POCKET BRA SYSTEM

APPLICATION

FOR UNITED STATES LETTERS PATENT

SPECIFICATION

TO ALL WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

BE IT KNOWN THAT I, SHARON J. GOFF, a citizen of the UNITED STATES OF AMERICA, have invented new and useful improvements in a POCKET BRA SYSTEM of which the following is a specification:

POCKET BRA SYSTEM

BACKGROUND OF THE INVENTION

Related Application

The present application is a continuation-in-part of pending Application Number 13/066,822 filed 04/26/2011, the subject matter of which is incorporated herein by reference.

Field of the Invention

The present invention relates to a pocket bra system and more particularly pertains to removably receiving a handheld electronic device while providing support and shape to the breasts of a wearer, the receiving and supporting and shaping being done in a safe, convenient and economical manner.

SUMMARY OF THE INVENTION

In view of the disadvantages inherent in the known types of bra systems of known designs and configurations now present in the prior art, the present invention provides an improved pocket bra system. As such, the general purpose of the present invention, which will be described subsequently in greater detail, is to provide a new and improved pocket bra system and method which has all the advantages of the prior art and none of the disadvantages.

To attain this, the present invention essentially comprises a pocket bra system. First provided is a strap assembly which includes a chest strap and shoulder straps. Similarly configured left and right cups are provided. The strap assembly is attached to the cups whereby the strap assembly adheres the cups to a wearer. Each cup has curved upper, lower, interior and exterior edges. Each cup has inside and outside surfaces. A patch is operatively associated with each cup. Each patch has a linear upper edge and curved lower, interior and exterior edges. Each patch has inside and outside surfaces. Stitching couples the lower, interior and exterior edges of each patch to the lower, interior and exterior edges of an associated cup. A linear opening is formed along the upper edge of each patch. Piping covers the upper edge of each patch. The piping is adapted to allow the patch to move away from and back toward the cup between open and closed orientations.

There has thus been outlined, rather broadly, the more important features of the invention in order that the detailed description thereof that follows may be better understood and in order that the present contribution to the art may be better appreciated. There are, of course, additional features of the invention that will be described hereinafter and which will form the subject matter of the claims attached.

In this respect, before explaining at least one embodiment of the invention in detail, it is to be understood that the invention is not limited in its application to the details of construction and to the arrangements of the components set forth in the following description or illustrated in the drawings. The invention is capable of other embodiments and of being practiced and carried out in various ways. Also, it is to be understood that the phraseology and terminology employed herein are for the purpose of descriptions and should not be regarded as limiting.

As such, those skilled in the art will appreciate that the conception, upon which this disclosure is based, may readily be utilized as a basis for the designing of other structures, methods and systems for carrying out the several purposes of the present invention. It is important, therefore, that the claims be regarded as including such equivalent constructions insofar as they do not depart from the spirit and scope of the present invention.

It is therefore an object of the present invention to provide a new and improved pocket bra system which has all of the advantages of the prior art bra systems of known designs and configurations and none of the disadvantages.

It is another object of the present invention to provide a new and improved pocket bra system which may be easily and efficiently manufactured and marketed.

It is further object of the present invention to provide a new and improved pocket bra system which is of durable and reliable constructions.

An even further object of the present invention is to provide a new and improved pocket bra system which is susceptible of a low cost of manufacture with regard to both materials and labor, and which accordingly is then susceptible of low prices of sale to the consuming public, thereby making such pocket bra system economically available to the buying public.

Even still another object of the present invention is to provide a pocket bra system for removably receiving a handheld electronic device while providing support and shape to the breasts of a wearer, the receiving and supporting and shaping being done in a safe, convenient and economical manner.

Lastly, it is an object of the present invention to provide a new and improved pocket bra system for removably receiving a handheld electronic device and other objects while providing support and shape to the breasts of a wearer.

These together with other objects of the invention, along with the various features of novelty which characterize the invention, are pointed out with particularity in the claims annexed to and forming a part of this disclosure. For a better understanding of the invention, its operating advantages and the specific objects attained by its uses, reference should be had to the accompanying drawings and descriptive matter in which there is illustrated preferred and alternate embodiments of the invention.

DESCRIPTION OF THE PREFERRED EMBODIMENT

With reference now to the drawings, and in particular to Figure 1 thereof, the preferred embodiment of the new and improved pocket bra system embodying the principles and concepts of the present invention and generally designated by the reference numeral 10 will be described.

The present invention, the pocket bra system 10 is comprised of a plurality of components. Such components in their broadest context include a strap, left and right cups, a rectangular patch and a linear slit. Such components are individually configured and correlated with respect to each other so as to attain the desired objective.

First provided is a strap assembly. The strap assembly includes a generally horizontal chest strap 14. The chest strap is positionable around the chest and back of a wearer. The strap assembly includes left and right generally vertical shoulder straps 16. The shoulder straps are positionable over the shoulders of the wearer. The shoulder straps have free ends. The free ends are coupled to the chest strap adjacent to the chest of the wearer and adjacent to the back of the wearer.

A left cup 18 is provided. A similarly configured right cup 20 is provided. Each cup has an inside surface and an outside surface. The left and right cups each have an upper-most point 22. The left and right cups each have a lower-most point 24. A generally vertical axis is provided. The vertical axis divides each cup into an inner hemisphere interiorly and an outer hemisphere exteriorly. The left and right cups each have an inner-most point 26. The left and right cups each have an outer-most point 28. A generally horizontal axis is provided. The horizontal axis divides each cup into an upper hemisphere above and a lower hemisphere below.

A rectangular patch 32 is provided next. The patch is operatively associated with each cup. Each patch has generally horizontal upper and lower edges. Each patch has generally vertical interior and exterior edges. The patch has a periphery. The periphery has stitching. In this manner the periphery of each patch is coupled to the inside surface of an associated cup. The majority of each patch is in the upper hemisphere. The majority of each patch is in the outer hemisphere. A rectangular chamber 34 is provided. The chamber is provided between each patch and its associated cup. The chamber is rectangular. The chamber has a height of 120 and 140 millimeters. The chamber has a width of between 60 and 70 millimeters. The pockets are fabricated of a resilient closed cell polyurethane foam. The foam has a thickness of from 2 to 4 millimeters. The patches are fabricated of an elastic fabric.

Further provided is a linear slit 38. The slit is provided in each patch. The slit is provided parallel with, and closely spaced from, the upper edge of each patch. Each slit has a length greater than 90 percent of the width of the chamber. An elastic band 40 is provided. The elastic band is provided within each patch. The elastic band surrounds the slit. The elastic band is adapted to return the slit to a closed orientation. The elastic band is further adapted to allow the slit to stretch to an enlarged orientation.

Provided last is a handheld electronic device 46. The handheld electronic device is positionable within the chamber. The handheld electronic device has a height of 115 millimeters, plus or minus 10 percent. The handheld electronic device has a width of 59 millimeters. The handheld electronic device has a thickness of 9 millimeters plus or minus 10 percent. The slit is adapted to stretch to the open orientation when adding the handheld device to, or removing the handheld device from, the chamber. The slit is adapted to contract to the closed orientation when the handheld device is within or without the chamber. The thickness and the material of the cups and the patches are adapted to abate inward projections by the handheld devices in the chambers tending to poke a user. The thickness and the material of the cups and the patches are adapted to abate outward projections by the handheld devices in the chambers tending to create unsightly projections.

An alternate embodiment 100 of the present invention is provided. An under-wire 104 is provided. The under-wire is provided beneath each cup.

A central patch 108 is provided. The central patch is provided intermediate the cups. In this manner a central chamber is formed. The central patch has horizontal upper and lower edges 110, 112. The central patch has vertical side edges 114, 116. The upper and lower edges are longer than the side edges. The central patch has a central slit 118. The central slit is provided parallel with and in proximity to the upper edge. The central chamber is adapted to receive and support keys.

An upper patch 120 is provided on each shoulder strap. The upper patches have horizontal upper and lower edges 122, 124. The upper patches have vertical side edges 126, 128. The upper and lower edges are shorter than the side edges. The upper patches each have an upper slit 130. The upper slit is provided parallel with and in proximity to the upper edge. The upper chambers are adapted to receive and support pills.

Figures 9 through 12 illustrate a system 200 constructed in accordance with another alternate embodiment of the invention. In such alternate embodiment, enlarged bra pockets 202 are constructed on the cups of the bra. In addition, side pockets 204 are constructed along both sides of the bra. Although only a right side pocket is illustrated, it should be understood that a similarly constructed left side pocket is preferably provided additionally.

As shown in Figures 9 and 10, there is illustrated a pocket bra system 200 for removably receiving a handheld electronic device and other objects while providing support and shape to the breasts of a wearer. The system includes a strap assembly 214. The strap assembly is formed of a chest strap 216 and shoulder straps 218.

