Calico Advisor Your faced with a dilemma, customers will visit and be retained to your site if you give them choices; choices about products and services. How do you give them these choices while ensuring that they are getting what they need and that the resulting order can be fulfilled? Calico's Advisor works like a virtual salesperson, providing an interactive dialogue with your customers, enabling you to match available products to their needs, interests and lifestyles. Advisor, a configuration and recommendation product optimized for high-bandwidth eCommerce sites, enables customers to explore all the available options that match their needs - while ensuring that the components of their order are completely compatible and available.
