

COMMERCIAL REAL ESTATE NETWORKING RECEPTION
 Thursday, May 1, 2008, 9:30-7:30 p.m., Sheraton Sonoma County, Petaluma

2008 CONSTRUCTION CONFERENCE
 Dangling the North Bay: What's on the horizon?
 Tuesday, May 20, 2008, 8-11:30 a.m., Hyatt Village/Red Creek, Santa Rosa

E-Mail Express
 Name: _____
 Company: _____
 E-mail: _____
 Phone: _____
 Subscribe

OFFICE TECHNOLOGY TODAY
Internet video startup gets $3.5 million
 EQUILIBRIUM TO USE CASH TO EXPAND STAFF, EXTEND REACH OF WEB TECHNOLOGY

Monday, April 14, 2008
 by Loralee Stevens
 Staff Reporter

SAUSALITO - Equilibrium, the maker of the MediaRich Media Server, an engine to automate and deliver images, video and audio to Web sites, has caught the eye of a Japanese digital-content management developer.

Tokyo-based, publicly traded Celatrem, through its U.S. subsidiary Extensis, has led an investment of $3.5 million in 14-employee Equilibrium with the intention of broadening the video processing portion of its technology, according to Equilibrium Director of Marketing Frank Colin.

The agreement also gives Celatrem Japanese and South Korean distribution rights to Equilibrium's current products.

Equilibrium is what its founder, chairman and CEO Sean Barger calls an "upstart" rather than a startup.

In 1989, he founded the company to develop computer games and to market the first automated graphics-processing software, DeBabelizer, and sold it to media conglomerate CMOI in 1999.

In 2004, Mr. Barger repurchased the company along with its new flagship product, MediaRich. DeBabelizer is still a popular graphics management tool.

MediaRich is customizable server middleware that's used to repurpose and deliver digital content to any device in real time. A common use is to allow customers on a retail site to zoom in on products, turn them around and change their color. AOL uses MediaRich to thumbnail its collection of videos.

Seattle-based Extensis is a digital-asset management company that will strengthen its technology with the MediaRich engine.

"The agreement has three significant purposes," said Mr. Colin. "It gives

- Related Articles
- Office Technology: Nelson program addresses needs of remote workers (04/14/2008)
 - Got MPLS? New tech for networks (04/14/2008)
 - Nelson underlines how near WorkforceLogix repairs (03/03/2008)
 - Office Technology: Extensis co-founder starts own printer enterprise (03/03/2008)
 - Web-based mailer sees 'intelligent' barcode history business (03/03/2008)
 - HIGH TECH & BIOTECH: Network agent KLI Consulting acquires DataFlow (12/03/2007)
 - COMMENTARY: Dangerous first impression: Why audit your Web site? (12/03/2007)

Book of Lists Online

 TamalpaisBank

Select a category:
 Search #:
 Keyword(s) (optional): _____
 Any Exact All
 Search

North Bay Business Journal

NORTH SAN FRANCISCO BAY AREA: SONOMA, NAPA, AND MARIN COUNTIES

GO 2008

Call us at 707-579-2900 or e-mail us

NORTH BAY BUSINESS JOURNAL EVENT

COMMERCIAL REAL ESTATE NETWORKING RECEPTION

Thursday, May 1, 2008, 5:30-7:30 p.m., Sheraton Sonoma County, Petaluma

2008 CONSTRUCTION CONFERENCE

Building the North Bay: What's on the horizon? Tuesday, May 20, 2008, 8-11:30 a.m., Hyatt Vineyard Creek, Santa Rosa

E-Mail Express

Name: Company: E-mail: Phone:

Subscribe

E-mail Story | Print-Friendly Version

sources | Contact
Book of Lists Online

OFFICE TECHNOLOGY TODAY

Internet video startup gets $3.5 million

EQUILIBRIUM TO USE CASH TO EXPAND STAFF, EXTEND REACH OF WEB TECHNOLOGY

Monday, April 14, 2008

by Lorelee Stevens

Staff Reporter

SAUSALITO – Equilibrium, the maker of the MediaRich Media Server, an engine to automate and deliver images, video and audio to Web sites, has caught the eye of a Japanese digital-content management developer.

Tokyo-based, publicly traded Celartem, through its U.S. subsidiary Extensis, has led an investment of $3.5 million in 14-employee Equilibrium with the intention of broadening the video processing portion of its technology, according to Equilibrium Director of Marketing Frank Colin.

The agreement also gives Celartem Japanese and South Korean distribution rights to Equilibrium's current products.

Equilibrium is what its founder, chairman and CEO Sean Barger calls an "upstart" rather than a startup.

In 1989, he founded the company to develop computer games and to market the first automated graphics-processing software, DeBabelizer, and sold it to media conglomerate CMGI in 1999.

In 2004, Mr. Barger repurchased the company along with its new flagship product, MediaRich. DeBabelizer is still a popular graphics management tool.

MediaRich is customizable server middleware that's used to repurpose and deliver digital content to any device in real time. A common use is to allow customers on a retail site to zoom in on products, turn them around and change their color. AOL uses MediaRich to thumbnail its collection of videos.

Seattle-based Extensis is a digital-asset management company that will strengthen its technology with the MediaRich engine.

"The agreement has three significant purposes," said Mr. Colin. "It gives Celartem MediaRich to market in Asia as well as a future in the video

Related Articles

Office Technology: Nelson program addresses needs of project work (04/14/2008)

Got MPLS? New tech for networks (04/14/2008)

Nelson undertakes two new WorkforceLogic programs (03/03/2008)

OFFICE TECHNOLOGY: Ex-Vanzebo co-founder starts own printer enterprise (03/03/2008)

Web-based mailer sees 'intelligent barcode' helping business (03/03/2008)

HIGH TECH & BIOTECH: Network expert KLH Consulting acquires DataFlow (12/03/2007)

COMMENTARY: Dangerous first impressions: Why audit your Web site? (12/03/2007)

TamalpaisBank

Select a category:

Search all

Keyword(s)(optional)

Any Exact All

Search

The money, the first significant investment Equilibrium has received since it was acquired from CMGI, will be used for research and development and to grow the staff, said Mr. Colin. "We'll at least double our staff this year," he said. Equilibrium is committed to remaining in Marin as it grows.

"There's a lot of development talent locally. Our employees in San Francisco don't mind making the trip and neither do our clients," he said.

For more information, visit www

.equilibrium.com.

Copyright 2008 - North Bay Business Journal
5464 Skylane Blvd., Suite B - Santa Rosa, CA 95403
Phone: 707-579-2900 - Fax: 707-579-0188