Next provided are similarly configured left and right cups 222, 224. Each cup has inside and outside surfaces. The strap assembly is attached to the cups whereby the strap assembly adheres the cups to a wearer. Each cup has curved upper edge 226, a lower edge 228, an interior edge 230 and an exterior edge 232. Each cup has inside and outside surfaces.

A patch 236 is operatively associated with each cup. Each patch has a linear upper edge 238 and a curved lower edge 240, an interior edge 242 and an exterior edge 248. Each patch has inside and outside surfaces.

Stitching 250 couples the lower, interior and exterior edges of each patch to the lower, interior and exterior edges of an associated cup. A linear opening 252 is thus formed along the upper edge of each patch. Piping 256 covers the upper edge of each patch. The upper edge of the patch and the piping are adapted to allow the patch to move away from and back toward the cup between open and closed orientations.

Pockets 260 are formed between the patches and the cups. The cups are preferably fabricated of a resilient closed cell polyurethane foam with a thickness of from 2 to 4 millimeters. The patches are also preferably fabricated of a resilient closed cell polyurethane foam with a thickness of from 2 to 4 millimeters.

A handheld electronic device 46 is adapted to be placed within a pocket.

An under-wire 264 is coupled beneath each cup in a generally vertical plane.

Lastly provided is a side patch 268 on each side of the chest strap. The side patches each have a horizontal upper edge 270 and a lower edge 272 and vertical side edges 274. The upper and lower edges of each patch are longer than the side edges. The side patches include side stitching 276 along the lower and side edges. Thus is formed an upper opening 278 at each side patch.

As to the manner of usage and operation of the present invention, the same should be apparent from the above description. Accordingly, no further discussion relating to the manner of usage and operation will be provided.

With respect to the above description then, it is to be realized that the optimum dimensional relationships for the parts of the invention, to include variations in size, materials, shape, form, function and manner of operation, assembly and use, are deemed readily apparent and obvious to one skilled in the art, and all equivalent relationships to those illustrated in the drawings and described in the specification are intended to be encompassed by the present invention.

Therefore, the foregoing is considered as illustrative only of the principles of the invention. Further, since numerous modifications and changes will readily occur to those skilled in the art, it is not desired to limit the invention to the exact construction and operation shown and described, and accordingly, all suitable modifications and equivalents may be resorted to, falling within the scope of the invention.

PROTECTING YOUR INVENTION OUTSIDE THE UNITED STATES

Since the rights granted by a U.S. patent extend only throughout the territory of the United States and have no effect in a foreign country, an inventor who wishes patent protection in another country must apply for a patent in a specific country or in regional patent offices. Applicants may wish to consider the filing of an international application under the Patent Cooperation Treaty (PCT). An international (PCT) application generally has the same effect as a regular national patent application in each PCT-member country. The PCT process simplifies the filing of patent applications on the same invention in member countries, but does not result in a grant of "an international patent" and does not eliminate the need of applicants to file additional documents and fees in countries where patent protection is desired.

Almost every country has its own patent law, and a person desiring a patent in a particular country must make an application for patent in that country in accordance with its particular laws. Since the laws of many countries differ in various respects from the patent law of the United States, applicants are advised to seek guidance from specific foreign countries to ensure that patent rights are not lost prematurely.

Applicants also are advised that in the case of inventions made in the United States, the Director of the USPTO must issue a license before applicants can apply for a patent in a foreign country. The filing of a U.S. patent application serves as a request for a foreign filing license. The application's filing receipt contains further information and guidance as to the status of applicant's license for foreign filing.

Applicants may wish to consult the USPTO booklet, "General Information Concerning Patents" (specifically, the section entitled "Treaties and Foreign Patents") for more information on timeframes and deadlines for filing foreign patent applications. The guide is available either by contacting the USPTO Contact Center at 800-786-9199, or it can be viewed on the USPTO website at <http://www.uspto.gov/web/offices/pac/doc/general/index.html>.

For information on preventing theft of your intellectual property (patents, trademarks and copyrights), you may wish to consult the U.S. Government website, <http://www.stopfakes.gov>. Part of a Department of Commerce initiative, this website includes self-help "toolkits" giving innovators guidance on how to protect intellectual property in specific countries such as China, Korea and Mexico. For questions regarding patent enforcement issues, applicants may call the U.S. Government hotline at 1-866-999-HALT (1-866-999-4258).

LICENSE FOR FOREIGN FILING UNDER
Title 35, United States Code, Section 184
Title 37, Code of Federal Regulations, 5.11 & 5.15

GRANTED

The applicant has been granted a license under 35 U.S.C. 184, if the phrase "IF REQUIRED, FOREIGN FILING LICENSE GRANTED" followed by a date appears on this form. Such licenses are issued in all applications where the conditions for issuance of a license have been met, regardless of whether or not a license may be required as set forth in 37 CFR 5.15. The scope and limitations of this license are set forth in 37 CFR 5.15(a) unless an earlier license has been issued under 37 CFR 5.15(b). The license is subject to revocation upon written notification. The date indicated is the effective date of the license, unless an earlier license of similar scope has been granted under 37 CFR 5.13 or 5.14.

This license is to be retained by the licensee and may be used at any time on or after the effective date thereof unless it is revoked. This license is automatically transferred to any related applications(s) filed under 37 CFR 1.53(d). This license is not retroactive.

The grant of a license does not in any way lessen the responsibility of a licensee for the security of the subject matter as imposed by any Government contract or the provisions of existing laws relating to espionage and the national security or the export of technical data. Licensees should apprise themselves of current regulations especially with respect to certain countries, of other agencies, particularly the Office of Defense Trade Controls, Department of State (with respect to Arms, Munitions and Implements of War (22 CFR 121-128)); the Bureau of Industry and Security, Department of Commerce (15 CFR parts 730-774); the Office of Foreign Assets Control, Department of Treasury (31 CFR Parts 500+) and the Department of Energy.

NOT GRANTED

No license under 35 U.S.C. 184 has been granted at this time, if the phrase "IF REQUIRED, FOREIGN FILING LICENSE GRANTED" DOES NOT appear on this form. Applicant may still petition for a license under 37 CFR 5.12, if a license is desired before the expiration of 6 months from the filing date of the application. If 6 months has lapsed from the filing date of this application and the licensee has not received any indication of a secrecy order under 35 U.S.C. 181, the licensee may foreign file the application pursuant to 37 CFR 5.15(b).

Statement under 37 CFR 1.55 or 1.78 for AIA (First Inventor to File) Transition Applications: YesPROTECTING YOUR INVENTION OUTSIDE THE UNITED STATES

Since the rights granted by a U.S. patent extend only throughout the territory of the United States and have no effect in a foreign country, an inventor who wishes patent protection in another country must apply for a patent in a specific country or in regional patent offices. Applicants may wish to consider the filing of an international application under the Patent Cooperation Treaty (PCT). An international (PCT) application generally has the same effect as a regular national patent application in each PCT-member country. The PCT process simplifies the filing of patent applications on the same invention in member countries, but does not result in a grant of "an international patent" and does not eliminate the need of applicants to file additional documents and fees in countries where patent protection is desired.

Almost every country has its own patent law, and a person desiring a patent in a particular country must make an application for patent in that country in accordance with its particular laws. Since the laws of many countries differ in various respects from the patent law of the United States, applicants are advised to seek guidance from specific foreign countries to ensure that patent rights are not lost prematurely.

Applicants also are advised that in the case of inventions made in the United States, the Director of the USPTO must issue a license before applicants can apply for a patent in a foreign country. The filing of a U.S. patent application serves as a request for a foreign filing license. The application's filing receipt contains further information and guidance as to the status of applicant's license for foreign filing.

Applicants may wish to consult the USPTO booklet, "General Information Concerning Patents" (specifically, the section entitled "Treaties and Foreign Patents") for more information on timeframes and deadlines for filing foreign patent applications. The guide is available either by contacting the USPTO Contact Center at 800-786-9199, or it can be viewed on the USPTO website at <http://www.uspto.gov/web/offices/pac/doc/general/index.html>.

For information on preventing theft of your intellectual property (patents, trademarks and copyrights), you may wish to consult the U.S. Government website, <http://www.stopfakes.gov>. Part of a Department of Commerce initiative, this website includes self-help "toolkits" giving innovators guidance on how to protect intellectual property in specific countries such as China, Korea and Mexico. For questions regarding patent enforcement issues, applicants may call the U.S. Government hotline at 1-866-999-HALT (1-866-999-4258).

