Isolation Tools

Stage Frac Tool

The Stage Frac Tool provides isolation of the wellhead, while eliminating the need to rig down frac lines and the tool between stages. The large through bore diameter allows for running wireline plugs and perforating guns through the tool, providing substantial time savings between stages.

The large ID of the Stage Frac Tool also provides the ability to pump at much higher rates than possible with conventional tools, allowing greater flexibility in job design.

Explore Litigation Insights

Docket Alarm provides insights to develop a more informed litigation strategy and the peace of mind of knowing you're on top of things.
