JUDGE SALLY MEDLEY
JUDGE QUINN

1 2	A P P E A R A N C E S: (Via Telephone)	1	requested the call and just before we get started,
2	FISH & RICHARDSON	2	do we have a court reporter?
3	12390 El Camino Real	3	THE REPORTER: Yes, we do. My name
	San Diego, CA 92130	4	is Nancy Bendish.
4	BY: JOHN C. PHILLIPS, ESQ. JOHN A. DRAGSETH, ESQ.	5	JUDGE MEDLEY: Okay. Thank you,
5	For the Petitioner	6	Nancy.
6		7	And I'd also like to clarify, we got
7	FINNEGAN, HENDERSON, FARABOW, GARRETT & DUNNER, LLP	8	the notification that this was in respect to just
,	901 New York Avenue, NW	9	six of the cases? Because there are eight.
8	Washington, DC 20001	10	MR. JAKES: That's right. This is in
•	BY: J. MICHAEL JAKES, ESQ.	11	respect to just six of them for this particular
9	DENISE W. DeFRANCO, ESQ. For the Patent Owner	12	motion that we want to file.
10		13	JUDGE MEDLEY: Okay. Then we'll hear
11	ALSO PRESENT:	14	from Patent Owner, please.
12	RANDALL BERMAN Philips IP&S	15	MR. JAKES: This is Mike Jakes for
13	Timps if also	16	the Patent Owner, Philips.
14		17	We're asking permission to file a
15 16		18	motion to dismiss these six IPRs under 35 U.S.C.
17		19	315(b). There is another litigation that was not
18		20	identified in the petition that involves these six
19 20		21	patents. We identified it in our mandatory
21		22	disclosures. That's a case that's pending in the
22		23	District of Massachusetts and it involved these same
23		24	six patents. The complaint in that case was filed
24 25		25	and served in October of 2010.

That complaint that was filed in October of 2010 alleged infringement of these six patents and we actually have a trial scheduled to begin next month. As we understand the decisions of this Board, it doesn't matter that there was a later complaint filed against Zoll Lifecor, who is the Petitioner in this case. There was a case of like universal remote, which was decided in August of this year. So the only issue that really appears to be is whether Zoll Medical, the parent of Zoll Lifecor, is a privy of the Petitioner since it was served with a complaint under 315(b). And so, in other words, if Zoll Medical, which is the defendant in the Massachusetts case, was a privy of Zoll Lifecor, the Petitioner, then there is no standing to bring these IPRs. I understand that the privity issue can be a fact-dependant question, but the public record here is, I think, conclusive that Zoll

This is in reference to IPR2013-00609, 612, 613, 615, 616 and 618. I'd like to begin with Petitioner. MR. JAKES: Good afternoon, this is Mike Jakes for Philips. I think I jumped the gun there. I think you wanted the Petitioner first, but we had asked for the call. JUDGE MEDLEY: Okay, Mr. Jakes, that's fine. Do you have anybody with you? MR. JAKES: Yes, Denise DeFranco from my firm is with me and Randall Berman from Philips, the Patent Owner, is also on the line. JUDGE MEDLEY: Okay. And they're but they are not listed as counsel? MR. JAKES: No. JUDGE MEDLEY: Okay. Petitioner? MR. 17	JUDGE MEDLEY: Right, okay. I	17
18	understand that and I understand 312(a)(2), but the	18
19	way I understand it, Petitioner is under the	19
20	impression that they did list all the real parties	20
21	in interest. So this issue is controversial between	21
22	the parties, correct?	22
23	MR. PHILLIPS: That's correct from	23
23 24	MR. PHILLIPS: That's correct from Petitioner's view, yes.	23 24
