

AFFIDAVIT OF NATHANIEL E FRANK-WHITE

1. I am a Records Request Processor at the Internet Archive. I make this declaration of my own personal knowledge.
2. The Internet Archive is a website that provides access to a digital library of Internet sites and other cultural artifacts in digital form. Like a paper library, we provide free access to researchers, historians, scholars, and the general public. The Internet Archive has partnered with and receives support from various institutions, including the Library of Congress.
3. The Internet Archive has created a service known as the Wayback Machine. The Wayback Machine makes it possible to browse more than 450 billion pages stored in the Internet Archive's web archive. Visitors to the Wayback Machine can search archives by URL (i.e., a website address). If archived records for a URL are available, the visitor will be presented with a display of available dates. The visitor may select one of those dates, and begin browsing an archived version of the Web. Links on archived files in the Wayback Machine point to other archived files (whether HTML pages or other file types), if any are found for the URL indicated by a given link. For instance, the Wayback Machine is designed such that when a visitor clicks on a hyperlink on an archived page that points to another URL, the visitor will be served the archived file found for the hyperlink's URL with the closest available date to the initial file containing the hyperlink.
4. The archived data made viewable and browsable by the Wayback Machine is obtained by use of web archiving software that automatically stores copies of files available via the Internet, each file preserved as it existed at a particular point in time.
5. The Internet Archive assigns a URL on its site to the archived files in the format `http://web.archive.org/web/[Year in yyyy][Month in mm][Day in dd][Time code in hh:mm:ss]/[Archived URL]` aka an "extended URL". Thus, the extended URL `http://web.archive.org/web/19970126045828/http://www.archive.org/` would be the URL for the record of the Internet Archive home page HTML file (`http://www.archive.org/`) archived on January 26, 1997 at 4:58 a.m. and 28 seconds (1997/01/26 at 04:58:28). The date indicated by an extended URL applies to a preserved instance of a file for a given URL, but not necessarily to any other files linked therein. Thus, in the case of a page constituted by a primary HTML file and other separate files (e.g., files with images, audio, multimedia, design elements, or other embedded content) linked within that primary HTML file, the primary HTML file and the other files will each have their own respective extended URLs and may not have been archived on the same dates.
6. Attached hereto as Exhibit A are true and accurate copies of browser screenshots of the Internet Archive's records of the archived files for the URLs and the dates specified in the attached coversheet of each printout.

7. I declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of the United States of America that the foregoing is true and correct.

NEUROTOXIN

“While there is little or no upside for aluminum in the body, there is a most definite downside: aluminum is a neurotoxin. Aluminum has been linked to a number of health effects, including impaired mental and motor function, Alzheimer’s and other brain diseases, and bone diseases.”

-Bill Chameides

Dean of Duke’s Nicholas School of the Environment

BREAST CANCER

“Clinical studies showing a disproportionately high incidence of breast cancer in the upper outer quadrant of the breast supporting evidence for a role for locally applied cosmetic chemicals in the development of breast cancer. Aluminium is known to have a genotoxic profile, capable of causing both DNA alterations and epigenetic effects, and this would be consistent with a potential role in breast cancer.”

“Aluminium, Antiperspirants and Breast Cancer”

Journal of Inorganic Biochemistry

ALZHEIMER’S

“...Showed a modest increase in risk and a statistically significant trend emerging between increasing lifetime use of aluminum-containing antiperspirants and the estimated relative risk of Alzheimer’s disease.”

★★★★★

“Finally! A natural deodorant that works like it’s supposed to! I put it on in the morning and never think about it again. It lasts all day and it feels so clean.”

★★★★★

“I never thought about natural deodorant until I got pregnant. I didn’t want to put all the toxins that ordinary deodorants have on my body, so I looked around and found Native. It’s wonderful! I love it so much.”

★★★★★

“I really didn’t like the sticky feel of my Degree deodorant, but I didn’t know what to do. I finally found Native about a month ago. It took about a week for my body to detox from Degree. After that, it was smooth sailing! I love it!”
