(“Apple”), AT&T Mobility LLC (“AT&T”), and AT&T Inc.¹ as respondents. Id. at 14,890.

Immersion filed another complaint on May 5, 2016. The complaint, as supplemented, alleges violations of section 337 based on the importation and sale of certain mobile and portable electronic devices incorporating haptics and components thereof that purportedly infringe U.S. Patent Nos. 8,749,507 (“the ’507 patent”); 7,808,488 (“the ’488 patent”); 7,336,260 (“the ’260 patent”); and 8,581,710 (“the ’710 patent”). 81 Fed. The investigations were consolidated on June 9, 2016. (See Order No. 3.)

Pursuant to Ground Rule 5A, a Markman hearing was held October 18, 2016. Prior to the hearing, Immersion, Respondents, and the Commission Investigative Staff (“Staff”) met and conferred in an effort to reduce the number of disputed claim terms to a minimum. The parties also filed initial and reply claim construction briefs, wherein each party offered its construction for the claim terms in dispute, along with support for its proposed interpretation. After the hearing and pursuant to Order No.9, the parties submitted an updated Joint Claim Construction Chart.²

II. IN GENERAL

The claim terms construed in this Order are done so for the purposes of this section 337 Investigation. Those terms not in dispute need not be construed. See Vanderlande Indus. Nederland BV v. Int'l Trade Comm'n, 366 F.3d 1311, 1323 (Fed. Cir. 2004) (noting that the administrative law judge need only construe disputed claim terms).

III. RELEVANT LAW

“An infringement analysis entails two steps. The first step is determining the meaning and scope of the patent claims asserted to be infringed. The second step is comparing the properly construed claims to the device accused of infringing.” Markman v. Westview Instruments, Inc., 52 F.3d 967, 976 (Fed. Cir. 1995) (en banc) (internal citations omitted), aff'd, 517 U.S. 370 (1996). Claim construction is a “matter of law exclusively for the court.” Id. at 970-71. “The construction of claims is simply a way of elaborating the normally terse claim language in order to understand and explain, but not to change, the scope of the claims.” Embrex, Inc. v. Serv. Eng'g Corp., 216 F.3d 1343, 1347 (Fed. Cir. 2000).
