(57) ABSTRACT

Providing of a universal wireless headset begins for an incoming call by determining whether a piconet can be established between an initiating device and the wireless headset. If a piconet cannot be established, the processing continues by determining whether the headset can establish a piconet with a device coupled to a network. The network may be a local area network, which includes wireless devices and/or wired devices. When the wireless headset can establish the piconet with a device coupled to the network, the piconet is established. Once the piconet is established, the processing continues by establishing a logical connection between the initiating device and the device coupled to the network. As such, the incoming communication is supported via the logical connection and the piconet.