LICENSE FOR FOREIGN FILING UNDER
Title 35, United States Code, Section 184
Title 37, Code of Federal Regulations, 5.11 & 5.15

GRANTED

The applicant has been granted a license under 35 U.S.C. 184, if the phrase "IF REQUIRED, FOREIGN FILING LICENSE GRANTED" followed by a date appears on this form. Such licenses are issued in all applications where the conditions for issuance of a license have been met, regardless of whether or not a license may be required as set forth in 37 CFR 5.15. The scope and limitations of this license are set forth in 37 CFR 5.15(a) unless an earlier license has been issued under 37 CFR 5.15(b). The license is subject to revocation upon written notification. The date indicated is the effective date of the license, unless an earlier license of similar scope has been granted under 37 CFR 5.13 or 5.14.

This license is to be retained by the licensee and may be used at any time on or after the effective date thereof unless it is revoked. This license is automatically transferred to any related applications(s) filed under 37 CFR 1.53(d). This license is not retroactive.

The grant of a license does not in any way lessen the responsibility of a licensee for the security of the subject matter as imposed by any Government contract or the provisions of existing laws relating to espionage and the national security or the export of technical data. Licensees should apprise themselves of current regulations especially with respect to certain countries, of other agencies, particularly the Office of Defense Trade Controls, Department of State (with respect to Arms, Munitions and Implements of War (22 CFR 121-128)); the Bureau of Industry and Security, Department of Commerce (15 CFR parts 730-774); the Office of Foreign Assets Control, Department of Treasury (31 CFR Parts 500+) and the Department of Energy.

NOT GRANTED

No license under 35 U.S.C. 184 has been granted at this time, if the phrase "IF REQUIRED, FOREIGN FILING LICENSE GRANTED" DOES NOT appear on this form. Applicant may still petition for a license under 37 CFR 5.12, if a license is desired before the expiration of 6 months from the filing date of the application. If 6 months has lapsed from the filing date of this application and the licensee has not received any indication of a secrecy order under 35 U.S.C. 181, the licensee may foreign file the application pursuant to 37 CFR 5.15(b).

1. (Currently amended) A pocket bra system comprising:
a strap assembly including a chest strap and shoulder straps;

inside and outside surfaces, the strap assembly being attached to the cups whereby the strap assembly adheres the cups to a wearer, each cup having inside and outside surfaces;

a patch operatively associated with each cup, each patch having a linear upper edge and curved lower, interior and exterior edges, each patch having inside and outside surfaces; stitching coupling the lower, interior and exterior edges of each patch to the lower, interior and exterior edges of an associated cup;

a linear opening formed along the upper edge of each patch;
and

pipng covering the upper edge of each patch, the pipng being adapted to allow the patch to move away from and back toward the cup between open and closed orientations; and a handheld electronic device, the handheld electronic device being pemovably positioned within the pocket.

2. (Original) The system as set forth in claim 1 wherein the cups and the patches form pockets, the cups being fabricated of a resilient closed cell polyurethane foam with a thickness of from 2 to 4 millimeters.

3. (Original) The system as set forth in claim 1 wherein the cups and the patches form pockets, the patches being fabricated of an elastic fabric.

4. (Cancel)

5. (Original) The system as set forth in claim 1 and further including an under-wire coupled beneath each cup in a generally vertical plane.

6. (Original) The system as set forth in claim 1 and further including a side patch on each side of the chest strap, the side patches having horizontal upper and lower edges and vertical side edges, the upper and lower edges of each patch being longer than the side edges, the side patches including stitching along the lower and side edges thus forming an upper opening at each side patch.

7. (Currently amended) A pocket bra system (200) for removably receiving a handheld electronic device and other objects while providing support and shape to the breasts of a wearer, the system comprising, in combination:

a strap assembly (214) including a chest strap (216) and shoulder straps (218);

similarly configured left and right cups (222), (224), each cup having inside and outside surfaces, the strap assembly being attached to the cups whereby the strap assembly adheres the cups to a wearer, each cup having curved upper (226), lower (228), interior (230) and exterior edges (232), each cup having inside and outside surfaces;

a patch (236) operatively associated with each cup, each patch having a linear upper edge (238) and curved lower (240), interior (242) and exterior edges (248), each patch having inside and outside surfaces;

stitching (250) coupling the lower, interior and exterior edges of each patch to the lower, interior and exterior edges of an associated cup;

a linear opening (252) is formed along the upper edge of each patch; and pipings (256) covers the upper edge of each patch, the pipings being adapted to allow the slit to move away from and back toward the cup between open and closed orientations;

a pocket (260) formed between each patch and an associated cup;

a handheld electronic device (46), the handheld electronic device being placeable removably positioned within the pocket;

an under-wire (264) coupled beneath each cup in a generally vertical plane; and

8. (Original) The system as set forth in claim 7 wherein the cups are fabricated of a resilient closed cell polyurethane foam with a thickness of from 2 to 4 millimeters.

9. (Original) The system as set forth in claim 7 wherein the patches are fabricated of an elastic fabric.

REMARKS

The claims are herein amended to protect applicant's invention, a garment with a hand held electronic device. Note claims 1, lines 20 and 21, and claim 7, line 28, the only independent claims. The prior art does not disclose, suggest or provide motivation for combining a garment with a hand held electronic device as presently disclosed and claimed. By way of background, the most common hand held electronic device is a cell phone. It is intended, however, that the term "hand held electronic device" be interpreted broadly to include a wide range of devices including computing devices, i-phones, electronic sensors, medical devices for monitoring bodily functions, and the like.

A Notice of Allowance is hereby requested.

DETAILED ACTION

Notice of Pre-AIA or AIA Status

The present application, filed on or after March 16, 2013, is being examined under the first inventor to file provisions of the AIA.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 112(b):

(b) CONCLUSION.—The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the inventor or a joint inventor regards as the invention.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 112 (pre-AIA), second paragraph:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1-3 and 6-9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112(b) or 35 U.S.C. 112 (pre-AIA), second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which the inventor or a joint inventor, or for pre-AIA the applicant regards as the invention.

Throughout claims 1-3 and 6-9, line 1, the preamble claims a “pocket bra system”.

However, the invention is actually a “bra pocket system” since it is the brassiere that has the pocket system and not the pocket system that has a bra.

In claim 1, line 4 the recitation of “similarly configured” is not clear since it is not clear if the left and right cups are the same or if they include differences and if so, it is not clear as to why those differences include or what the “similarities” include. IF there are no differences the language of “Similarly configured” is not necessary. In claim 1, line 7 it is not clear as to what the "interior" and "Exterior" edges include. It is not clear if it is actually "lateral" and "medial" edges or locations on the wearer's body or some other configuration. It is not clear as to what it is "Interior" and "Exterior" of. In lines 10, 12 and 13, the terms "interior" and "Exterior" are also not clear as previously discussed above. IN claim 1, line 9 it is not clear as to how the "patch" is operatively associated. IF it is placed on and/or attached to the cup it should be claimed as such since it is not clear that it then forms a pocket. The "patch" should be claimed as a patch pocket layer attached to the cup fabric surface to thereby create a pocket within the layers.

IN line 18 it is not clear as to how the "piping" is constructed to be "Adapted to allow the patch to move away from and back toward the cup between open and closed orientations". In the last two lines it is not clear as to whether applicant intends to claim the handheld electronic device as a part of the invention or that it is just an intended use for the pocket. IF applicant intends to continue to claim the handheld electronic device in combination with the "Bra pocket system" the "electronic device" should be included in the preamble as "A brassiere pocket system and handheld electronic device for placement within the pocket system, in combination, comprising:". Or applicant may want to consider claiming the pocket as being adapted to hold the electronic device in regard to its size and shape.

In claim 5 it is not clear as to how the "Underwire" is included in a generally "vertical plane". It is not clear as to which direction the underwire lies and which direction extends in the vertical plane. If it is a "U-shaped" underwire it appears that it would extend horizontally to underlie each breast of the wearer such as horizontally under each cup.

IN claim 7, the preamble is not clear in regard to the "providing support and shape to the breasts of a wearer". A better recitation would be "A brassiere pocket system of a brassiere for providing support and shape to the breasts of a wearer and a pocket system thereon for removably receiving a handheld electronic device and other objects, in combination:".

Also, it is not clear as to what the "other objects" are to include since their make-up would have an effect on the size and shape of the pocket(s) if larger than the main electronic device claimed therein leading the claim to be indefinite. Therefore, "and other objects" should be deleted.

IN claim 7, line 7, the terms "similarly configured" is unclear and indefinite as previously discussed above in regard to claim 1. IN claim 7, lines 11, 15, 17 and 18, the terms "Interior" and "Exterior" are not clear for the same reasons as discussed above thereby making the claim indefinite. In claim 7, lines 22-24, the recitation of "being adapted to allow the slit to move away from and back toward the cup between open and closed orientations" renders the claim indefinite for the same reasons as previously discussed above in regard to claim 1. IN claim 7, line 13 it is not clear as to how the "patch" is operatively associated. IF it is placed on and/or attached to the cup it should be claimed as such since it is not clear that it then forms a pocket. The "patch" should be claimed as a patch pocket layer attached to the cup fabric surface to thereby create a pocket within the layers. Lines 24-25 should probably be included after lines 15-16.

