

With reference to FIGS. 1 and 2, each leg of the pair of trousers is constructed with sewn seams. Outer side seams 110, 112 extend continuously from top to bottom of the trousers, or garment lower portion 104. Further, each leg is constructed with inner side seams 114, 116 joining a front center seam 118 of the trousers and a back side, curved center seam 200, FIG. 2, of the trousers. For example, the front center seam 106 defines a sewn "zipper less" fly front. The back side of the trousers, FIG. 2, is sewn with a back side perimeter seam 202 extending horizontally across the back side of the trousers from the outer side seams 110, 112 to the back side center seam 200. If pockets are desired, the legs of the trousers are constructed, for example, with a front pockets 120, 122 and back pockets 204, 206.

FIG. 2 discloses an embodiment of the trousers, or garment lower portion 104, having a partial waistband 208 joining and extending from the side seams 110, 112 of the trousers and extending across a back side of the trousers or garment lower portion 104. The waistband 208 is sewn onto the perimeter seam 202 on the back side. The waistband 208 tapers toward the side seams 110, 112 and widens across the back side, and has a center seam 210 to shape the waistband 208 with a curvature above a wearer's pelvis, and for torso coverage especially when sitting or bending.

In FIG. 1, the garment upper portion 102 has a belly panel 124 to provide an abdomen covering area. The belly panel 124 is expansible, for example, when made of a stretchable fabric, to cover and fit over a growing abdomen during different stages of pregnancy, FIG. 1A. The belly panel 124 has a bottom portion 128 that projects downward with a parabolic shape, especially when covering a growing abdomen, FIG. 1A. The perimeter 108 of the garment lower portion 104 provides a first torso encircling circumference 126 that recedes downward with a parabolic shape adjacent to and below the bottom portion 128 of the belly panel 124 to make way for expansion of the belly panel 124 when covering a growing abdomen during various stages of pregnancy. The parabolic shape includes a shallow curvature, or, alternatively includes a more pronounced curvature. The belly panel 124 extends at least partially under the abdomen of the garment wearer to meet and join the bottom portion 128 of the belly panel 124 with the parabolic receding circumference 126 of the garment lower portion 104.

According to an embodiment of the invention, at least the belly panel 124 comprises a stretchable fabric that is woven or knitted with elastic, stretchable strands. The stretchable fabric is expansible by stretching elastically to cover and fit over the growing abdomen, FIG. 1A. Further, the stretchable fabric is contractible elastically to cover a shrinking abdomen during different stages of postpartum body changes. The belly panel 124 also has foreseeable alternative functions, for example, to cover an abdomen during different stages of torso weight gains and losses, or to fit over respective torsos of different body types.

In FIGS. 1 and 2, the garment upper portion has a top tubular perimeter hem 130 made by folding over a top edge margin of the stretchable fabric, and either tubular knitting or sewing the folded fabric to the inside surface of the fabric, and to create a top perimeter knitted hem stitch 132 as disclosed in FIG. 1. The perimeter of the garment upper portion 102 has a torso encircling circumference 134 to hold the garment 100 up and in place over the torso. Advantageously, the entire garment 100 is held up and in place. An embodiment of the garment upper portion 102 comprises stretchable fabric to adjust the girth of the second torso encircling circumference 134 in conformance with different body types. According to an embodiment of the invention, the torso encircling circumference 134 extends along the upper end of the belly panel 124. In FIG. 1A, the belly panel 124 extends at least somewhat above the maximum girth of the abdomen, even during a later stage of pregnancy, such that the belly panel 124 positions the torso encircling circumference 134 at least somewhat above the location of maximum girth to resist slipping down over the abdomen.

An embodiment of the garment upper portion 102 comprises a tubular structure to encircle a torso of a wearer of the garment 100. The tubular structure comprises a stretchable fabric woven or knitted with elastic, stretchable strands. The belly panel 124 comprises a portion of the stretchable fabric. The tubular structure is adaptable to cover and fit different body types by being elastically expansible and contractible. Different body types have different muscle mass distributions and spinal columns of different curvatures, which make the tubular structure conform to the different body types by expanding and contracting in different locations and amounts when worn by the different body types. The tubular structure is elastically expansible to widen the tubular girth at selected locations and amounts where needed to fit a body type, and is elastically contractible to narrow the tubular girth at selected locations and amounts where needed to fit the body type.

In FIGS. 1 and 2, the tubular structure is shaped and formed as a one-sheet hyperboloid cylinder to fit a body type having a tapered torso that tapers approximately from shoulder to waist. The perimeter profile of the one-sheet hyperboloid cylinder has hyperbolic shaped sides. Alternatively, the tubular structure is shaped and formed as a straight-sided cylinder, for example, as disclosed in FIG. 6. The perimeter profile of the straight sided cylinder has substantially straight sides.

