

Pinching Your Pennies Forums > Making CENTS of life! > Families, Children, Babies, and more! > Pregnant Pennies! > Secret Fit Belly Jeans

PDA

View Full Version : Secret Fit Belly Jeans

stacie13

01-14-2008, 10:09 AM

Has anyone tried the secret fit belly jeans from Motherhood Maternity? I'm in the stage where nothing fits! My normals jeans are too tight around my belly to be comfortable and my prego pants are nowhere near fitting yet. This is my last baby and don't want to spend a ton on new clothes, but these look awesome.

goincrazy

01-14-2008, 10:51 PM

I'm in the same boat as you, but I've never heard of these jeans. I would love more info too!! How far along are you? I just hit 16 weeks today.

wanttosave

01-15-2008, 10:43 AM

What are the secret fit belly jeans? Are they the ones that have the bad that goes way up?

Elizabeth-

01-15-2008, 10:44 AM

I just noticed these on thier wesite the other day! I thought they looked great. I was also wondering about the comfort. I think the knee length denim skirt looked really cute for spring. I hope someone has tried them and can pass along some info!

kj427

01-15-2008, 12:32 PM

When my sister and I were at Motherhood maternity the other day we saw the secret fit jeans and decided to try them. They are $29.99 there. She usually wears between a small and a medium and the small fit her well. I wear a medium most of the time but the small fit me better at this point except that the crotch on the pant was wrong for my shape. It hung kinda funny. On the mediums, they were a bit to big around the butt and thighs but at least the crotch was fine. My sister decided to buy the small and I decided to pass until maybe later and maybe I'll go back and try them again when I'm farther along. So really you should just go try a pair for yourself.

stacie13

01-15-2008, 03:42 PM

I think I'm gonna go try some on. I need a little something for myself! I'm about 15 weeks and have been wearing the same pair of pants every day for probably 2 months now!! So, it's either find some more fat pants or buy something cute...HmMMM...

amyv

01-30-2008, 05:13 PM

I am wearing my secret fit belly jeans right now! These jeans, I kid you not, are the most comfortable jeans I own. I wear them almost everyday now that I am 38 week pregnant and everything else is soooooo uncomfortable. I can wear these jeans all day and they never hurt. I paid $80-ish for mine and wish that I had bought 2 or three pairs. Hands down the best invention since my last pregnancy!

eternity00

01-30-2008, 05:31 PM

Is this (http://www.motherhood.com/CollectionViewAll.asp?category_Name=Secret+Fit+Belly&Category_Id=1708&MasterCategory_Id=9&Pageison=1) what your talking about?

If yes then i have a pair and i really like them. I want another pair but can't get them right now.

mvse

01-30-2008, 05:44 PM

I don't get it.... how are these any different than the full panel pants that were around about 5 years ago (before the demi panel & low rise pants)?

kanga5

01-30-2008, 10:39 PM

Mvse- They are similar to the old panel pants but the stretchy material goes all the way around. I'm not pregnant but these look lovely! I love that the panel goes all the way around. They would be so comfy and they would stay up better than those annoying underbelly and even more comfortable than the old panel ones. If anyone is pregnant reading this, wondering if they should buy- I would say go for it! I had a skirt from Motherhood that had this same idea but the panel didn't go up as high. I LOVED it but hated that you could see the top of them across the middle of my belly under my shirts. It was really a nice skirt- it worked well after I had my baby too cause of the elastic waist.

Meags

01-30-2008, 11:35 PM

I read about these jeans, BUT i went to Mimi Maternity, NOT Motherhood and at Mimi they are $98 ON SALE.. I was SHOCKED that so many people had these jeans.. I'm glad to know that they are at Motherhood and not Mimi.. So don't go there unless you want to spend a fortune!!:)

stacie13

01-31-2008, 08:34 AM

The jeans are a lot cuter than the old ones, too. They look like normal jeans, not prego ones an if you have the tummy sleeve or belly band to layer, what a cutie you'll be! I'd buy a pair of this wasn't my last pregnancy...

Dori

01-31-2008, 09:00 AM

I'm not pregnant and never will be again, but those look great! I hated buying pants this last pregnancy. Who ever thought low rise maternity jeans were a good idea? Makes no sense to me at all! These look like they'd be super comfy and actually stay up!

wanttosave

01-31-2008, 09:42 AM

I can't believe the prices you guys are talking about. I got mine for $29 at Motherhood and they ARE the most comfortable jeans ever. I have a skirt that only has the panel in the front and I hate it now when I wear it. I hope they are still $29 because I need another pair.

mvse

01-31-2008, 03:32 PM

Thanks for the explanation! I will have to try them out. I didn't like the older style full panel either - like you said, I didn't like that you could see the panel through shirts. I also didn't like that that the stretchy panel went down so low b/c if you weren't wearing a super long shirt you would be able to see it.

