

APPENDIX A – LIST OF AMICI

Alianza Americas is a network of Latin American and Caribbean immigrant organizations in the United States. It is the only national organization in the U.S. that is rooted in Latino immigrant communities and works both domestically and transnationally to create an inclusive, equitable and sustainable way of life. It combines its deep community roots and transnational experience with its advocacy policy work to protect the dignity and promote the well-being of all people across the Americas.

Alianza Americas also represents a critical voice on issues that impact the lives of immigrants and all families throughout the Americas. Its 45 organizational members represent more than 100,000 families across 12 states. It works with civil society partners, government agencies, and communities of faith and organized labor to shape and influence public policies that promote social, political, and economic justice across the Americas.

Brazilian Worker Center is a Massachusetts organization that supports workplace rights and immigration through organizing, advocacy, education, and leadership.

Central American Resource Center (CARECEN) of Washington, D.C. is an immigrant advocacy organization in Washington, D.C. Many of its clients are DACA recipients.

Centro Presente is a Latin American immigrant organization dedicated to the self-determination and self-reliance of the Latin American community in Massachusetts. Centro Presente advocates for immigrant rights and economic and social justice.

Club Taji Ciudad Hidalgo is an Illinois immigrant advocacy organization that builds bridges between Latin American youth, their families and the community, including DACA recipients, through education, culture and civic engagement.

Colectivo de Mujeres Transnacionales engages in advocacy on behalf of women immigrants and their families in Illinois, many of whom are DACA recipients.

CRECEN is a community-based organization in Houston, Texas that advocates for the rights of, and economic and social justice for, immigrants.

Florida Immigrant Coalition engages in advocacy on behalf of immigrant populations in Florida.

Lake County Immigrant Advocacy advocates on behalf of young immigrants and their families, including DACA recipients, in Lake County, Illinois.

St. Brigid's Roman Catholic Church, Casa Mary Johanna has served immigrant populations in New York for more than 150 years including, most recently, undocumented immigrants and DACA recipients.

3a

Women Working Together USA is a Florida organization that advocates on behalf of immigrants. Many of its members and their children are DACA recipients.
