Subject: "Classified" - community project

Hi Guy and David,

I am attaching a copy of the Functionality Requirements for the "Classified" product. This document is very much in progress so there are large pieces which have yet to be filled in at this point. However, it should give you a fairly good idea of data flow through the application as well as some of the user experience on the web, as an editor or administrator, and from the point of view of a TV viewer. Kim and I have started going through details for the viewer experience and I am expecting that we should be integrating a bit of that work into the web application prototype next week.

This should be a good starting off point, as we talk about pricing needs and reporting issues.
I have also started work on investigating categories and subcategories so I have included the spreadsheet I am tracking this with as well.

Best,
Nicole