In claim 7, lines 28-29 are unclear for the same reasons as discussed above in regard to claim 1. The underwire of lines 29-30 are unclear and indefinite for the same reasons as discussed above in regard to claim 1.

However, the claims, as best understood, have been examined on their merits.

Double Patenting

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the “right to exclude” granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory double patenting rejection is appropriate where the claims at issue are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the reference application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement. A terminal disclaimer must be signed in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(b).

The USPTO internet Web site contains terminal disclaimer forms which may be used. Please visit <http://www.uspto.gov/forms/>. The filing date of the application will determine what form should be used. A web-based eTerminal Disclaimer may be filled out completely online using web-screens. An eTerminal Disclaimer that meets all requirements is auto-processed and approved immediately upon submission. For more information about eTerminal Disclaimers, refer to <http://www.uspto.gov/patents/process/file/efs/guidance/eTD-info-I.jsp>.

Claims 1-3 and 6-9 are rejected on the ground of nonstatutory double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-9 of U.S. Patent No. 8597072. Although the claims at issue are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because they claim the same brassiere with a pocket system included thereon in the form of a patch and a slit with either and band or piping about the pocket slit for ease in opening the slit pocket opening as claimed in claims 1 and 7.

Claims 1-3 and 6-9 would be allowable if rewritten or amended to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112(b) or 35 U.S.C. 112 (pre-AIA), 2nd paragraph, set forth in this Office action in addition to providing the proper and required Terminal Disclaimer as discussed above.

AMENDMENT AND RESPONSE TO MARCH 6, 2015 OFFICE ACTION

This is a response to the Office Action issued on March 6, 2015 by the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office in connection with the above-identified application. A response to the March 6, 2015 Office Action is due June 6, 2015. Accordingly, this response is being timely filed.

Amendments to the Claims:

This listing of claims will replace all prior versions, and listings, of claims in the application:

1. (Currently Amended) A bra pocket [[bra]] system comprising:

a strap assembly including a chest strap and shoulder straps; ~~similarly configured~~ left and right cups, each cup having inside and outside surfaces, the strap assembly being attached to the cups whereby the strap assembly adheres the cups to a wearer, each cup having curved upper, lower, interior and exterior edges, each cup having inside and outside surfaces;

a patch forming a pocket operatively associated with each cup, each patch having a linear upper edge and curved lower, interior body facing and opposite exterior edges, each patch having inside and outside surfaces; stitching coupling the lower, interior body facing and opposite exterior edges of each patch to the lower, interior body facing and opposite exterior edges of an associated cup; a linear opening formed along the upper edge of each patch; ~~pipng covering the upper edge of each patch, the piping being adapted to allow the patch to move away from and back toward the cup between open and closed orientations;~~ and
~~a handheld electronic device, the handheld electronic device being removably positioned within the pocket.~~

2. (Original) The system as set forth in claim 1 wherein the cups and the patches form pockets, the cups being fabricated of a resilient closed cell polyurethane foam with a thickness of from 2 to 4 millimeters.

3. (Original) The system as set forth in claim 1 wherein the cups and the patches form pockets, the patches being fabricated of an elastic fabric.

4. (Canceled).

5. (Currently Amended) The system as set forth in claim 1 and further including an under-wire coupled beneath each cup in a generally horizontal ~~vertical~~ plane.

6. (Original) The system as set forth in claim 1 and further including a side patch on each side of the chest strap, the side patches having horizontal upper and lower edges and vertical side edges, the upper and lower edges of each patch being longer than the side edges, the side patches including stitching along the lower and side edges thus forming an upper opening at each side patch.

7. (Currently Amended) A bra pocket system of a bra for providing support and shape to the breasts of a wearer and a pocket system thereon ~~A pocket bra system (200) for removably receiving a handheld electronic device and other objects while providing support and shape to the breasts of a wearer, the system comprising, in combination:~~

a strap assembly (214) including a chest strap (216) and shoulder straps (218);

~~similarly configured~~ left and right cups (222), (224), each cup having inside and outside surfaces, the strap assembly being attached to the cups whereby the strap assembly adheres the cups to a wearer, each cup having curved upper (226), lower (228), interior body facing (230) and opposite exterior edges (232), each cup having inside and outside surfaces;

a patch (236) ~~operatively associated with~~ attached to each cup, a pocket (260) formed between each patch and an associated cup, each patch having a linear upper edge (238) and curved lower (240), interior body facing (242) and opposite exterior edges (248), each patch having inside and outside surfaces;

stitching (250) coupling the lower, interior body facing and opposite exterior edges of each patch to the lower, interior and exterior edges of an associated cup;

a linear opening (252) is formed along the upper edge of each patch; and

~~pipng (256) covers the upper edge of each patch, the piping being adapted to allow the slit to move away from and back toward the cup between open and closed orientations;~~

~~a pocket (260) formed between each patch and an associated cup;~~

~~a handheld electronic device (46), the handheld electronic device being placeable removably positioned within the pocket;~~

an under-wire (264) coupled beneath each cup in a generally horizontal plane; and a side patch (268) on each side of the chest strap, forming a pocket, the side patches having horizontal upper (270) and lower edges (272) and vertical side edges (274), the upper and lower edges of each patch being longer than the side edges, the side patches including side stitching (276) along the lower and side edges thus forming an upper opening (278) at each side patch.

8. (Original) The system as set forth in claim 7 wherein the cups are fabricated of a resilient closed cell polyurethane foam with a thickness of from 2 to 4 millimeters.

9. (Original) The system as set forth in claim 7 wherein the patches are fabricated of an elastic fabric.

10. (New) The system as set forth in claim 1 further comprising a stretchable piping covering the upper edge of each patch, the piping being adapted to allow the patch to move away from and back toward the cup between open and closed orientations.

Remarks

Applicant thanks the Office for the attention accorded to the present application in the March 6, 2015 Office Action. Claims 1-3 and 5-9 were pending in the subject application.

Without prejudice or disclaimer, claims 1 and 7 have been amended, and claim 10 has been added. Upon entry of this amendment, claims 1-3 and 5-10 will be pending in the present application.

The amendments to the claims are primarily to correct matters of form and/or clarity in response to the Office's recommendation. Applicant asserts that all claims are supported in the specification as originally filed. No new matter has been added.

The claim amendments and cancellations made herein are made solely to expedite prosecution of the instant application, and should not be construed as acquiescence to the Office's rejections. Applicant reserves the right to pursue the cancelled and/or non-elected subject matter in one or more divisional or continuation applications.

Applicant respectfully traverses all rejections and asserts that the claims are now in condition for allowance.

Rejection based 35 U.S.C. §112, Second Paragraph

In the present Office Action, the Examiner rejected claims 1-3 and 6-9 under 35 U.S.C. §112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which Applicant regards as the invention. In response, Applicant has herein amended claims 1 and 7 and added claim 10 to clarify the inventions contemplated therein. Regarding the deletion of the terms "similarly configured" in claims 1 and 7, applicant herein has canceled this, but respectfully asserts that the cups are not necessarily the same. Regarding newly added claim 10, applicant has removed and clarified the piping element from claim 1, such that the 35 U.S.C. 112 rejection of this claim element is addressed and overcome. As such, Applicant respectfully asserts that the 35 U.S.C. 112 rejections are now moot, and Applicant respectfully requests that the Examiner remove the rejection.

Double Patenting

Claims 1-3 and 6-9 are rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-9 of U.S. Patent 8,597,072.

Without acceding to the propriety of the rejection, Applicant asserts that the amendments to claim 1 and claims depending therefrom distinguishes from the cited patent application. As such, Applicant asserts that the double patenting rejection is now moot, and respectfully requests that Examiner remove this ground of rejection.

Conclusion

Applicant again thanks the Office for the attention accorded to the present Application in the March 6, 2015 office action. Applicant has herein amended claims 1 and 7, and added claim 10. Applicant asserts that based on the amendments and comments presented herein, all of the pending claims are in condition for allowance. Early and favorable action is respectfully requested.

The Examiner is invited to telephone the undersigned, Applicant's attorney of record, to facilitate advancement of the present application.

Respectfully submitted,

/David J. Connaughton, Jr./

DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 112(b):

(b) CONCLUSION.—The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the inventor or a joint inventor regards as the invention.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 112 (pre-AIA), second paragraph:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1,3 and 5-9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112(b) or 35 U.S.C. 112 (pre-AIA), second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which the inventor or a joint inventor, or for pre-AIA the applicant regards as the invention.

