P R O C E E D I N G S

(1:00 p.m.)

JUDGE GIANNETTI: Please be seated. So good afternoon, everyone. We are here for a final hearing in case IPR2014-01362, which has been joined with IPR2015-00489. The caption of the case is LG Display and LG Electronics versus Innovative Display Technologies.

Let me introduce the panel. I am Judge Giannetti. I will be presiding today. And participating remotely we have Judge Quinn, who is on the screen to my left, Judge Quinn from the Dallas office and Judge Bunting from the Detroit office.

With that, let me get your appearances. Who is appearing today for the Petitioner?

MR. PLUTA: Thank you, Your Honor, Robert Pluta on behalf of LG Display and LG Electronics. With me is Amanda Streff, Anita Lam, and Baldine Paul.

JUDGE GIANNETTI: Thank you very much. And who is appearing today on behalf of Patent Owner?

MR. KIMBLE: Justin Kimble, Your Honor.

JUDGE GIANNETTI: Okay. All right. Before we get started, I wanted to run over the ground rules for the hearing today. Each side will have 30 minutes to present argument. The Petitioner may reserve time for rebuttal. And

1 Petitioner can do that either at the beginning of the argument
2 or at the end, whatever you prefer.

3 I want to say a word about demonstratives. Both
4 sides have provided copies of the demonstratives they
5 intended to use and both sides have objected to the others'
6 demonstratives.

7 We're not going to rule on those objections at this
8 point, but we will not authorize you to file the demonstratives
9 at this point. You may use them as aids to your argument, but 10 until you receive notice, further notice from the Board, the 11 demonstratives are not to be filed in view of the objections
12 that the parties have made.

13 I will say another thing about demonstratives.
14 Because we have two judges appearing remotely today, it is
15 vitally important that when you do refer to a demonstrative,
16 please use the slide number so that the remote judges can
17 follow along with your presentation. We all have copies, the 18 electronic copies of the demonstratives that you have 19 provided.

20 I will say that in view of the fact that
21 demonstratives are not going to be entered into the record, the 22 transcript is the record of this proceeding, so if you want
23 something to be in the record, put it on the transcript. The 24 demonstratives will not be part of the record of the 25 proceeding.

1 All right. Any questions from either party about
2 the ground rules? Petitioner, anything further?

3 MR. PLUTA: No, Your Honor.

4 JUDGE GIANNETTI: Patent Owner?

5 MR. KIMBLE: No, Your Honor.

6 JUDGE GIANNETTI: Okay. Who will be making
7 the presentation for the Petitioner?

8 MR. PLUTA: Your Honor, I will, Robert Pluta.

9 JUDGE GIANNETTI: Mr. Pluta. Okay.

10 Mr. Pluta, you have 30 minutes and you may
11 proceed whenever you are ready.

12 MR. PLUTA: Thank you, Your Honor. I have a
13 hard copy of the presentation. I don't know whether you
14 would like it or not.

15 JUDGE GIANNETTI: You can hand it up. That
16 would be fine. We also have our electronic copies. Okay,
17 Mr. Pluta, whenever you are ready.

18 MR. PLUTA: Thank you, Your Honor. May it
19 please the Board, institution was granted on two grounds. I
20 am on slide 2.

21 JUDGE GIANNETTI: Yes.

22 MR. PLUTA: Directed at 18 claims, but the 23 dispute actually is quite narrow. It boils down to just a few
24 limitations in dispute. And those few limitations are
