PETITIONER'S OBJECTIONS TO PATENT OWNER'S EVIDENCE
PURSUANT TO 37 C.F.R. § 42.64(b)(1)

Petitioner, Roku, Inc., objects to the admissibility of the following evidence submitted by Patent Owner, Universal Electronics, Inc. 37 C.F.R. § 42.64(b)(1).

These objections are being timely filed within 5 business days after service of the evidence to which these objections are directed.

Exhibit 2012: August 19, 2020 Transcript, Certain Electronic Devices, Including Streaming Players, Televisions, Set Top Boxes, Remote Controllers, and Components Thereof, ITC Inv. 337-TA-1200

Petitioner objects to this document because it is being improperly submitted with the Patent Owner's Sur-Reply. As explained in the Consolidated Trial Practice Guide, November 2019, the "sur-reply may not be accompanied by new evidence other than deposition transcripts of the cross-examination of any reply witness." TPG, 73 (emphasis added). Here, Patent Owner attempts to subvert this rule and attempts to improperly submit additional evidence with its Sur-Reply.

Petitioner further objects to this document as irrelevant under FRE 401 and thus inadmissible under FRE 402, or as confusing or a waste of time under FRE 403 (e.g., this document is improperly being used to mischaracterize Petitioner's disagreement with UEI's addition of a negative limitation to the construction of "key code signal").
