The Story of Tesonet

Tesonet is a place where advanced network security solutions are born. But it hasn't always been this way. In fact, Tesonet as we know it now came into being in 2013.

But what happened before? Where did it all start?

The roots of Tesonet are hiding in the labyrinths of IRC channels, where two of the co-founders – Tomas Okmanas and Eimantas Sabaliauskas – have met.

Tesonet was founded back in 2008 for a single project. And things took over from there.

Since the very beginning, we wanted to work on cutting-edge technology. The Internet trends were changing rapidly and it took A LOT of trying and failing before we learned what it takes to succeed in a fast-paced tech environment. We started off with online gaming platforms, we dived into e-commerce, and took up a bundle of other projects. Our road had many twists and turns but working with different technologies gave us valuable lessons on both market and technology sides. It took us 35 projects before we got where we are now – focusing on network security, business hosting, and big data solutions.

From 7 to 220

In 2013, the first employees joined the company. Even though our first office was only 17 square meters big, and there were only 2 of us, we knew that we finally were on the right track. Not long after, all 7 Teso people went on the first workation to Spain. Snowballing from there, we were quickly expanding. In 2015, Eimantas and Tomas joined Tesonet full-time as all hands on board were needed. We have changed 8 offices since then, and with 550+ people now it is getting pretty busy.

The future is now

As for the future of Tesonet, we are slowly but confidently stepping onto cybersecurityland. Currently, Tesonet is working on various IT solutions as well as developing advanced data intelligence tools. Also, we are working on some pretty unique business hosting solutions powered by machine learning. There is one thing that hasn't changed since the very beginning: our global goals and ambitions. Tesonet remains local capital company to this day, but we are more than ready take over the tech world by storm.
