DETAILED ACTION

Notice of Pre-AIA or AIA Status

The present application is being examined under the pre-AIA first to invent provisions.

Information Disclosure Statement

The information disclosure statement (IDS) submitted on 11/07/2018. The submission is in compliance with the provisions of 37 CFR 1.97. Accordingly, the information disclosure statement is being considered by the examiner.

Drawings

The drawings were received on 11/07/2018 these drawing are acceptable by the examiner.

Double Patenting

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 2-15 are rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1, 14 and 30 of US Patent 8,190,203 B2; claims 1 and 5-6 of US Patent 8,571, 544 B2; claims 1, 10 and 13 of US Patent 9,049,502 B2; claim 1 of US Patent 8,655,420 B1; claim 1 of US Patent 9,438,987 B2; claims 1, 8 and 11 of US Patent 9,497,535 B1; claims 1-3 of US Patent 9,729,959 B2; claims 1-3 of US Patent 9,986,325 B2; claim 1 of US Patent 10,206,025 B2 . Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because claim 2 limitation are found in claims 1, 14 and 30 of US Patent 8,190,203 B2; claims 1 and 5-6 of US Patent 8,571, 544 B2; claims 1, 10 and 13 of US Patent 9,049,502 B2; claim 1 of US Patent 8,655,420 B1; claim 1 of US Patent 9,438,987 B2; claims 1, 8 and 11 of US Patent 9,497,535 B1; claims 1-3 of US Patent 9,729,959 B2; claims 1-3 of US Patent 9,986,325 B2; claim 1 of US Patent 10,206,025 B2 with obvious wording variation such as they all sets of claims are drawn to first and second earphones, wherein each of the first and second earphones comprises an acoustic transducer; an antenna for receiving wireless signals and playing digital audio content received wirelessly by the headphone.

It is important to note that claimed features recited in claims 1, 14 and 30 of US Patent 8,190,203 B2; claims 1 and 5-6 of US Patent 8,571,544 B2; claims 1, 10 and 13 of US Patent 9,049,502 B2; claim 1 of US Patent 8,655,420 B1; claim 1 of US Patent

9,438,987 B2; claims 1, 8 and 11 of US Patent 9,497,535 B1; claims 1-3 of US Patent 9,729,959 B2; claims 1-3 of US Patent 9,986,325 B2; claim 1 of US Patent 10,206,025 B2 are more specific than claimed features recited in claim 2 of the instant application. Hence, the scope of claims of present application is now broader than U.S. Patent No. 8,190,203; 8,571, 544; 9,049,502; 8,655,420; 9,438,987; 9,497,535; 9,729,959; 9,986,325 and 10,206,025

Many decisions support the fact that a broad or generic claim is obvious from a specific claim, i.e., an obvious variation. See In re Van Ornum and Stang, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Goodman (CA FC) 29 USPQ2d 2010 (12/3/1993); In re Vogel and Vogel; 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); In re Berg (CA FC) 46 USPQ2d 1226 (3/30/1998); Eli Lilly and Co. v. Barr Laboratories Inc., 58 USPQ2d 1865 (CA FC 2001). It is well settled that omission of an element and its function in a combination is an obvious expedient if the remaining elements perform the same functions as before. This notion is supported by In re KARLSON, 136 USPQ 184 (1963); In re Nelson, 95 USPQ 82 (CCPA 1952); and In re Eliot, 25 USPQ 111 (CCPA 1935).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of pre-AIA 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 2, 3, 7-10 and 12-23 are rejected under pre-AIA 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Borchardt et al. (US 5,410,735) in view of Yamashita et al. (US 2004/0063459 A1).

Regarding claim 2. Borchardt (New) a wireless headphone assembly comprising:

first and second earphones, wherein each of the first and second earphones - comprises an acoustic transducer (Col.7, lines 38-43, fig.1 illustrate and teach receiver unit 22 included a headphone unit 24 and earpads 28 and 30 as read on first and second earphones comprises an acoustic transducer);

an antenna for receiving wireless signals (Col.4, lines 15-16, Col.7, lines 56-59, teach antenna 210 for receiving wireless signals);

a wireless communication circuit connected to the antenna, wherein the wireless communication circuit is for receiving and transmitting wireless signals to and from the wireless headphone assembly (Col.7, lines 30-37, 65-67, Col.8, lines 1-3 teach receiver 22 receiving wireless audio signal from transmitter 20);

a processor in communication with the wireless communication circuit; and a rechargeable battery for powering the wireless headphone assembly (Col.5, lines 50-60, Col.7, 44-50 teach rechargeable battery for powering the wireless headphone).

