15	15 MR. DITTMANN: TWO.
16	16 MR. O'MALLEY: Correct.
17	17 THE COURT: Okay. Mr. Lombardi, when would you like
18	18 to take this up?
19	19 MR. LOMBARDI: Your Honor, I will defer to DRL who's
20	20 going to be arguing this matter.
	21 MR. SENDER: Your Honor, it really doesn't matter
21
22	22 because these are not experts that we are using, and it can be
23	23 deferred to the end, as far as we're concerned.
24	24 THE COURT: We have hours of depositions today and
25	25 then the defendants rest.

I was not, of course, involved in the details of the clinical trials.</li> <li>Q. okay.</li> <li>A. These were the clinical people, of course.</li> <li>Q. while working on the palonosetron project, were you involved with the details of the formulation development?</li> <li>A. No, I was not.</li> <li>Q. Now, you talked about your role was to search for a licensing partner. Was that search directed to a particular geographic area?</li> <li>A. Yes. There was a priority set up by our management, at that time Riccardo Braglia. He wanted us to start immediately with searching for a partner in the United States.</li> <li>The reason for that is that United States was a market we were not present at. It was and it is the most important pharmaceutical market, so it was very important for us to go there. And, basically, I think it was a kind of being the</li> </ul>
