I, Dr. Adam Porter of Bethesda, Maryland, declare as follows:

I. INTRODUCTION

1. I have been retained by Koninklijke Philips N.V. (“Philips”) in this Inter Partes Review (“IPR”) as an independent expert to provide opinions regarding the subject matter recited in the claims of U.S. Patent No. RE44,913 (Ex. 1001, the “RE’913 patent”). In particular, I have been asked to provide my opinion as to whether a person of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention (“POSA”) would have found claims 1 and 3-16 of the RE’913 patent obvious in view of Japanese Unexamined Patent App. No. 2000-148366 (“Sakata II,” Ex.1004), or alternatively, in view of Sakata II and U.S. Patent No. 6,094,197 (“Buxton,” Ex. 1006), based on the arguments and evidence submitted by Petitioner Google Inc. (“Google”) and its declarant, Dr. Cockburn.

2. I understand that the Patent Trial and Appeal Board of the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office (“Board”) has instituted an IPR of the patentability of Claims 1 and 3-16 of the ’006 patent following the submission of a Petition by Google. I understand that Google also submitted a supporting declaration by Dr. Andrew Cockburn.

3. I understand the Board has instituted review on the following grounds:

- a. Claims 1 and 3-16 of the RE’913 patent as obvious over Sakata II pursuant to 35 U.S.C. § 103; and

b. Claims 1 and 3-16 of the RE'913 patent as obvious over Sakata II and Buxton pursuant to 35 U.S.C. § 103.

4. My analysis and conclusions regarding the RE'913 patent and the instituted grounds are set forth below.

5. In connection with forming my opinions, I have considered the references and materials submitted by the parties in this proceeding, and in particular those cited herein, including the following:
