Experience

Senior Director, Content Management

IEEE, Inc

Jun 1999 – Present · 21 years

As Senior Director, Content Management at the IEEE I oversee the technologies that drive the content lifecycle (peer review through distribution) of >100 peer reviewed journals and >1500 conference proceedings.

My current interests include preprint servers (see <https://www.techrxiv.org>), semantic enrichment of content (triple-store creation) and research reproducibility processes.

Organizations

RMap

Co-Principal Investigator

May 2014 – Present

RMap Project is an Alfred P. Sloan Foundation-funded initiative undertaken by the Data Conservancy, Portico, and IEEE. The goal of RMap is to make it possible to preserve the many-to-many complex relationships among scholarly publications and their underlying data, thereby supporting the continual development of scholarly communication and digital publishing. Active work on RMap project began in April 2014.