Borchardt is silent on wherein the headphone assembly is configured, with the processor, to transition automatically from playing digital audio content received wirelessly by the headphone assembly via a first wireless network to playing digital audio content received wirelessly by the headphone assembly via a second wireless network.

In an analogous art, Yamashita teaches wherein the headphone assembly is configured, with the processor, to transition automatically from playing digital audio content received wirelessly by the headphone assembly via a first wireless network to playing digital audio content received wirelessly by the headphone assembly via a second wireless network (Paragraphs [0014], [0076] teach headphone 20 automatic playing digital audio content received wirelessly from audio player 10).

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art before the effective filing date of the claimed invention was made to modify Borchardt with Yamashita's system such that an earphones -comprises an acoustic transducer, an antenna for receiving wireless signal, a rechargeable battery for powering the wireless headphone automatically from playing digital audio content received wirelessly in order to provide the convenient to the user and listen to music without interrupt.

Regarding claim 3. The combination of Borchardt and Yamashita teach the wireless headphone assembly of claim 2, Yamashita teaches wherein the processor is further configured to, upon activation of a user-control of the headphone assembly, initiate transmission of a request to a remote network server (Paragraphs [0053-0054]).

Regarding claim 7. The combination of Borchardt and Yamashita teach the wireless headphone assembly of claim 2, further Borchardt teaches comprising a headband connected between the first and second earphones (Col.7, lines 45-48).

Regarding claim 8. The combination of Borchardt and Yamashita teach the wireless headphone assembly of claim 7, Yamashita teaches wherein the first and second earphones comprise speaker elements housed in on-ear headphones (Paragraph [0048])

Regarding claim 9. The combination of Borchardt and Yamashita teach the wireless headphone assembly of claim 7, Yamashita teaches wherein the first and second earphones comprise speaker elements housed in over-ear headphones (Paragraphs [0048], [0058]).

Regarding claim 10. The combination of Borchardt and Yamashita teach the wireless headphone assembly of claim 2, Borchardt and wherein each of the first and second earphones comprises:

a hanger bar that sits upon an upper external curvature of a user's ear; and a body connected to the hanger bar, wherein the acoustic transducer is connected to the body (fig.1, Illustrate headphone 24 as read on hanger bar that sits upon an upper external curvature of a user's ear)

Regarding claim 12. The combination of Borchardt and Yamashita teach the wireless headphone assembly of claim 2, Yamashita teaches wherein the processor is configured to transition automatically from playing digital audio content received wirelessly by the headphone assembly via the first wireless network to playing digital audio content received wirelessly by the headphone assembly via the second wireless network based on a signal strength level for the second wireless network (Paragraphs [0014], [004-0045], [0076]).

Regarding claim 13. The combination of Borchardt and Yamashita teach the wireless headphone assembly of claim 12, Yamashita teaches wherein the processor is configured to transition automatically from playing digital audio content received wirelessly by the headphone assembly via the first wireless network to playing digital audio content received wirelessly by the headphone assembly via the second wireless network based on whether the signal strength level for the second wireless network is above a threshold level. (Paragraphs [0014], [004-0045], [0076]).

Claims 4-6 are rejected under pre-AIA 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Borchardt et al. (US 5,410,735) in view of Yamashita et al. (US 2004/0063459 A1) and further view of Smith (US 2009/0262205 A1),

Regarding claim 4. The combination of Borchardt and Yamashita teach the wireless headphone assembly of claim 3, but is silent on wherein: the headphone assembly further comprises a microphone; and the processor is further configured to:
process audible utterances by a user of the headphone assembly picked up by the microphone in response to activation of the microphone by the user; and transmit a communication based on the audible utterances via the first or second wireless networks.

In an analogous art, Smith teaches wherein: the headphone assembly further comprises a microphone; and the processor is further configured to:
process audible utterances by a user of the headphone assembly picked up by the microphone in response to activation of the microphone by the user; and transmit a communication based on the audible utterances via the first or second wireless networks (Paragraphs [0036], fig.3 Illustrate and teach the headset contain microphone logic that detect voice commands spoken by the user).

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art before the effective filing date of the claimed invention was made to modify Borchardt and Yamashita with Smith's system such that process audible utterances by a user of the headphone assembly picked up by the microphone in response to activation of the microphone by the user in order to provide the convenient to the user and without physically controlling the headphone.

Regarding claim 5. The combination of Borchardt and Yamashita teach the wireless headphone assembly of claim 2, further Smith teaches wherein: the first earphone comprises a first earbud; and the second earphone comprises a second earbud (Paragraph [0035])

Regarding claim 6. The combination of Borchardt and Yamashita and Smith teach the wireless headphone assembly of claim 5, Borchardt teaches wherein each of the first and second earphones comprises:

an antenna;

a wireless communication circuit connected to the at least the antenna (Col.4, lines 15-16, Col.7, lines 56-59); a processor in communication with the wireless communication circuit; and a rechargeable battery for powering the wireless headphone assembly (Col.5, lines 50-60, Col.7, 44-50).

Claim 11 is rejected under pre-AIA 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Borchardt et al. (US 5,410,735) in view of Yamashita et al. (US 2004/0063459 A1) and further view of Goldman et al. (US 2011/0275323 A1)

Regarding claim 11. The combination of Borchardt and Yamashita teach the wireless headphone assembly of claim 2, but is silent on comprising a docking station to charge the rechargeable battery when the first and second earphones are connected to the docking station.

In an analogous art, Goldman teaches comprising a docking station to charge the rechargeable battery when the first and second earphones are connected to the docking station (Paragraphs [0058], fig. 1 and fig. 1 illustrate headset base unit as read on docking station that to charge the rechargeable battery when the first and second earphones are connected to the docking station).

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art before the effective filing date of the claimed invention was made to modify Borchardt and Yamashita with Goldman's's system such that comprising a docking station to charge the rechargeable battery when the first and second earphones are connected to the docking station in order to provide saving cost by recharging the battery.

Claim 14 is rejected under pre-AIA 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Borchardt et al. (US 5,410,735) in view of Yamashita et al. (US 2004/0063459 A1) and further view of Terlizzi (US 2010/0022283 A1)

Regarding claim 14. The combination of Borchardt and Yamashita teach the wireless headphone assembly of claim 2, but is silent on wherein the processor is further configured to receive firmware updates from a remote computer device.

In an analogous art, Terlizzi wherein the processor is further configured to receive firmware updates from a remote computer device (Paragraphs [0044], [0051] teach firmware update).

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art before the effective filing date of the claimed invention was made to modify Borchardt and Yamashita with Terlizzi's system such that wherein the processor is further configured to receive firmware updates from a remote computer device in order to improve the operation of the user device.

Claim 15 is rejected under pre-AIA 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Borchardt et al. (US 5,410,735) in view of Yamashita et al. (US 2004/0063459 A1) and further view of Borrás et al. (US 2007/0281676 A1).

Regarding claim 15. The combination of Borchardt and Yamashita teach the wireless headphone assembly of claim 2, but is silent on comprising a memory unit that stores network identifiers for the first and second wireless networks.

In an analogous art, Borrás teaches a memory unit that stores network identifiers for the first and second wireless networks (Paragraphs [0013] device has a memory for storing each of network identity). Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art before the effective filing date of the claimed invention was made to modify Borchardt and Yamashita with Borrás's system such that a memory unit that stores network identifiers for the first and second wireless networks in order to provide the user of headphone an easy access to network that the headphone identify.

In the Office Action, the claims were rejected for two reasons: (1) obviousness-type double patenting and (2) obviousness. Applicant traverses the rejections as follows.

The claims were rejected for obviousness-type double patenting over various claims of nine (9) patents owned by Koss Corporation, which is also the owner of the Subject Application. With prejudice or disclaimer, Applicant e-filed a terminal disclaimer, with the requisite filing fee, to overcome the obviousness-type double patenting rejections.

The pending claims, i.e., claims 2-15, were rejected in the Office Action as being obvious under § 103. In particular:

- Claims 2, 3, 7-10 and 12-13 were rejected over Borchardt (Pat. 5,410,735) in view of Yamashita (U.S. Pub. 2004/0063459);
- Claims 4-6 were rejected over Borchardt, Yamashita and in further view of Smith (U.S. Pub. 2009/0262205);
- Claim 11 was rejected over Borchardt, Yamashita and in further view of Goldman (U.S. Pub. 2011/0275323);
- Claim 14 was rejected over Borchardt, Yamashita and in further view of Terlizzi (US Pub. 2010/0022283); and
- Claim 15 was rejected over Borchardt, Yamashita and in further view of Borrás (U.S. Pub. 2007/0281676).

Of pending claims 2-15, claim 2 is the sole independent claim. The obviousness rejections should be withdrawn for the following reasons.

First, independent claim 2 states that the claimed headphone assembly is configured to “transition automatically from playing digital audio content received wirelessly by the headphone assembly via a first wireless network to playing digital audio content received wirelessly by the headphone assembly via a second wireless network.” Thus, the headphone assembly switches from the one wireless network (the “first” one) to another (the “second” one) automatically.

The Office Action rejected claim 2 as being obvious over Borchardt in view of Yamashita. The Office Action acknowledged that Borchardt is “silent on” a headphone assembly that switches from the one wireless network to another automatically, but cited Yamashita as “teaching” this claim limitation, citing paragraphs [0014] and [0076] of Yamashita.

Office Action at p. 6. The Office Action’s explanation is that these paragraphs of Yamashita “teach headphone 20 automatic playing digital audio content received wirelessly from audio player 10.” Id.

The Office Action is correct that Yamashita discloses a headphone that automatically plays digital audio content received wireless from an audio player, but that simplistic limitation is not recited in claim 2. Rather, claim 2 recites that the headphone assembly “transition[s] automatically from playing digital audio content received wirelessly by the headphone assembly via a first wireless network to playing digital audio content received wirelessly by the headphone assembly via a second wireless network.” Yamashita’s headphone does not transition automatically from one wireless network to another. Instead, Yamashita discloses (referring to Figure 1 thereof, shown below) a headphone 20 that is connected by a Bluetooth wireless link to an audio player 10. Yamashita at ¶ [0038].

As described in Yamashita, the Bluetooth standard adopts a “master-slave configuration,” and in Yamashita the audio player 10 is the master and the headphones 20 are the slave. Id. at ¶ [0039]. That means that Yamashita’s headphones 20 are always connected to the master audio player 10 over the same Bluetooth communication link, i.e., the master-slave link between the headphones and the audio player. As such, Yamashita’s headphones 20 do not transition from one wireless network to another.

While Yamashita discloses that the headphones and audio player can resume playing after an interruption (id. at ¶ [0044]), the resumed wireless transmissions in Yamashita are still over the same Bluetooth connection between the master audio player and the slave headphones. Thus, Yamashita's headphones 20 do not transition from one wireless network to another automatically, as recited in claim 2.

"The key to supporting any rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103 is the clear articulation of the reason(s) why the claimed invention would have been obvious." MPEP § 2143. Here, the Office Action did not provide any explanation for why Yamashita's headphones that reconnect on the same Bluetooth communication link makes obvious the limitation of claim 2 that the headphone assembly "transition[s] automatically from playing digital audio content received wirelessly by the headphone assembly via a first wireless network to playing digital audio content received wirelessly by the headphone assembly via a second wireless network." At least for this reason, claim 2 is nonobvious in view of the cited references and the rejection should be withdrawn. Claims 3-15 are nonobvious at least by virtue of their dependence upon nonobvious claim 2. See MPEP § 2143.03.

Second, for claims 4-6, 11 and 14, the obviousness rejections should be withdrawn for the additional reason that neither Smith, Goldman nor Terlizzi qualify as prior art for these claims. The Subject Application is subject to the pre-AIA first-to-invent provisions. See Office Action at p. 2. Under the pre-AIA first-to-invent provisions, only subject matter that is prior art under § 102 pre-AIA can be used to support an obviousness rejection under § 103. See MPEP § 2141.01 (citing Ex parte Andresen, 212 USPQ 100, 103 (BPAI 1981)). Here, the pending claims, including claims 4-6, 11 and 14, trace priority back to provisional patent application Serial No. 61/123,265, filed April 7, 2008 (hereinafter, "Provisional Application"). The Provisional Application, which is available on PAIR, discloses, by way of example, that the wireless earphone assembly:

- may comprise a microphone (element 104 of Figure 3 of the Provisional Application), where the processor processes utterances picked up by the microphone (Provisional Application at ¶ [0018]), for wireless transmission to a remote device (id. at ¶ [0032]), as recited in claim 4 of the Subject Application;
- may comprise earbuds (Provisional Application at ¶ [0010] and Figure 2B), as recited in claim 5 of the Subject Application;

- may comprise an antenna, a wireless communication circuit, a processor and a rechargeable battery (Provisional Application at Figure 3 and related text at ¶¶ [0012] to [0019]), as recited in claim 6 of the Subject Application;
- may comprise a docking station for charging the earphones (Provisional Application at ¶ [0014]), as recited in claim 11 of the Subject Application; and
- may receive firmware updates from a remote computer device (Provisional Application at ¶ [0019] and ¶ [0024]), as recited in claim 14 of the Subject Application.