Preferably, the stretchable fabric is woven or knitted to form a continuous, seamless tubular structure, such that the garment 100 is comfortable to wear due to the absence of seams that would tend to press against the torso.

FIG. 3 discloses an alternative embodiment in which the garment upper portion 102 is provided with belly cradling support in the form of a series of sewn stitches or knitted tension at 300, 302, 304, 306, 308, 310, 312, and 314 in the belly panel 124. The knitted tension or stitches extend along multiple stitch paths grouped in an elliptical pattern that curves so as to cradle a curved growing abdomen, FIG. 1A, during various stages of pregnancy.

FIG. 4 discloses an alternative embodiment in which the backside of the garment upper portion 102 is provided with spinal column and back support for a wearer of the garment, in the form of a series of sewn supporting stitches or knitted tension at 400, 402, 404, 406, 408, 410, 412, 414, 416, 418 in the fabric, wherein the supporting knitted tension or stitches stiffen the fabric at the backside of the garment upper portion 102 to provide spinal and back support of the wearer of the garment 100. For example, the series of supporting stitches are arranged along multiple stitch paths grouped in a hyperbolic pattern or other curved pattern along an axis extending substantially vertically along a spinal supporting section of the fabric. FIG. 5 discloses an alternative pattern of supporting stitches 500, 502, 504, 506, 508, 510, 512, 514 in the fabric, wherein the supporting stitches are arranged along multiple stitch paths. For example, the stitch paths are shown as being grouped in a truncated, v-shaped pattern.

FIG. 6 discloses the garment upper portion 102 comprising a fabric woven or knitted to form a tubular structure, wherein the fabric of the tubular structure is doubled back on itself downward from the top circumference 134 thereof to form a double-layer tubular structure 600 that extends downward at least for a portion of the garment upper portion 102. The layers of the double-layer tubular structure 600 are sewn together with a tubular perimeter drop stitch 602. The layers are further sewn with a top, tubular perimeter hem stitch 132 as described in FIG. 1. In an alternative embodiment disclosed by FIG. 6, the fabric is doubled back over an inner tubular layer of stretchable fabric 604, shown in phantom outline by and between the stitches 132, 602, that is flatly layered and sewn in between the two tubular layers of the double layer fabric. The three tubular layers are sewn together with the top, tubular perimeter drop stitch 602 and the top, tubular perimeter hem stitch 132 as described in FIG. 1. The inner layer 604 of stretchable fabric provides the belly panel 124 with the capability for resilient expansion. In another embodiment, the double layer fabric comprises a stretch fabric woven or knitted with elastically stretchable and contractible yarns, providing the belly panel with the capability for resilient expansion.

FIG. 7 discloses that the garment 100 of FIG. 6 is convertible to comprise a bottom garment without a top, the garment upper portion 102 is foldable toward the garment lower portion 104 to provide a folded band 700 on the garment lower portion 104, which is to be worn solely as a garment bottom 104 having the folded band 700, and having no top. Each of the other embodiments of the garment 100 is similarly convertible by adding the stretchable fabric 604 to the upper garment portion 102 of the other embodiment of the garment 100, and folding the garment upper portion 102 toward the garment lower portion 104 to provide a folded band 700 on the garment lower portion 104 of the other embodiment of the garment 100.

This description of the exemplary embodiments is intended to be read in connection with the accompanying drawings, which are to be considered part of the entire written description. In the description, relative terms such as "lower," "upper," "horizontal," "vertical," "above," "below," "up," "down," "top" and "bottom" as well as derivatives thereof (e.g., "horizontally," "downwardly," "upwardly," etc.) should be construed to refer to the orientation as then described or as shown in the drawing under discussion. These relative terms are for convenience of description and do not require that the apparatus be constructed or operated in a particular orientation. Terms concerning attachments, coupling and the like, such as "connected" and "interconnected," refer to a relationship wherein structures are secured or attached to one another either directly or indirectly through intervening structures, as well as both movable or rigid attachments or relationships, unless expressly described otherwise.

Although the invention has been described in terms of exemplary embodiments, it is not limited thereto. Rather, the appended claims should be construed broadly, to include other variants and embodiments of the invention, which may be made by those skilled in the art without departing from the scope and range of equivalents of the invention.

REISSUE APPLICATION OATH AND CONSENT BY THE ASSIGNEE
(Pursuant to 37 C.F.R. §1.172)

I, Ronald J. Masciantonio, a citizen of the United States, am the Senior Vice President and General Counsel of Destination Maternity Corporation ("DMC"), and as such, am authorized to act on behalf of DMC.

To the best of my knowledge and understanding, DMC is the sole assignee of the entire right, title, and interest in and to U.S. Patent No. 7,900,276 (the '276 Patent), issued on March 8, 2011.

Documentary evidence of a chain of title of the '276 Patent from the original owners to DMC is recorded in the assignment records of the US Patent and Trademark Office at Reel 019670, Frame 0495 which shows an assignment from the inventors to Mothers Work, Inc., and at Reel 023390, Frame 0079 which shows an assignment from Mothers Work, Inc. to Destination Maternity Corporation.

To the best of my knowledge and understanding, the inventors listed below to be the original and first inventors of the subject matter which is described and claimed in the '276 Patent, for which a reissue patent is sought, on the invention entitled BELLY COVERING GARMENT, the specification of which is attached hereto together with a Preliminary Amendment that includes newly added claims:

1. Lisa A. Hendrickson, a citizen of the United States, residing at 791 Cornwallis Drive, Mount Laurel, New Jersey 08054;
2. James H. Gardner, III, a citizen of the United States, residing at 1329 Squire Drive, Ambler, Pennsylvania 19002; and

3. Richard Adelman, a citizen of the United States, residing at 5 Sunfish Point, Greensboro, North Carolina 27455.

I have reviewed and understand the contents of the above-identified specification, including the claims as amended by the newly added claims referred to above.

By this declaration, DMC, assignee of the '276 Patent, hereby consents to the filing of the present application for the reissue of U.S. Patent No. 7,900,276.

To the best of my knowledge and understanding, the original '276 Patent to be wholly or partly inoperative by the reason of the patentee claiming less than it had the right to claim. For instance, the issued claims of the '276 Patent fail to explicitly recite including cradling stitches or knitted tension in a belly panel for cradling a curved abdomen. All errors being corrected in the reissue application up to the time of this declaration arose without deceptive intent.

I hereby claim the benefit under Title 35, United States Code, §120 of Application Serial No. 11/756,242, filed May 31, 2007, now U.S. Patent No. 7,814,575, which was pending at the time of the filing of the application resulting in the '267 Patent, for which a reissue patent is now sought.

Direct all communications about the application to the address associated with Customer No. 035811. Direct all telephone calls regarding the application to Richard L. Cruz at 215-656-2446.

I acknowledge the duty to disclose information which is material to patentability as defined in 37 C.F.R. §1.56.

I hereby declare that all statements made herein of my own knowledge are true and that all statements made on information and belief are believed to be true; and further that these statements were made with the knowledge that willful false statements and the like so made are punishable by fine and imprisonment, or both, under 18 USC §1001, and that such willful false statements may jeopardize the validity of the application, any patent issuing thereon, or any patent to which this declaration is directed.

PROTECTING YOUR INVENTION OUTSIDE THE UNITED STATES

Since the rights granted by a U.S. patent extend only throughout the territory of the United States and have no effect in a foreign country, an inventor who wishes patent protection in another country must apply for a patent in a specific country or in regional patent offices. Applicants may wish to consider the filing of an international application under the Patent Cooperation Treaty (PCT). An international (PCT) application generally has the same effect as a regular national patent application in each PCT-member country. The PCT process simplifies the filing of patent applications on the same invention in member countries, but does not result in a grant of "an international patent" and does not eliminate the need of applicants to file additional documents and fees in countries where patent protection is desired.

Almost every country has its own patent law, and a person desiring a patent in a particular country must make an application for patent in that country in accordance with its particular laws. Since the laws of many countries differ in various respects from the patent law of the United States, applicants are advised to seek guidance from specific foreign countries to ensure that patent rights are not lost prematurely.

Applicants also are advised that in the case of inventions made in the United States, the Director of the USPTO must issue a license before applicants can apply for a patent in a foreign country. The filing of a U.S. patent application serves as a request for a foreign filing license. The application's filing receipt contains further information and guidance as to the status of applicant's license for foreign filing.

Applicants may wish to consult the USPTO booklet, "General Information Concerning Patents" (specifically, the section entitled "Treaties and Foreign Patents") for more information on timeframes and deadlines for filing foreign patent applications. The guide is available either by contacting the USPTO Contact Center at 800-786-9199, or it can be viewed on the USPTO website at <http://www.uspto.gov/web/offices/pac/doc/general/index.html>.

