1	PROCEEDINGS
2	JUDGE GERSTENBLITH: Good morning, everyone.
3	We are here for oral arguments in IPR2021-00985, TCL
4	Industries Holdings Company, Limited, and Hisense Company,
5	Limited, as well as joined party, LG Electronics, Inc., v.
6	ParkerVision, Inc. This case was joined with IPR2022-00246,
7	and with me today are Judges Zecher and Ahmed.
8	Who do we have on the call and video for Petitioner, please?
9	MR. MAYLE: Good morning, Your Honor. This is Ted
10	Mayle of the Denver office of Kilpatrick Townsend. I will be
11	speaking for the Petitioners. And I'm joined today by
12	Kristopher Reed, who is the lead counsel for the TCL
13	Petitioners, and Matias Ferrario is joining us from Los
14	Angeles. He is the lead counsel for the Hisense Petitioners.
15	JUDGE GERSTENBLITH: Excellent. Is there someone on
16	the line for LG?
17	(No verbal response.)
18	JUDGE GERSTENBLITH: Okay. Do you know, Mr. Mayle,
19	if anybody's here on behalf of LG? It's not required.
20	MR. MAYLE: Oh, I'm sorry. I'm sorry. I believe
21	that they have a representative from Ropes & Gray on the
22	public link.
23	JUDGE GERSTENBLITH: Okay. Okay. No problem.
24	And who do we have on for Patent Owner?

- 1 MR. CHARKOW: Morning, Your Honors. Jason Charkow
- 2 for ParkerVision, as well as I have Stephanie Mandir, as
- 3 well, both from the Daignault Iyer law firm. Ron Daignault
- 4 should be joining, if he's not already on, and I have two
- 5 client representatives on the -- I think the public link.
- 6 JUDGE GERSTENBLITH: Excellent. Excellent. Welcome,
- 7 everybody.
- 8 I just want to mention that the panel was discussing
- 9 this morning's case as well as this afternoon's case. And
- 10 given the significant overlap in arguments and technology and
- patents and everything else that's involved, we would like to
- 12 propose that we make one transcript that runs from now
- through the argument this afternoon for the '990 case, which
- we think will help everybody avoid -- the parties and us --
- 15 having to circle back and effectively make the same
- arguments all over again this afternoon for the issues that
- 17 overlap.
- That being said, obviously, the '985 and the '990
- 19 case are not consolidated. We would just be making this
- 20 transcript for ease of reference, and it would be entered
- 21 into both cases.
- Is there any objection to doing that, Mr. Mayle, from
- 23 Petitioners' side?
- 24 MR. MAYLE: No, Your Honor.
- JUDGE GERSTENBLITH: Okay. And, Mr. Charkow, is

- 1 there any objection to doing that from Patent Owner's side?
- 2 MR. CHARKOW: No objection, Your Honor.
- 3 JUDGE GERSTENBLITH: Okay. Great.
- 4 So the way that we are envisioning this working is
- 5 that we will begin with the arguments from Petitioner. We will
- 6 take a five-minute recess after Petitioners' opening. Patent
- 7 Owner will proceed with its opening. We'll take a
- 8 five-minute recess after Patent Owner's opening, and then we
- 9 will have the rebuttal arguments from each side without a
- 10 break in between.
- Once those have concluded for the '985 case, we'll
- see what time it is. We'll take either a 45-minute or an
- hour break so everybody can get some food, and then we will
- come back and proceed through the same procedure for the '990
- 15 case.
- I will go into a little bit more detail.
- We set forth today's procedure in our Oral Argument
- 18 Order, which granted the parties' request for oral argument,
- which is Paper 35 in the '985 case. Each party will have 90
- 20 minutes of total argument time for this particular case. As
- 21 I said, we'll begin with Petitioner who will present its case
- 22 in chief regarding the challenged claims. Petitioner may
- 23 reserve time for rebuttal. Thereafter, Patent Owner may
- 24 respond to Petitioners' argument and may also reserve time
- 25 for rebuttal. Petitioner will then present its rebuttal,
