Sea

| Modify Search | subject:(Reuse of Sip Call-Id question) |

Subject		From
Re: [sipcore] Reuse of Sip Call-Id question..		Paul Kyzivat
Re: [sipcore] Reuse of Sip Call-Id question..		Dean Willis
Re: [sipcore] Reuse of Sip Call-Id question..		Paul Kyzivat
Re: [sipcore] Reuse of Sip Call-Id question..		Dean Willis

30 Messages

Re: [sipcore] Reuse of Sip Call-Id question..

Paul Kyzivat <pkyzivat@cisco.com> | Tue, 09 June 2009 18:05 UTC | Show header

```
Depends on your perspective. It might be the UAS that is rude by continuing to be busy. :-)

        Paul

Dean Willis wrote:
>> If we're seeing real-life failures due to this behavior, I'd say both >> sides are at fault. It takes two to dance this "Failure Tango".
>
> Although the real "dance beat" of the failure tango in Glenn's case is > the rhythm of the UAS resending the failed request 100 times in rapid > succession. All questions of protocol specification aside, that's just > plain rude.
>
> --
```

Ericsson's