For information on preventing theft of your intellectual property (patents, trademarks and copyrights), you may wish to consult the U.S. Government website, <http://www.stopfakes.gov>. Part of a Department of Commerce initiative, this website includes self-help "toolkits" giving innovators guidance on how to protect intellectual property in specific countries such as China, Korea and Mexico. For questions regarding patent enforcement issues, applicants may call the U.S. Government hotline at 1-866-999-HALT (1-866-999-4158).

LICENSE FOR FOREIGN FILING UNDER

Title 35, United States Code, Section 184

Title 37, Code of Federal Regulations, 5.11 & 5.15

GRANTED

The applicant has been granted a license under 35 U.S.C. 184, if the phrase "IF REQUIRED, FOREIGN FILING LICENSE GRANTED" followed by a date appears on this form. Such licenses are issued in all applications where the conditions for issuance of a license have been met, regardless of whether or not a license may be required as set forth in 37 CFR 5.15. The scope and limitations of this license are set forth in 37 CFR 5.15(a) unless an earlier license has been issued under 37 CFR 5.15(b). The license is subject to revocation upon written notification. The date indicated is the effective date of the license, unless an earlier license of similar scope has been granted under 37 CFR 5.13 or 5.14.

This license is to be retained by the licensee and may be used at any time on or after the effective date thereof unless it is revoked. This license is automatically transferred to any related applications(s) filed under 37 CFR 1.53(d). This license is not retroactive.

The grant of a license does not in any way lessen the responsibility of a licensee for the security of the subject matter as imposed by any Government contract or the provisions of existing laws relating to espionage and the national security or the export of technical data. Licensees should apprise themselves of current regulations especially with respect to certain countries, of other agencies, particularly the Office of Defense Trade Controls, Department of State (with respect to Arms, Munitions and Implements of War (22 CFR 121-128)); the Bureau of Industry and Security, Department of Commerce (15 CFR parts 730-774); the Office of Foreign Assets Control, Department of Treasury (31 CFR Parts 500+) and the Department of Energy.

NOT GRANTED

No license under 35 U.S.C. 184 has been granted at this time, if the phrase "IF REQUIRED, FOREIGN FILING LICENSE GRANTED" DOES NOT appear on this form. Applicant may still petition for a license under 37 CFR 5.12, if a license is desired before the expiration of 6 months from the filing date of the application. If 6 months has lapsed from the filing date of this application and the licensee has not received any indication of a secrecy order under 35 U.S.C. 181, the licensee may foreign file the application pursuant to 37 CFR 5.15(b).

DETAILED ACTION

The reissue oath/declaration filed with this application is defective because it fails to identify at least one proper error which is relied upon to support the reissue application. See 37 CFR 1.175(a)(1) and MPEP § 1414.

The reissue oath/declaration filed with this application is defective because the error which is relied upon to support the reissue application is not an error upon which a reissue can be based. See 37 CFR 1.175(a)(1) and MPEP § 1414.

The reissue oath/declaration filed with this application is defective (see 37 CFR 1.175 and MPEP § 1414) because of the following:

Because it did not identify the specific claim which is defective. Applicant has only broadly listed unclaimed features. However, they did not state as to which claims were in error.

Claims 1-21 are rejected as being based upon a defective reissue declaration under 35 U.S.C. 251 as set forth above. See 37 CFR 1.175.

The nature of the defect(s) in the declaration is set forth in the discussion above in this Office action.

However, the claims, as best understood, have been examined on their merits.

Art Unit: 3765

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 18 and 19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In claim 18 the "series of stitches or knitted tension" are not in the backside of the "belly panel" but are in the "backside of the garment". The original specification and claims them in the backside of the garment and not in the backside of the belly panel as now claimed. It appears this could be a typographical error and not a content error.

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 18 and 19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention.

For the same reasons as outlined above because the presently claimed subject matter was not in the original specification and claims. The stitches or tension are in the backside of the garment not the belly panel as now claimed.

Double Patenting

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the “right to exclude” granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 1-21 are provisionally rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-29 of copending Application No. 13/161138. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because they claim the same pant garment with the belly panel structure as claimed in claims 1-29.

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.

Applicant is notified that any subsequent amendment to the specification and/or claims must comply with 37 CFR 1.173(b). In addition, when any substantive amendment is filed in the reissue application, which amendment otherwise places the reissue application in condition for allowance, a supplemental oath/declaration will be required. See MPEP § 1414.01.

Claims 1-21 would be allowable if rewritten or amended to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, 2nd paragraph, set forth in this Office action in addition to the filing of the corrected and proper declaration/oath and Terminal Disclaimer as outlined above.

Art Unit: 3765

None of the cited references, alone or in combination, disclose the garment with the belly panel that has an upper edge portion located as claimed in claim 1.

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

RESPONSE

Commissioner for Patents
P.O. Box 1450
Alexandria, VA 22313-1450

Sir:

In response to the Official Action of December 27, 2011, the Applicants hereby simultaneously submit a Supplemental Reissue Application Oath and Consent by the Assignee and a Terminal Disclaimer. Entry into the Official Record is respectfully requested.

In addition, the Applicants hereby amend the Application as follows:

Remarks

Claims 1-21 are pending. Claim 18 has been amended solely to correct a typographical error; and as a result, no new matter has been added as a result of this amendment. Further, since this amendment clarifies the subject matter being claimed, the Applicants submit that the rejection of Claims 18 and 19 under 35 USC 112 is now moot, and respectfully request that it be withdrawn.

As noted above, a Supplemental Reissue Application Oath and Consent by the Assignee is simultaneously submitted herewith. As a result, withdraw of the rejection of Claims 1-21 under 35 USC 251 is respectfully requested.

In response to the Double Patenting rejection, the Applicants hereby submit a Terminal Disclaimer. Accordingly, reconsideration and withdraw of this rejection is also respectfully requested.

In view of the foregoing amendment and remarks, the Applicants submit that the entire Application is now in condition for allowance, which action is respectfully requested.

Respectfully submitted,

SUPPLEMENTAL REISSUE APPLICATION OATH AND CONSENT BY THE ASSIGNEE
(Pursuant to 37 C.F.R. §1.172)

I, Ronald J. Masciantonio, a citizen of the United States, am the Executive Vice President and General Counsel of Destination Maternity Corporation ("DMC"), and as such, am authorized to act on behalf of DMC.

To the best of my knowledge and understanding, DMC is the sole assignee of the entire right, title, and interest in and to U.S. Patent No. 7,900,276 (the '276 Patent), issued on March 8, 2011.

Documentary evidence of a chain of title of the '276 Patent from the original owners to DMC is recorded in the assignment records of the US Patent and Trademark Office at Reel 019670, Frame 0495 which shows an assignment from the inventors to Mothers Work, Inc., and at Reel 023390, Frame 0079 which shows an assignment from Mothers Work, Inc. to Destination Maternity Corporation.

To the best of my knowledge and understanding, the inventors listed below to be the original and first inventors of the subject matter which is described and claimed in the '276 Patent, for which a reissue patent is sought, on the invention entitled BELLY COVERING GARMENT, the specification of which is attached hereto together with a Preliminary Amendment that includes newly added claims:

1. Lisa A. Hendrickson, a citizen of the United States, residing at 791 Cornwallis Drive, Mount Laurel, New Jersey 08054;
2. James H. Gardner, III, a citizen of the United States, residing at 1329 Squire Drive, Ambler, Pennsylvania 19002; and
3. Richard Adelman, a citizen of the United States, residing at 5 Sunfish Point, Greensboro, North Carolina 27455.

I have reviewed and understand the contents of the above-identified specification, including the claims as amended by the newly added claims referred to above.

By this declaration, DMC, assignee of the '276 Patent, hereby consents to the filing of the present application for the reissue of U.S. Patent No. 7,900,276.

To the best of my knowledge and understanding, the original '276 Patent to be wholly or partly inoperative by the reason of the patentee claiming less than it had the right to claim. In particular, issued Claims 2 – 16 of the '276 Patent fail to explicitly recite features such as a series of stitches or knitted tension in a backside of the claimed garment portion to provide spinal and back support. New Claims 17 – 21 have been added to correct such errors. All errors being corrected in the reissue application up to the time of this declaration arose without deceptive intent.

I hereby claim the benefit under Title 35, United States Code, §120 of Application Serial No. 11/756,242, filed May 31, 2007, now U.S. Patent No. 7,814,575, which was pending at the time of the filing of the application resulting in the '267 Patent, for which a reissue patent is now sought.

Direct all communications about the application to the address associated with Customer No. 035811. Direct all telephone calls regarding the application to Richard L. Cruz at 215-656-2446.

I acknowledge the duty to disclose information which is material to patentability as defined in 37 C.F.R. §1.56.

I hereby declare that all statements made herein of my own knowledge are true and that all statements made on information and belief are believed to be true; and further that these statements were made with the knowledge that willful false statements and the like so made are punishable by fine and imprisonment, or both, under 18 USC §1001, and that such willful false statements may jeopardize the validity of the application, any patent issuing thereon, or any patent to which this declaration is directed.