In claim 1, lines 4-5, applicant claims “each cup having inside and outside surfaces” and it is again claimed with the same language in claim 1, lines 8-9.

Repeating the same language is redundant.

IN claim 7, line 8, (as now amended) and lines 12-13 also include the same redundant limitations as described above in regard to claim 1. The “repeated limitations” in both claims 1 and 7 should be deleted.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(a)(1) the claimed invention was patented, described in a printed publication, or in public use, on sale or otherwise available to the public before the effective filing date of the claimed invention.

Art Unit: 3765

Claims 1,3,5 and 9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102a1 as being anticipated by Newman (US 2005/0037687).

Newman discloses a bra pocket assembly 20, 26, 18, 24 with a chest strap 18,24, shoulder straps 20,26; left and right cups 16, 22, each with inside and outside surfaces not numbered as seen in figures 1 and 4 and wherein the straps function as claimed. The cups 16, 22 each have a curved upper, lower, interior and exterior edges- not numbered as seen in figures 1 and 4.

Newman also discloses a patch layer 46 adhered with stitching in figure 4. (See Newman, para, (0016), (0017) and (0020). The cup outer layer 48 is formed of elastic material (0020) and in para. (0017) disclose the bra as being of any connected material and for an aesthetic appeal to the bra. The bra is constructed of the same material as the cups and would be elastic fabric as in the cups. Newman discloses the cups as including underwires as stated in para. (0017).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103 which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

A patent for a claimed invention may not be obtained, notwithstanding that the claimed invention is not identically disclosed as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the claimed invention and the prior art are such that the claimed invention as a whole would have been obvious before the effective filing date of the claimed invention to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which the claimed invention pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 2 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103 as being unpatentable over Newman in view of Liu (US 2010/0124869).

Art Unit: 3765

Newman discloses the bra structured as claimed except for the bra as being fabricated of a polyurethane foam material as claimed. Liu discloses the use of a polyurethane foam material as claimed to provide the padding to the cups to imitate that of a natural breast when worn. Accordingly, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the bra of Newman with the teaching of Liu to include polyurethane foam layers therein in order to provide the natural look and density of the breasts when the bra is worn. (See Liu, para. (0156).

Finding the claimed thickness would have been found through routine experimentation since it has been known to find a desired material parameter through routine experimentation to obtain the optimum benefits of that material for the desired end use. Finding the claimed parameters through routine experimentation would be found easily since that parameter would provide the optimum level of comfort to the wearer in use.

Claims 6 and 7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103 as being unpatentable over Newman in view of Sherwood (US 4699144).

Newman discloses the bra structure substantially as claimed except for the back strap and side pockets as claimed. Sherwood discloses a bra with the back band/side band side pockets of 62 in figures 1 and 2. (See Sherwood, figures 1 and 2 and col. 5, line 53- col. 6, line 19). .

Accordingly, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to include side pockets in the back/side panels as claimed in order to provide a location to store any item desired within the pockets as well as to include side panel padding if one also desires.

Newman also discloses the underwire as previously discussed above and with the stitching to couple the lower edges as claimed and as discussed above in para. (0020).

Claim 8 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103 as being unpatentable over Newman in view of Sherwood and Liu.

Newman discloses the invention substantially as claimed except for the material of the bra including the polyurethane foam material and the inclusion of the side and back panel side pockets as claimed.

Liu discloses the polyurethane material of the brassiere as previously discussed above in regard to claim 2 and Sherwood discloses back/side panel side pockets as in claims 6 and 7 above.

Accordingly, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the brassiere of Newman with the teachings of Liu and Sherwood to include the polyurethane foam material in the bra for the same reasons as discussed above in regard to claim 2 and to also include the pockets as claimed and as discussed above in regard to claims 6 and 7 above.

Claim 10 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103 as being unpatentable over Newman in view of Mac Laren (US 7585200).

Art Unit: 3765

Newman discloses the brassiere structure substantially as claimed except for the pocket incusing a stretchable piping along the pocket edge. MacLaren discloses the pocket inner layer attached to a pocket outer layer and piping/ binding around the layers and on the upper edge of the inner pocket layer as claimed. See Figure 3 and piping/edging at 220 and not numbered along the pocket upper edge in Mac Laren. (See MacLaren, col. 2, lines 44-66. Accordingly the material used as the stretch material along the edges is a tricot knitted and single or double knitted materials all of which are stretchable. Therefore the entire structure is of a stretch material and the stretch material of the piping and binding would also stretch with the remainder of the brassiere in use to provide comfort to the wearer in use.

Terminal Disclaimer

The Terminal Disclaimer has been approved and the Double Patenting Rejections have been overcome.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-3 and 5-9 have been considered but are moot because the arguments do not apply to any of the references being used in the current rejection.

Art Unit: 3765

In claim 1, applicant has removed the piping limitations from the claims and with the finding of the new prior art references, the new rejections have been made and therefore, the arguments are now moot.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.

AMENDMENT AND RESPONSE TO JULY 21, 2015 OFFICE ACTION

This is a response to the Office Action issued on July 21, 2015 by the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office in connection with the above-identified application. A response to the July 21, 2015 Office Action is due October 21, 2015. Accordingly, this response is being timely filed.

Amendments to the Claims:

This listing of claims will replace all prior versions, and listings, of claims in the application:

1. (Currently Amended) A bra pocket system comprising:

a strap assembly including a chest strap and shoulder straps; left and right cups, each cup having inside and outside surfaces, the strap assembly being attached to the cups whereby the strap assembly adheres the cups to a wearer, each cup having curved upper, lower, interior and exterior edges, ~~each cup having inside and outside surfaces;~~

a patch forming a pocket operatively associated with each cup, each patch having a linear upper edge and curved lower, interior body facing and opposite exterior edges, each patch having inside and outside surfaces; stitching coupling the lower, interior body facing and opposite exterior edges of each patch to the lower, interior body facing and opposite exterior edges of an associated cup; a linear opening formed along the upper edge of each patch; and

2. (Original) The system as set forth in claim 1 wherein the cups and the patches form pockets, the cups being fabricated of a resilient closed cell polyurethane foam with a thickness of from 2 to 4 millimeters.

3. (Original) The system as set forth in claim 1 wherein the cups and the patches form pockets, the patches being fabricated of an elastic fabric.

4. (Canceled).

5. (Previously Presented) The system as set forth in claim 1 and further including an under-wire coupled beneath each cup in a generally horizontal plane.

6. (Original) The system as set forth in claim 1 and further including a side patch on each side of the chest strap, the side patches having horizontal upper and lower edges and vertical side edges, the upper and lower edges of each patch being longer than the side edges, the side patches including stitching along the lower and side edges thus forming an upper opening at each side patch.

7. (Currently Amended) A bra pocket system of a bra for providing support and shape to the breasts of a wearer and a pocket system thereon_, in combination:

a strap assembly ~~(214)~~ including a chest strap ~~(216)~~ and shoulder straps ~~(218)~~;

left and right cups ~~(222), (224)~~, each cup having inside and outside surfaces, the strap assembly being attached to the cups whereby the strap assembly adheres the cups to a wearer, each cup having curved upper ~~(226)~~, lower ~~(228)~~, interior body facing ~~(230)~~ and opposite exterior edges ~~(232)~~, ~~each cup having inside and outside surfaces;~~

a patch ~~(236)~~ attached to each cup, a pocket ~~(260)~~ formed between each patch and an associated cup, each patch having a linear upper edge ~~(238)~~ and curved lower ~~(240)~~, interior body facing ~~(242)~~ and opposite exterior edges ~~(248)~~, each patch having inside and outside surfaces;

stitching ~~(250)~~ coupling the lower, interior body facing and opposite exterior edges of each patch to the lower, interior and exterior edges of an associated cup;

a linear opening ~~(252)~~ is formed along the upper edge of each patch; and

wherein each pocket of the left and right pockets are configured to removably receive at least one of a handheld electronic device, keys, and pills, through the linear opening;

~~an under wire (264) coupled beneath each cup in a generally horizontal plane;~~ and

a side patch ~~(268)~~ on each side of the chest strap, forming a pocket, the side patches having horizontal upper ~~(270)~~ and lower edges ~~(272)~~—and vertical side edges ~~(274)~~, the upper and lower edges of each patch being longer than the side edges, the side patches including side stitching ~~(276)~~ along the lower and side edges thus forming an upper opening ~~(278)~~—at each side patch.

8. (Original) The system as set forth in claim 7 wherein the cups are fabricated of a resilient closed cell polyurethane foam with a thickness of from 2 to 4 millimeters.

9. (Original) The system as set forth in claim 7 wherein the patches are fabricated of an elastic fabric.

10. (Previously Presented) The system as set forth in claim 1 further comprising a stretchable piping covering the upper edge of each patch, the piping being adapted to allow the patch to move away from and back toward the cup between open and closed orientations.

