DECISION
Dismissing Motion for Joinder
37 C.F.R. § 42.122

<sup>1</sup> This Decision addresses similar issues in the above-identified proceedings. For efficiency, we issue one Decision to be entered in all of the cases. The parties may not use this style of filing in subsequent papers, without prior authorization.

Taiwan Semiconductor Manufacturing Company, Ltd. and TSMC North America Corporation (collectively, “TSMC”) filed a Petition in each of the above-identified inter partes reviews, challenging U.S. Patent 6,805,779 B2 (Ex. 1201, “the ’779 patent”) owned by Zond, LLC (“Zond”). Paper 2.<sup>2</sup> Pursuant to 37 C.F.R. § 42.122(b), TSMC also filed Motions for Joinder, seeking to join its proceedings with proceedings filed by Intel Corporation (“Intel”)—specifically, joining IPR2014-00828 with IPR2014-00765, IPR2014-00829 with IPR2014-00820, and IPR2014-00917 with IPR2014-00913. Paper 6.

On September 12, 2014, however, Intel and Zond filed a Joint Motion to Terminate and a true copy of their Written Settlement Agreement, made in connection with the termination, in accordance with 35 U.S.C. § 317(b) and 37 C.F.R. § 42.74(b), in each of Intel’s Proceedings that involved the ’779 patent. See, e.g., IPR2014-00765, Paper 9; IPR2014-00598, Ex. 1013. Upon consideration, we terminated those Intel Proceedings and entered Judgment in each of the Intel Proceedings. See, e.g., IPR2014-00765, Paper 10.

The termination of the Intel Proceedings renders TSMC’s Motions for Joinder moot. Although we authorized, in our previous Order, TSMC to file a revised Motion for Joinder, TSMC did not file such a Motion within the time period set forth in the Order.

In consideration of the foregoing, it is hereby ORDERED that the Motions for Joinder filed in the above-identified TSMC proceedings are dismissed as moot.