I think the ones that are around $90 at Mimi and Pea in a Pod are actually designer jeans (sevens, joes jeans, etc), which is why they are so much more expensive.

Jamie

04-09-2008, 04:04 PM

I noticed there were some at Motherhood for 19.99 and then some at 29.99 and I think some more were 35....but what is the difference between them? Anyone know? Also, why do some have the blue stretchy belly and some have the cream stretchy belly?

amber10

04-10-2008, 10:16 AM

These look nice. Im am 16 weeks also (well on Monday) and I am currently wearing my levis without the button done up. I have never seen these before and was not excited about buying pants again. I will definitely go try some out. Oh and what is a belly band?? I have heard people mention them before, but I am clueless...

SummerLuvin

04-10-2008, 10:41 AM

I LOVE these jeans! I have a pair. I'm only 9 weeks and am having to wear them! They are just so comfy

wanttosave

04-10-2008, 10:55 AM

A belly band is a band that you wear around your mid section. It is good because it gives the layered look and you can still wear your pants & cover up the fact that the top button is undone! You can get one at Motherhood for like $16 or so.

preschoolmom

04-12-2008, 09:27 AM

I bought the jeans and denim shorts yesterday at Motherhood. The pants I bought were $19.98 and the shorts were about $26. They are so comfortable!

beyondblessed

04-12-2008, 04:26 PM

I am 16 weeks on Monday too. :) I have 2 belly bands, 1 black & 1 white and they are the best. You can wear them with your regular pants with the button undone until they are too small and they don't fall down or unzip. Then you can wear them with your maternity pants if they are still too big to hold them up & they cover your whole belly. I love mine, they were worth it!

amber10

04-14-2008, 10:14 AM

Happy 4 months Luckifamily!! I will definatly have to try a belly band. I am currently doing the button undone thing right now. I think I will hit the store today or tomorrow!!

beyondblessed

04-14-2008, 12:19 PM

Thanks Amber10, you too! :)

Asherlilly

10-13-2009, 10:37 PM

These are the best jeans ever - I am seven months post- pregnancy and I am still wearing them because they are so comfy I don't want to go back to normals jeans!

RachelDawn

10-13-2009, 11:38 PM

These jeans are the BEST! I bought one pair when I was about 34 weeks and wish I would have bought more to wear when I'm pregggo again. They are the most comfortable pants I've ever worn. I should get pregnant again, just to wear these pants. :D

mvse

10-14-2009, 09:40 AM

My only complaint is that they don't make longs... so for us long-legged folk, the inseam isn't long enough. They told me I would have to go to Mimi Maternity (and pay about $80 more). :-{|=

Asherlilly

10-15-2009, 12:03 PM

I just bought some online and they have one pair of "long" jeans they sell at motherhood maternity.

mvse

10-15-2009, 03:29 PM

I just bought some online and they have one pair of "long" jeans they sell at motherhood maternity.

Can you link me? All I could find is a pair of twill pants, and some suiting pants, no jeans.

Kensie

10-15-2009, 03:36 PM

I had a pair of these when I had my baby and I hated them. I might just haVe been me but I really didnt like mine. I couldnt get them to stay up on my belly and then once they would they were too tight. I would not recommend these but I'm really picky about my pants and I bought the ones that have the stretchy sides, or just the stretch in the back and I liked those but that was just me!

djp4msp7

10-16-2009, 12:11 PM

Can you link me? All I could find is a pair of twill pants, and some suiting pants, no jeans.
http://www.motherhood.com/Product.asp?Product_Id=900570290&MasterCategory_Id=MC27 They are a 34" inseam, regular inseams vary between 30.5" and 32".

kseverso

10-19-2009, 10:30 AM

My only complaint is that they don't make longs... so for us long-legged folk, the inseam isn't long enough. They told me I would have to go to Mimi Maternity (and pay about $80 more). :-{|=
I stopped by Motherhood Maternity yesterday and they had the same jeans as the link (in long) for the same price. I am 18 weeks and was in desperate search of jeans for winter. I was so happy to find a pair that fit in the length!! I wish they had more styles in long, but I will at least take this one.

mvse

10-19-2009, 02:10 PM

I was so happy to find a pair that fit in the length!! I wish they had more styles in long, but I will at least take this one.

yeah, too bad they are ugly looking, but having ANY longs is definitely an improvement. It was 1.5 years ago when they first came out and I tried to get some at that time with my previous pregnancy. Glad to see they have expanded their selection!

jessicarae1060

10-20-2009, 08:39 PM

I personally don't think they are ugly at all! I am 5'10" and 26 weeks preggo. I happen to LOVE these jeans. You can bend over and get on the floor with your kids without feeling like your behind is haning out....and they look great with fitted sweaters!

honeymonster

10-21-2009, 12:59 AM

I love these Jeans .I am 6ft 2in & thought they would be too short but the strechy band makes them so comfy. I bought the jeans & the black pants & i wear them every day. They expand with you. I am 33 weeks.I am so glad i found these,because they look like normal clothes.Also try the outlets. I dorve almost two hours to go to Las Vegas which has the regular stores,but they have an outlet down there.The stuff id alot cheaper at the outlet.
HTH Rachael.

natehaws

12-09-2009, 04:15 PM

I bought a pair of these jeans at Motherhood and LOOOOOOVE them!!!! I have been trying to find jeans that are long enough for me because I usually wear a 34 or 36 inseam jean, so NONE of the regular maternity jeans are long enough. I bought them in the bootcut size Large- LONG, and they are perfect!!! They are the only maternity jeans I've ever found that are long enough...

I also love the tummy panel. It's stretchy enough to go over my now 8 1/2 month prego belly, which is quite amazing! I think I spent $36.00 on them and have basically worn them everyday since I got them, so I'd say it was well worth the money!

Lucky77

12-12-2009, 07:10 AM

Have any of you tried Ross? I'm 5' 11" & 3/4 inches(o.k. I should just say I'm 6' tall:)) but I've been lucky enough to find two pairs of maternity jeans at Ross for under $10 that are long and they look like designer jeans on the back pockets. I'm picky with what I'll wear too - I hate unshaplely fat pants, but these are boot cut, and have a real soft denim and I'm guessing a 34 inch inseam because they are long. I'm 25 weeks prego and I'm already huge (this is my 3rd boy), and they fit great. Don't be disappointed if you go and can't find any the first time, it's been hit or miss with me - and I tried on several, but I did eventually find some long enough. The last pair I bought was only $6.

jessicarae1060

12-12-2009, 09:39 AM

The only ones I have ever seen at Ross have really strange bellys. What I mean is that they aren't really quite high enough in the belly and once you really get bigger (I am 8 months with my 3rd now), they cut you off in the middle and leave your belly looking flat and square in front. the panel was also tight and not stretchy like the ones from Motherhood.

I probably didn't find the ones you are talking about then!

Lucky77

12-20-2009, 02:17 AM

I know which ones you are talking about with the really strange bellys, they have a band instead of a full belly panel. They are awful, I've tried those on before - no way. But I was at the Layton Ross a few days ago and found another pair of the pants with the full stretchy belly panel, & they were reduced to $4.49. My dh couldn't believe they were so cheap because they look like regular jeans, they are really cute. They look just like the motherhood jeans (except I think the Ross ones have cutier back pockets), but they are the same denim fabric and boot cut. I wish I knew how to post a picture.

jessicarae1060

12-22-2009, 05:17 PM

They do sound cute. I am started to feel frumpy at this point, but since I only have a few weeks left I will just stick it out.

I say invest in yourself when you are pregnant. Get some jeans (like those) that make you feel more attractive!!

DaycareMom

12-22-2009, 07:30 PM

my prob with maternity pants is that I have a little butt and so all the jeans that have the jeans end up sliding down and I have to pull them up all day. I end up with an inch of space where my crotch ends and the jeans end. can anyone recommend some pants that wont fall off? I have some secret fit belly jeans and these dont stay up. i have the kind that are the mid belly band kind and they slip down too. i also have the kind with just the two inch band that go all the way around and those fall off too...but not as bad. Any recommendations? Is it hopeless?

woot_yo

01-27-2010, 09:48 PM

my prob with maternity pants is that I have a little butt and so all the jeans that have the jeans end up sliding down and I have to pull them up all day. I end up with an inch of space where my crotch ends and the jeans end. can anyone recommend some pants that wont fall off? I have some secret fit belly jeans and these dont stay up. i have the kind that are the mid belly band kind and they slip down too. i also have the kind with just the two inch band that go all the way around and those fall off too...but not as bad. Any recommendations? Is it hopeless?

They have some that are adjustable waist, just like a toddler's pants. Those might stay up better for you. I'm not sure where I've seen them though, sorry about that. maybe Target? But I agree with the way too much space in the crotch. Ugh, just found out I'm pregnant (3rd, and it was NOT planned) so I'm dreading pulling out my old maternity clothes to see what they are like... It's only been 15 months since I was last in them!!!

halesar

02-11-2010, 08:14 PM

I've been reading some of your questions regarding the Motherhood Maternity secret fit belly jeans. I just bought a pair about two weeks ago and I am 31 weeks. I bought the American Star brand and love them. The secret fit belly is pretty comfortable. I have some other maternity jeans and the panel is thicker and is now getting too tight for me. The jeans I bought have a very thin material and are tan. This is great because I can actually wear a white T-shirt, without having to layer too much.

mom-of-3-girls

05-02-2010, 10:12 PM

These pants are awesome, they were just coming out when I was preggers the last time. The Panel is diff. from the old ones because they are made of lycra, but still strong enough to hold you in, plus they go up higher, so they don't give you that line if you wear a more fitted shirt! They are super comfy too!

vBulletin® v3.8.7, Copyright ©2000-2013, vBulletin Solutions, Inc.