Remarks

Applicant thanks the Office for the attention accorded to the present application in the July 21, 2015 Office Action. Claims 1-3 and 5-9 were pending in the subject application.

Without prejudice or disclaimer, claims 1 and 7 have been amended. Upon entry of this amendment, claims 1-3 and 5-10 will be pending in the present application.

The amendments to the claims are primarily to correct matters of form and/or clarity in response to the Office's recommendation. Applicant asserts that all claims are supported in the specification as originally filed. No new matter has been added. Regarding the pocket receiving keys, this is taught in the original specification at page 10, last paragraph. Regarding the pocket receiving pills, this is taught in the original specification at page 11, first paragraph.

The claim amendments and cancellations made herein are made solely to expedite prosecution of the instant application, and should not be construed as acquiescence to the Office's rejections. Applicant reserves the right to pursue the cancelled and/or non-elected subject matter in one or more divisional or continuation applications.

Applicant respectfully traverses all rejections and asserts that the claims are now in condition for allowance.

Rejection based 35 U.S.C. §112, Second Paragraph

In the present Office Action, the Examiner rejected claims 1, 3, 5 and 9 under 35 U.S.C. §112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which Applicant regards as the invention. In response, Applicant has herein amended claims 1 and 7 to remove redundant language and to clarify the inventions contemplated therein. As such, Applicant respectfully asserts that the 35 U.S.C. 112 rejections are now moot, and Applicant respectfully requests that the Examiner remove the rejection.

Rejection based 35 U.S.C. 102(a)(1)

In the present Office Action, the Examiner rejected claims 1, 3, 5 and 9 under 35 U.S.C. 102(a)(1) as being anticipated by Newman (US 2005/0037687).

Without prejudice or disclaimer, Applicant has amended independent claim 1 to clarify structure within the pocket. Applicant respectfully asserts that these elements are not present in Newman.

As such, Applicant respectfully asserts that the 35 U.S.C. 102(a)(1) rejection based on Newman is overcome, and respectfully requests that the Examiner remove this rejection.

Rejections under 35 U.S.C. § 103(a)

The Examiner has rejected claim 2 under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Newman (US 2005/0037687) in view of Liu (US 2010/0124869).

As noted above, without prejudice or disclaimer, Applicant has amended claim 1, from which claim 2 depends, as discussed above. The addition of Liu does not teach the elements of claim 1 or 2 that are missing from Newman. Therefore, the combination of references does not establish a prima facie case of obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Thus, Applicant respectfully asserts that claim 2 is now patentably distinguished from Newman in view of Liu. Applicant further asserts that these claims are now in condition for allowance.

The Examiner has rejected claims 6 and 7 under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Newman (US 2005/0037687) in view of Sherwood (US 4699144).

Without prejudice or disclaimer, Applicant has amended claim 1, from which claim 6 depends, and claim 7 as discussed above. The addition of Sherwood does not teach the elements within or storable within the pocket required by claims 1 and 7 that are missing from Newman. Therefore, the combination of references does not establish a prima facie case of obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Thus, Applicant respectfully asserts that claims 6 and 7 are now patentably distinguished from Newman in view of Sherwood. Applicant further asserts that these claims are now in condition for allowance.

The Examiner has rejected claim 8 under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Newman (US 2005/0037687), in view of Sherwood (US 4699144) and in view of Liu (US 2010/0124869).

Without prejudice or disclaimer, Applicant has amended claim 7, from which claim 8 depends, as discussed above. The addition of Liu and Sherwood does not teach the elements of claim 7 that are missing from Newman. Therefore, the combination of references does not establish a prima facie case of obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Thus, Applicant respectfully asserts that claim 8 is now patentably distinguished from Newman and Sherwood in view of Liu. Applicant further asserts that these claims are now in condition for allowance.

The Examiner has rejected claim 10 under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Newman (US 2005/0037687) in view of MacLaren (US 7585200).

Without prejudice or disclaimer, Applicant has amended claim 1, from which claim 10 depends, as discussed above. The addition of MacLaren does not teach the elements of claim 1 that are missing from Newman. Therefore, the combination of references does not establish a prima facie case of obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Thus, Applicant respectfully asserts that claim 10 is now patentably distinguished from Newman in view of MacLaren. Applicant further asserts that these claims are now in condition for allowance.

Conclusion

Applicant again thanks the Office for the attention accorded to the present Application in the July 21, 2015 office action. Applicant has herein amended claims 1 and 7. Applicant asserts that based on the amendments and comments presented herein, all of the pending claims are in condition for allowance. Early and favorable action is respectfully requested.

The Examiner is invited to telephone the undersigned, Applicant's attorney of record, to facilitate advancement of the present application.

Respectfully submitted,

/David J. Connaughton, Jr./

DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103 which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

A patent for a claimed invention may not be obtained, notwithstanding that the claimed invention is not identically disclosed as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the claimed invention and the prior art are such that the claimed invention as a whole would have been obvious before the effective filing date of the claimed invention to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which the claimed invention pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1, 3, 5, and 9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103 as being unpatentable over Newman (US 2005/0037687) in view of Pintor et al (US 2009/0104845).

Newman discloses a bra pocket assembly 20, 26, 18, 24 with a chest strap 18,24, shoulder straps 20,26; left and right cups 16, 22, each with inside and outside surfaces not numbered as seen in figures 1 and 4 and wherein the straps function as claimed. The cups 16, 22 each have a curved upper, lower, interior and exterior edges- not numbered as seen in figures 1 and 4.

Newman also discloses a patch layer 46 adhered with stitching in figure 4. (See Newman, para, (0016), (0017) and (0020). The cup outer layer 48 is formed of elastic material (0020) and in para. (0017) disclose the bra as being of any connected material and for an aesthetic appeal to the bra. The bra is constructed of the same material as the cups and would be elastic fabric as in the cups. Newman discloses the cups as including underwires as stated in para. (0017).

However, Newman does not disclose the pocket as holding the claimed items therein.

Art Unit: 3765

Pintor et al discloses a brassiere with a pocket that holds the claimed items therein as desired by the user in order to store those items on the body of the wearer when wearing the brassiere.

Accordingly, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art to store any item they desired in the brassiere pocket such as those claimed and as disclosed in Pinto et al. (See Pintor et al, para. (0008)).

Claim 2 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103 as being unpatentable over Newman in view of Liu (US 2010/0124869) and Pintor et al (US 2009/0104845).

Newman discloses the bra structured as claimed except for the bra as being fabricated of a polyurethane foam material as claimed. Liu discloses the use of a polyurethane foam material as claimed to provide the padding to the cups to imitate that of a natural breast when worn. Accordingly, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the bra of Newman with the teaching Of Liu to include polyurethane foam layers therein in order to provide the natural look and density of the breasts when the bra is worn. (See Liu, para. (0156)).

Finding the claimed thickness would have been found through routine experimentation since it has been known to find a desired material parameter through routine experimentation to obtain the optimum benefits of that material for the desired end use. Finding the claimed parameters through routine experimentation would be found easily since that parameter would provide the optimum level of comfort to the wearer in use.

Art Unit: 3765

Additionally, Newman and Liu do not disclose the placement of the claimed items within the brassiere pocket.

Pintor et al discloses a brassiere with a pocket that holds the claimed items therein as desired by the user in order to store those items on the body of the wearer when wearing the brassiere.

Accordingly, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art to store any item they desired in the brassiere pocket of Newman and Liu such as those claimed and as disclosed in Pintor et al. (See Pintor et al, para. (0008)).

Claims 6 and 7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103 as being unpatentable over Newman in view of Sherwood (US 4699144) and Pintor et al (US 2009/104845). .

Newman discloses the bra structure substantially as claimed except for the back strap and side pockets as claimed. Sherwood discloses a bra with the back band/side band side pockets of 62 in figures 1 and 2. (See Sherwood, figures 1 and 2 and col. 5, line 53- col. 6, line 19). .

Accordingly, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to include side pockets in the back/side panels as claimed in order to provide a location to store any item desired within the pockets as well as to include side panel padding if one also desires.

Newman also discloses the underwire as previously discussed above and with the stitching to couple the lower edges as claimed and as discussed above in para.

Art Unit: 3765

(0020). However, Newman and Liu do not disclose the pocket as holding the items as claimed.

Pintor et al discloses a brassiere with a pocket that holds the claimed items therein as desired by the user in order to store those items on the body of the wearer when wearing the brassiere.

Accordingly, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art to store any item they desired in the brassiere pocket of Newman and Liu such as those claimed and as disclosed in Pintor et al. (See Pintor et al, para. (0008)).

Claim 8 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103 as being unpatentable over Newman in view of Sherwood . Liu and Pintor et al.

