Unified has challenged almost all of 2017's most prolific NPEs (/news/2017/7/5/according-to-rpx-data-unified-has-challenged-almost-all-of-2017s-most-prolific-npes)

Unified Patents has challenged 9 of RPX's 2017 "Top 10" most prolific Non-Practicing Entities

RPX recently released data for the 1st half of 2017 showing the Top 10 NPEs of 2017

Unified has independently challenged at least 1 patent owned by 9 of the top 10 entities. (Unified filings (<http://Portal.unifiedpatents.com>)) Studies have found, consistent with Unified's experience and research, that prolific plaintiffs are very often NPEs asserting lower quality patents. RPX (<http://www.rpxcorp.com/>), another 3rd party, has independently challenged 3 of the top 10. (RPX filings (https://portal.unifiedpatents.com/ptab/caselist?petitioners=Rpx+Corporation&petitioners=Rpx%2C+Inc.&petitioners=Rpx+Corp.&petitioners=Rpx&sort=-filing_date))

Unified's model is never to pay NPEs any money and challenge patents it believes are invalid.

This has led to a decrease in NPE activity and purchasing in the areas Unified protects. And Unified did not pay any NPEs---paying incentivizes further invalid assertions. Unified has filed more IPRs and had more successes than all other 3rd party entities combined. You can see a comparison here:
