

The Wayback Machine - <https://web.archive.org/web/20040616180753/http://www.sid.org:80/about/about.html>

HOME ABOUT SID LOGIN

ABOUT SID

Become a Member - Board of Directors - Bylaws - Contact Information - Directions

Who We Are

The 6000 members of SID are professionals in all of the technical and business disciplines that relate to display research, design, manufacturing, applications, marketing, and sales. Each member belongs to the SID chapter of his or her choice. We invite you to join us in developing and manufacturing the displays for the 21st century, and applying them to exciting information, telecommunications, medical, commercial, government, entertainment, and consumer products.

The Society for Information Display

When you join the Society for Information Display, you are joining the international display community — and a local one. From Osaka to Eindhoven, you will find 6000 colleagues passionately involved in display and display-system design, integration, marketing, display standards, manufacturing, human factors, applications, and R&D.

Each of these 6000 display professionals is a member of the chapter of his or her choice. The chapters have periodic meetings, and some run conferences and trade shows that have national — even international — appeal. The chapters interact both directly and through the central SID International Office, and chapter meetings often feature speakers with international reputations. SID's largest international gathering is the annual SID Symposium, Seminar, and Exposition, which attracts thousands of attendees, speakers, and exhibitors from around the world. Here, the members of the international display community come together face to face, share technical information, develop business opportunities, and make new friends — just as we have done since 1962. We invite you to join us.

Benefits of SID Membership

- Join the international display community and become part of your local display community.
- Access the most complete and most accurate information on displays.
- Enjoy many opportunities for networking with your peers and with leaders in the field — in person and electronically.
- Receive Information Display Magazine, the world's leading magazine devoted exclusively to display technology, applications, manufacturing, and marketing. Includes the annual Industry Directory — detailed information on 750 companies selling everything from anti-reflection coatings through large-screen monitors to venture-capital services.
- Receive the Journal of the SID, the world's leading technical journal devoted exclusively to display technology.
- Receive the annual SID Membership Directory, direct access to your colleagues — the world's greatest source of display expertise.
- Receive timely information on forthcoming display conferences and trade shows — in locations from Hamamatsu to Orlando to London.
- Work side by side on SID committees with industrial and academic leaders of the display community.
- Be recognized within your company as a professional who is in touch with the latest in display technology.
- Obtain ongoing recognition and publicity for your company by having it become a Sustaining Member of SID. (Call the SID office for details.)

Publications

Information Display Magazine, Journal of the SID, SID-Wiley Series in Display Technology, Digest of Technical Papers (for each conference), Seminar Notes (for applicable conferences), notes for Short Courses.

Committees

We invite you to join one of the SID committees, which include Academic Affairs, Chapter Formation, Standards, Honors and Awards, Convention, Long-Range Planning, Membership, Nominations, Publications, and Communications (Publicity). Committee membership will connect you to the display community quickly, and we would appreciate your contributions.

Search

Site Map

Contact Us

About SID

© 2000 SID, Inc.
610 S. 2nd Street, San Jose, CA 95112
Tel: (408) 977-1013 Fax: (408) 977-1531 email: office@sid.org