Newman discloses the invention substantially as claimed except for the material of the bra including the polyurethane foam material and the inclusion of the side and back panel side pockets as claimed as well as the items as claimed for placement in the pocket as desired.

Liu discloses the polyurethane material of the brassiere as previously discussed above in regard to claim 2 and Sherwood discloses back/side panel side pockets as in claims 6 and 7 above. Pintor et al discloses a brassiere with a pocket that holds the claimed items therein as desired by the user in order to store those items on the body of the wearer when wearing the brassiere

Accordingly, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the brassiere of Newman with the teachings of Liu and Sherwood to include the polyurethane foam material in the bra for the same reasons as discussed above in regard to claim 2 and to also include the pockets as claimed and as discussed above in regard to claims 6 and 7 above. It also would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art to store any item they desired in the brassiere pocket of Newman and Liu such as those claimed and as disclosed in Pintor et al. (See Pintor et al, para. (0008)).

Claim 10 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103 as being unpatentable over Newman in view of Mac Laren (US 7585200) and Pintor et al (US 2009/0104845).

Newman discloses the brassiere structure substantially as claimed except for the pocket including a stretchable piping along the pocket edge or including the items as claimed as being within the pockets. MacLaren discloses the pocket inner layer attached to a pocket outer layer and piping/ binding around the layers and on the upper edge of the inner pocket layer as claimed. See Figure 3 and piping/edging at 220 and not numbered along the pocket upper edge in Mac Laren. (See MacLaren, col. 2, lines 44-66. Accordingly the material used as the stretch material along the edges is a tricot knitted and single or double knitted materials all of which are stretchable. Therefore the entire structure is of a stretch material and the stretch material of the piping and binding would also stretch with the remainder of the brassiere in use to provide comfort to the wearer in use.

. Pintor et al discloses a brassiere with a pocket that holds the claimed items therein as desired by the user in order to store those items on the body of the wearer when wearing the brassiere.

Accordingly, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art to store any item they desired in the brassiere pocket of Newman and McLaren such as those claimed and as disclosed in Pintor et al. (See Pintor et al, para. (0008)).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 112(b):

(b) CONCLUSION.—The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the inventor or a joint inventor regards as the invention.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 112 (pre-AIA), second paragraph:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1-3 and 5-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112(b) or 35 U.S.C. 112 (pre-AIA), second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which the inventor or a joint inventor, or for pre-AIA the applicant regards as the invention.

In claims 1 and 7 as now amended it is not clear as to whether applicant is claiming the brassiere with the pocket as a system alone or if they are attempting to claim it in combination with the items to be placed in the pocket. It is not clear if it is just an intended use of the pocket or if applicant is now attempting to claim the actual items therein as a combination claim. If it is now a combination claim the preamble should be amended to state that the brassiere system is in combination with the items held in the pocket. If not, then the placement of the items is just an intended use.

However, the claims as best understood have been examined on their merits.

Also whether or not they are claimed alone or in combination the placement of such items in one's pocket is just an intended use and is obvious.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-3 and 5-9 have been considered but are moot because the arguments do not apply to any of the references being used in the current rejection.

Art Unit: 3765

The placement of any items desired within the pocket is only intended use of the pocket and is not allowable subject matter.

1. (Currently Amended) A bra pocket system combination comprising:

a strap assembly including a chest strap and shoulder straps; left and right cups, each cup having inside and outside surfaces, the strap assembly being attached to the cups whereby the strap assembly adheres the cups to a wearer, each cup having curved upper, lower, interior body facing and opposite exterior edges;

a patch forming a pocket operatively associated with each cup, each patch having a linear upper edge and curved lower, interior body facing, and opposite exterior edges, each patch having inside and outside surfaces; stitching coupling the lower, interior body facing and opposite exterior edges of each patch to the lower, interior body facing, and opposite exterior edges of an associated cup; a linear opening formed along the upper edge of each patch; [[and]]

at least one of a handheld electronic device, keys, and pills removably positioned within the pocket of at least one of the left and right cups; and

wherein each patch curved lower interior body facing and opposite exterior edges are aligned with each curved lower interior body facing and opposite exterior edges, and wherein the stitching is along the curved lower interior body facing and opposite exterior edges of the patch, the linear upper edge of each patch crossing over a surface of the cup to form the linear opening.

2. (Original) The system as set forth in claim 1 wherein the cups and the patches form pockets, the cups being fabricated of a resilient closed cell polyurethane foam with a thickness of from 2 to 4 millimeters.

3. (Original) The system as set forth in claim 1 wherein the cups and the patches form pockets, the patches being fabricated of an elastic fabric.

4. (Canceled).

5. (Previously Presented) The system as set forth in claim 1 and further including an under-wire coupled beneath each cup in a generally horizontal plane.

6. (Original) The system as set forth in claim 1 and further including a side patch on each side of the chest strap, the side patches having horizontal upper and lower edges and vertical side edges, the upper and lower edges of each patch being longer than the side edges, the side patches including stitching along the lower and side edges thus forming an upper opening at each side patch.

7. (Currently Amended) A bra pocket system combination of a bra for providing support and shape to the breasts of a wearer and a pocket system thereon, in combination:

a strap assembly including a chest strap and shoulder straps;

left and right cups, each cup having inside and outside surfaces, the strap assembly being attached to the cups whereby the strap assembly adheres the cups to a wearer, each cup having curved upper, lower, interior body facing and opposite exterior edges;

a patch attached to each cup, a pocket formed between each patch and an associated cup, each patch having a linear upper edge and curved lower, interior body facing ~~(242)~~ and opposite exterior edges, each patch having inside and outside surfaces;

stitching coupling the lower, interior body facing and opposite exterior edges of each patch to the lower, interior and exterior edges of an associated cup;

a linear opening is formed along the upper edge of each patch; ~~and~~

wherein each pocket of the left and right pockets are configured to removably receive at least one of a handheld electronic device, keys, and pills, through the linear opening;

wherein each patch curved lower interior body facing and opposite exterior edges are aligned with each curved lower interior body facing and opposite exterior edges, and wherein the stitching is along the curved lower interior body facing and opposite exterior edges of the patch, the linear upper edge of each patch crossing over a surface of the cup to form the linear opening; and

a side patch on each side of the chest strap, forming a pocket, the side patches having horizontal upper and lower edges and vertical side edge, the upper and lower edges of each patch being longer than the side edges, the side patches including side stitching along the lower and side edges thus forming an upper opening at each side patch, the upper opening capable of repeated receiving and removal of an item.

17. (New) The system as set forth in claim 7 further comprising a closure over the linear opening.

18. (New) The system as set forth in claim 17 wherein the closure is an elastic band on the linear end.

Remarks

Applicant thanks the Office for the attention accorded to the present application in the October 2, 2015 Office Action. Claims 1-3 and 5-10 were pending in the subject application.

Without prejudice or disclaimer, claims 1 and 7 have been amended and new claims 11-18 have been added. Upon entry of this amendment, claims 1-3 and 5-18 will be pending in the present application.

The amendments to the claims are primarily to correct matters of form and/or clarity in response to the Office's recommendation. Applicant asserts that all claims are supported in the specification as originally filed. No new matter has been added. Regarding the pocket receiving keys, this is taught in the original specification at page 10, last paragraph. Regarding the pocket receiving pills, this is taught in the original specification at page 11, first paragraph.

The claim amendments and cancellations made herein are made solely to expedite prosecution of the instant application, and should not be construed as acquiescence to the Office's rejections. Applicant reserves the right to pursue the cancelled and/or non-elected subject matter in one or more divisional or continuation applications.

Applicant respectfully traverses all rejections and asserts that the claims are now in condition for allowance.

Rejections under 35 U.S.C. § 103(a)

The Examiner has rejected claims 1, 3, 5, and 9 under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Newman (US 2005/0037687) in view of Pintor et al (US 2009/0104845).

Initially, Applicant asserts that it would not be obvious to modify Newman based on Pintor. Newman specifically requires that its pockets be fitted for a padding for the bra. Accordingly, the pockets of Newman are specifically sized and formed to only accept a bra padding. In contrast, the claimed structures that the pocket of claim 1 is sized to receive are not a bra pad, and would not fit in the pocket of Pintor. For example, a handheld electronic device would not fit in a bra pad area, because it would slide about and potentially fall out of the pocket. Indeed, Newman's focus is singular and its pocket is specifically sized for the bra pad only. It would not be obvious to modify Newman to operate as noted in Pintor. Newman would not operate as intended based on the proposed combination, and the proposed combination would not be obvious to one having skill in the art because of the differing fields of operations between the padded bra and storage pocket. Therefore, Applicant asserts that because the combination of references is not obvious to one having skill in the art, that claim 1, and the rest of the claims in the present application are patentable over Newman and Pintor.

