DECLARATION OF WILLIAM W. CHUANG

¹ The word-for-word identical paper is served in each proceeding identified in the heading.

RPX Exhibit 1119

I, William W. Chuang, declare:

1. I am Vice President of Client Relations at RPX Corporation (“RPX”).

My responsibilities include overseeing interactions with clients and ensuring strong continuing relationships with clients. [REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

2. In addition to my Client Relations responsibilities, I am also involved in RPX initiatives, including RPX’s patent quality initiative, because of my long history with RPX and extensive legal experience. I have worked at RPX since December of 2010 and am generally involved in senior level discussions.

3. I am an attorney with over fifteen years of experience specializing in intellectual property law.

4. Prior to joining RPX, I was a partner at O’Melveny & Myers, an international law firm with hundreds of lawyers, where I specialized in intellectual property law.

5. I am familiar with the reasons why RPX files petitions for inter partes review (IPR) in general, and was personally involved in RPX’s decision to file the petitions for inter partes review numbered 2015-01750, 2015-01751, and 2015-01752 (“the AIT IPRs”) concerning U.S. Patents Nos. 7,356,482 and 8,484,111 (“the AIT Patents”) owned on their face by Applications in Internet Time, LLC (“AIT”).

I. RPX'S REASONS FOR FILING IPRS IN GENERAL

6. RPX has many reasons for filing IPR petitions.

[REDACTED] RPX provides insurance against NPE patent infringement lawsuits to clients who purchase insurance policies. (See Attachment A: RPX 10-K, p. 2.) [REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED] Filing after companies are sued in low quality, cost-of-litigation lawsuits often has a minimal impact as defendants find that it is more cost efficient to settle than to bear the costs of litigation during the time it takes to draft and prosecute a successful IPR challenge.

8. [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] RPX's core business is acquiring valuable patent rights and obtaining licenses for its client base. (See Attachment B: RPX website, Services tab.) [REDACTED]

11. RPX has a history of success in preventing future lawsuits by filing IPRs against invalid patents. The first IPR petition that RPX ever filed was RPX Corporation v. Macrosolve, Inc., IPR2014-00140. That IPR petition resulted in the owner of a facially invalid patent abandoning the patent and changing from an NPE business model to focus instead on drone technology. The IPR thus prevented the patent owner from pursuing additional lawsuits.

12. Another IPR petition RPX filed before deciding to file against AIT was in RPX Corporation v. Cedatech Holdings, LLC, IPR2015-00736. At the time RPX filed the IPR petition against Cedatech, the remaining defendants in the copending litigation had already indicated to the court that they were settling. Nevertheless,