Therefore, claims 4-6, 11 and 14 have an effective filing date of April 7, 2008, i.e., the filing date of the Provisional Application. Smith, Goldman and Terlizzi, however, all have effective filing dates after April 7, 2008. Smith has a filing date of April 21, 2008; Goldman has a filing date of Jan. 20, 2009; and Terlizzi has a filing date of June 25, 2008. Therefore, neither Smith, Goldman nor Terlizzi qualify as prior art under pre-AIA § 102(a), (b) or (e). Therefore, the rejections of claims 4-6, 11 and 14 should be withdrawn for this additional reason.

CONCLUSION

In view of the foregoing remarks, Applicant respectfully submits that all of the claims presented in the present application are in condition for allowance. Applicant's present response should not in any way be taken as acquiescence to any of the specific assertions, statements, etc., presented in the Office Action not explicitly addressed herein, including the rejections of the dependent claims. Applicant reserves the right to address specifically all such assertions and statements in subsequent responses. Applicant also reserves the right to seek claims of a broader or different scope in a continuation application.

Applicant has made a diligent effort to properly respond to the Office Action and believe that the claims are in condition for allowance. Determination of Patent Term Adjustment under 35 U.S.C. 154 (b)
(Applications filed on or after May 29, 2000)

The Office has discontinued providing a Patent Term Adjustment (PTA) calculation with the Notice of Allowance.

Section 1(h)(2) of the AIA Technical Corrections Act amended 35 U.S.C. 154(b)(3)(B)(i) to eliminate the requirement that the Office provide a patent term adjustment determination with the notice of allowance. See Revisions to Patent Term Adjustment, 78 Fed. Reg. 19416, 19417 (Apr. 1, 2013). Therefore, the Office is no longer providing an initial patent term adjustment determination with the notice of allowance. The Office will continue to provide a patent term adjustment determination with the Issue Notification Letter that is mailed to applicant approximately three weeks prior to the issue date of the patent, and will include the patent term adjustment on the patent. Any request for reconsideration of the patent term adjustment determination (or reinstatement of patent term adjustment) should follow the process outlined in 37 CFR 1.705.

Any questions regarding the Patent Term Extension or Adjustment determination should be directed to the Office of Patent Legal Administration at (571)-272-7702. Questions relating to issue and publication fee payments should be directed to the Customer Service Center of the Office of Patent Publication at 1-(888)-786-0101 or (571)-272-4200.

OMB Clearance and PRA Burden Statement for PTOL-85 Part B

The Paperwork Reduction Act (PRA) of 1995 requires Federal agencies to obtain Office of Management and Budget approval before requesting most types of information from the public. When OMB approves an agency request to collect information from the public, OMB (i) provides a valid OMB Control Number and expiration date for the agency to display on the instrument that will be used to collect the information and (ii) requires the agency to inform the public about the OMB Control Number's legal significance in accordance with 5 CFR 1320.5(b).

The information collected by PTOL-85 Part B is required by 37 CFR 1.311. The information is required to obtain or retain a benefit by the public which is to file (and by the USPTO to process) an application. Confidentiality is governed by 35 U.S.C. 122 and 37 CFR 1.14. This collection is estimated to take 30 minutes to complete, including gathering, preparing, and submitting the completed application form to the USPTO. Time will vary depending upon the individual case. Any comments on the amount of time you require to complete this form and/or suggestions for reducing this burden, should be sent to the Chief Information Officer, U.S. Patent and Trademark Office, U.S. Department of Commerce, P.O. Box 1450, Alexandria, Virginia 22313-1450. DO NOT SEND FEES OR COMPLETED FORMS TO THIS ADDRESS. SEND TO: Commissioner for Patents, P.O. Box 1450, Alexandria, Virginia 22313-1450. Under the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1995, no persons are required to respond to a collection of information unless it displays a valid OMB control number.
