Standing Order During the Present COVID-19	1

Pursuant to the Court's Standing Order Regarding Pretrial Procedures in Civil Cases
Assigned to Chief District Judge Rodney Gilstrap During the Present COVID-19 Pandemic
("Standing Order During the Present COVID-19 Pandemic"), Defendant Supercell Oy ("Supercell") respectfully moves for a continuance of the case deadlines in view of the extraordinary impact caused by the COVID-19 virus on the Parties.¹

The parties have continued to move the cases forward as much as possible during the COVID-19 pandemic. In particular, since travel restrictions and shelter-in-place orders have been put in place, Supercell has already made five of its witnesses, all of whom are based in Finland, available to be deposed by video. Supercell is also making two additional witnesses available to be deposed between April 22 and April 24, 2020.

However, while Supercell has continued to make its witnesses available, it has been unable to obtain reciprocal discovery from GREE, due in large part to governmental and public health restrictions imposed throughout the United States and in Japan in response to the COVID-19 pandemic. Specifically, those restrictions have prevented Supercell from conducting depositions of GREE's witnesses in Japan, and the parties have been unable to find an alternative solution for Supercell to obtain the needed deposition testimony. Moreover, the governmental and public health restrictions have prevented Supercell from reviewing critical source code, including both third party source code for prior art products, and GREE's source code that pertains to products that GREE only recently (after the COVID-19 related restrictions were put in place) informed Supercell allegedly practice the patents-in-suit and may constitute invalidating prior art.

¹ Pursuant to the Court's Standing Order, Supercell requested that GREE agree to a joint motion for extension. However, GREE rejected Supercell's request.

Supercell thus respectfully moves for a 45- to 60-day continuance of the remaining case deadlines, including the pretrial and trial dates, in order to conduct depositions and review GREE and third-party source code, then incorporate information into its expert reports. The requested extension would extend discovery through the end of June 2020, allowing time for the governmental restrictions, particularly those in Japan that are preventing Supercell's depositions of GREE's witnesses in Japan from going forward, to be lifted. During this time, Supercell will also continue to make its witnesses available for deposition by video, and will review GREE's source code once GREE makes it available for remote access.
