Special regulations for authors – Upon acceptance of an article by the journal, the author(s) will be asked to transfer copyright of the article to the publisher. This transfer will ensure the widest possible dissemination of information. Submission of an article for publication entails the author's irrevocable and exclusive authorization of the publisher to collect any sums or considerations for copying or reproduction payable by third parties (as mentioned in article 17 paragraph 2 of the Dutch Copyright Act of 1912 and in the Royal Decree of June 20, 1974 (S. 351) pursuant to article 16b of the Dutch Copyright Act of 1912) and/or to act in or out of Court in connection therewith.

Special regulations for readers in the USA – This journal has been registered with the Copyright Clearance Center, Inc. Consent is given for copying of articles for personal or internal use, or for the personal use of specific clients. This consent is given on the condition that the copier pays through the Center the per-copy fee stated in the code on the first page of each article for copying beyond that permitted by Sections 107 or 108 of the U.S. Copyright Law. The appropriate fee should be forwarded with a copy of the first page of the article to the Copyright Clearance Center, Inc., 222 Rosewood Drive, Danvers, MA 01923, USA. If no code appears in an article, the author has not given broad consent to copy and permission to copy must be obtained directly from the author. The fee indicated on the first page of an article will apply retroactively to all articles published in the journal, regardless of the year of publication. This consent does not extend to other kinds of copying, such as for general distribution, resale, advertising and promotion purposes, or for creating new collective works. Special written permission must be obtained from the publisher for such copying.

No responsibility is assumed by the publisher for any injury and/or damage to persons or property as a matter of products liability, negligence or otherwise, or from any use or operation of any methods, products, instructions or ideas contained in the material herein.

Although all advertising material is expected to conform to ethical standards, inclusion in this publication does not constitute a guarantee or endorsement of the quality or value of such product or of the claims made of it.

COMPUTER NETWORKS and ISDN SYSTEMS

The International Journal of Computer and Telecommunications
Networking

Scope

COMPUTER NETWORKS and ISDN SYSTEMS is an international journal providing a publication vehicle for complete coverage of all topics of interest to those involved in the area. The audience includes managers and operators of networks as well as designers and implementors in addition to regulatory lawyers, economists, policy analysts, and sociologists specializing in the area. The Editorial Board will consider for publication any material that is of interest to these groups.

Subject coverage

Material on all aspects of the design, implementation, use and management of computer and telecommunication networks, communication sub-systems, and integrated services digital networks. Specifically included are non-technical topics such as economics, legal and regulatory issues, and social impact.

Types of contributions considered

The primary purpose of the journal is to publish complete papers covering a specific topic or project in sufficient detail and depth to be of practical use to interested readers. In addition to full-length papers, short notes reporting on a small project or giving an interim report on a project will also be considered. The journal is meant to be a complete source of information on all aspects of computer and telecommunication networks and will also include news items and advertisements in addition to the regular contributions discussed above.

Submission of material

It is preferred that complete manuscripts be submitted to one of the Editors, mentioned in the masthead (on the first inside cover page of this issue).

Review procedure

All papers and short notes are submitted to expert referees for review. Their reports are fully considered by the Editorial Board in selecting material for publication. The names of specific referees are never divulged to the author; however, some of the review comments may be provided to assist the author in revising his paper. Letters are reviewed by an Editor for appropriateness and content. If it is necessary to shorten or otherwise edit material submitted, this fact will clearly be indicated in the published form.

Author's benefits

1. 50 offprints of each contribution free of charge.
2. 30% discount on all Elsevier Science Publishers books (order forms will be sent together with the proofs).