Without prejudice or disclaimer, Applicant has amended claim 1, from which claims 3 and 5 depend, and claim 7 from which claims 9 depends, as discussed above. The addition of Pintor does not teach the elements within or storable within the pocket required by claims 1 and 7 that are missing from Newman. Therefore, the combination of references does not establish a prima facie case of obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Thus, Applicant respectfully asserts that claims 1, 3, 5, and 9 are now patentably distinguished from Newman in view of Pintor. Applicant further asserts that these claims are now in condition for allowance.

The Examiner has rejected claim 2 under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Newman (US 2005/0037687) in view of Liu (US 2010/0124869).

As noted above, without prejudice or disclaimer, Applicant has amended claim 1, from which claim 2 depends, as discussed above. As noted above, it would not be obvious to combine Newman and Pintor. Even if it were obvious, claim 1 are now patentably distinguished from the cited art. The addition of Liu does not teach the elements of claim 1 or 2 that are missing from Newman. Therefore, the combination of references does not establish a prima facie case of obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Thus, Applicant respectfully asserts that claim 2 is now patentably distinguished from Newman in view of Liu. Applicant further asserts that these claims are now in condition for allowance.

The Examiner has rejected claims 6 and 7 under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Newman, in view of Sherwood (US 4699144) in view of Pintor et al (US 2009/0104845).

Without prejudice or disclaimer, Applicant has amended claim 1, from which claim 6 depends, and claim 7. As noted above, it would not be obvious to combine Newman and Pintor. Even if it were obvious, claims 1 and 7 are now patentably distinguished from the cited art. The addition of Sherman does not teach the elements within or storable within the pocket required by claims 1, 6 and 7 that are missing from Newman and Pintor. Therefore, the combination of references does not establish a prima facie case of obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Further still, Applicant respectfully asserts that Sherwood does not teach a side pocket as claimed in claims 6 and 7. Instead, Sherwood teaches a mastectomy bra, which can be custom made with padding in a side band of the bra to compensate for any removed tissue on a side of a torso, providing a continuous contour about the wearer's torso. This is discussed in Sherwood at Col. 5 line 53- Col. 6 line 19. Specifically, Sherwood states that its pocket must be closed permanently once the bra is custom fitted. This permanent closure is explained at Col. 6 lines 5-6: "Thereafter, the entrance 60 may be stitched or otherwise secured closed to enclose the material therein" (emphasis added). Therefore, Sherwood does not teach a pocket capable of repeatedly being used to hold items, but instead merely teaches a region in which padding can be placed and then permanently secured. As such, Applicant respectfully asserts that Sherwood does not teach the side pocket of claims 6 and 7, and therefore that the combination of references does not establish a prima facie case of obviousness under 35 U.S.C 103.

Thus, Applicant respectfully asserts that claims 6 and 7 are now patentably distinguished from Newman and Sherwood in view of Pintor. Applicant further asserts that these claims are now in condition for allowance.

The Examiner has rejected claim 8 under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Newman (US 2005/0037687), in view of Sherwood (US 4699144), Liu (US 2010/0124869) and Pintor et al. (US 2009/0104845).

Without prejudice or disclaimer, Applicant has amended claim 7, from which claim 8 depends, as discussed above. As noted above, it would not be obvious to combine Newman and Pintor. Even if it were obvious, claims 1 and 7 are now patentably distinguished from the cited art. The addition of Liu, Sherwood and Pintor does not teach the elements of claim 7 that are missing from Newman. Therefore, the combination of references does not establish a prima facie case of obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Thus, Applicant respectfully asserts that claim 8 is now patentably distinguished from Newman in view of Sherwood, Liu and Pintor. Applicant further asserts that these claims are now in condition for allowance.

The Examiner has rejected claim 10 under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Newman (US 2005/0037687) in view of MacLaren (US 7585200) and Pintor et al (US 2009/0104845).

Without prejudice or disclaimer, Applicant has amended claim 1, from which claim 10 depends, as discussed above. As noted above, it would not be obvious to combine Newman and Pintor. Even if it were obvious, claims 1 and 7 are now patentably distinguished from the cited art. The addition of MacLaren and Pintor does not teach the elements of claim 7 that are missing from Newman. Therefore, the combination of references does not establish a prima facie case of obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Thus, Applicant respectfully asserts that claim 10 is now patentably distinguished from Newman in view of MacLaren and Pintor. Applicant further asserts that these claims are now in condition for allowance.

Rejection based 35 U.S.C. §112, Second Paragraph

In the present Office Action, the Examiner rejected claims 1-3 and 5-10 under 35 U.S.C. §112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which Applicant regards as the invention. In response, Applicant has herein amended claims 1 and 7 to remove redundant language and to clarify the inventions contemplated therein. As such, Applicant respectfully asserts that the 35 U.S.C. 112 rejections are now moot, and Applicant respectfully requests that the Examiner remove the rejection.

Conclusion

Applicant again thanks the Office for the attention accorded to the present Application in the October 2, 2015 office action. Applicant has herein amended claims 1 and 7 and added new claims 11-18. Applicant asserts that based on the amendments and comments presented herein, all of the pending claims are in condition for allowance. Early and favorable action is respectfully requested.

The Examiner is invited to telephone the undersigned, Applicant's attorney of record, to facilitate advancement of the present application.

Respectfully submitted,

Determination of Patent Term Adjustment under 35 U.S.C. 154 (b)

(Applications filed on or after May 29, 2000)

The Office has discontinued providing a Patent Term Adjustment (PTA) calculation with the Notice of Allowance.

Section 1(h)(2) of the AIA Technical Corrections Act amended 35 U.S.C. 154(b)(3)(B)(i) to eliminate the requirement that the Office provide a patent term adjustment determination with the notice of allowance. See Revisions to Patent Term Adjustment, 78 Fed. Reg. 19416, 19417 (Apr. 1, 2013). Therefore, the Office is no longer providing an initial patent term adjustment determination with the notice of allowance. The Office will continue to provide a patent term adjustment determination with the Issue Notification Letter that is mailed to applicant approximately three weeks prior to the issue date of the patent, and will include the patent term adjustment on the patent. Any request for reconsideration of the patent term adjustment determination (or reinstatement of patent term adjustment) should follow the process outlined in 37 CFR 1.705.

Any questions regarding the Patent Term Extension or Adjustment determination should be directed to the Office of Patent Legal Administration at (571)-272-7702. Questions relating to issue and publication fee payments should be directed to the Customer Service Center of the Office of Patent Publication at 1-(888)-786-0101 or (571)-272-4200.

OMB Clearance and PRA Burden Statement for PTOL-85 Part B

The Paperwork Reduction Act (PRA) of 1995 requires Federal agencies to obtain Office of Management and Budget approval before requesting most types of information from the public. When OMB approves an agency request to collect information from the public, OMB (i) provides a valid OMB Control Number and expiration date for the agency to display on the instrument that will be used to collect the information and (ii) requires the agency to inform the public about the OMB Control Number's legal significance in accordance with 5 CFR 1320.5(b).

The information collected by PTOL-85 Part B is required by 37 CFR 1.311. The information is required to obtain or retain a benefit by the public which is to file (and by the USPTO to process) an application. Confidentiality is governed by 35 U.S.C. 122 and 37 CFR 1.14. This collection is estimated to take 12 minutes to complete, including gathering, preparing, and submitting the completed application form to the USPTO. Time will vary depending upon the individual case. Any comments on the amount of time you require to complete this form and/or suggestions for reducing this burden, should be sent to the Chief Information Officer, U.S. Patent and Trademark Office, U.S. Department of Commerce, P.O. Box 1450, Alexandria, Virginia 22313-1450. DO NOT SEND FEES OR COMPLETED FORMS TO THIS ADDRESS. SEND TO: Commissioner for Patents, P.O. Box 1450, Alexandria, Virginia 22313-1450. Under the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1995, no persons are required to respond to a collection of information unless it displays a valid OMB control number.

This is in response to the power of attorney filed 05/05/2020. The power of attorney in this application is not accepted for the reason(s) listed below:

The power of attorney filed 05/05/2020 has not been accepted because the power of attorney must be signed by the applicant for patent. See 37 CFR 1.32(b)(4).

- The person or entity attempting the change to power of attorney is not the applicant of record in the application. Any request to change the applicant once the applicant has been specified must include (1) an application data sheet (ADS) specifying the new applicant in the Applicant Information section, and (2) a statement under 37 CFR 3.73(c) (USPTO Form PTO/AIA/96 or an equivalent) to show chain of title to the new applicant. The ADS must contain markings to show the information that is being changed, with underlining for insertions and strike-through or brackets for text removed. See 37 CFR 1.76(c)(2).

Because the request to change or update the applicant cannot be accepted, the power of attorney is not properly signed by the applicant and cannot be accepted. The change to applicant must be acceptable before the new applicant can appoint power of attorney.
