Applicant’s Response to Office Action
Trademark Act Section 2(e)(1) - 15 U.S.C. § 1052(e)(1)

Applicant (Serial No. 87589356) responds to the February 3, 2019 Office Action refusing registration under Trademark Act Section 2(e)(1) on the grounds that Applicant’s mark, when used on or in connection with the goods of the Applicant is merely descriptive of them. Applicant disagrees with this conclusion and in further support of its original Application, respectfully submits the following response, requesting that the Examining Attorney reconsider the refusal of the Application.

I. Applicant’s Mark

Applicant seeks protection for the standard character mark containing the literal elements COMPRESSION FORGED

This Application fits into International Class 012 for “Land vehicle parts, namely, wheels.”

II. Petition to Revive Applicant’s Abandoned Application Due to an Unintentional Delay in responding to Examining Attorney’s Office Action.

Pursuant to 37 C.F.R. § 2.66, Applicant requests that the Office revive the 87589356 Application after it issued a notice of Abandonment on September 3, 2019. The delay in filing the response before the filing was due was unintentional. The necessary fee along with a response to Examining Attorney’s Office Action is attached.

III. Explanation of the Test for Determining Whether a Mark is Merely Descriptive

A mark is not registrable on the Principal Register if it consists of a mark that is “merely descriptive” of the identified goods or services. 15 U.S.C. § 1052(e)(1). Pertinently, “the word ‘merely’ . . . means that if the mark clearly does not tell the potential customer only what the goods are, their function, characteristics, use, or ingredients, then the mark is not ‘merely descriptive.’”¹ A mark is merely descriptive of goods or services “if it immediately describes an ingredient, quality, characteristic or feature thereof or if it directly conveys information regarding the nature, function, purpose or use of the goods or services.”² Moreover, the mark must convey this information with a “degree of particularity.”³ The modifiers “immediately” and “directly” characterize any finding of a merely descriptive mark.

The mark must be considered in its entirety.⁴ “Descriptiveness of a mark is not considered in the abstract. Rather, it is considered in relation to the particular goods for which registration is sought, the context in which it is being used, and the possible significance that the term would have to the average purchaser of the goods because of the manner of its use or intended use.”⁵ A determination that a mark is merely descriptive must be based on substantial evidence. Id. Any doubt as to a mark being “merely descriptive” must be resolved in Applicant’s favor.⁶

IV. Examining Attorney Has Not Made a Prima Facie Showing that Applicant’s Mark is Merely Descriptive.

“The burden is on the USPTO to make a prima facie showing that the mark” is merely descriptive.⁷ If doubt exists or inadequate evidence is submitted to sustain a merely descriptive refusal, the Board is comfortable in the “knowledge that a competitor of applicant can come forth and initiate an opposition proceeding in which a more complete record can be established.”⁸

A. Applicant’s Mark Does Not Convey the Meaning Asserted by Examining Attorney with Particularity.

In order to be merely descriptive, a mark must convey descriptive information with a “degree of particularity.”⁹ A mark is not rendered descriptive because “consumers could guess what the product [or service] is from consideration of the mark alone.”¹⁰ If consumers must employ a “multistage reasoning” process to understand a meaning of the mark, then “the mark does not describe the product’s features, but suggests them.”¹¹

Examining Attorney asserts that Applicant’s mark “refers to a means of manufacturing parts for cars, in this case wheels.” To support this assertion, Examining Attorney has attached numerous screenshots of websites which show online listings for wheels using the phrase “compression wheels.” Applicant offers wheels under the COMPRESSION FORGED mark by using the brands “Axe” “Axe Wheels” and “Axe Designs.” (See Exhibit A) Every listing in Examining Attorney’s attached evidence which includes the wording COMPRESSION FORGED is also accompanied by the brand AXE. The specimen Applicant submitted in its Statement of Use in March 31, 2018 shows Applicant’s AXE logo along with Applicant’s mark. (See Exhibit B) The evidence on record shows Applicant as the only entity using the mark COMPRESSION FORGED in connection with wheels and does not establish the mark as a common way to describe a method of manufacturing wheels. Therefore, Examining Attorney has not made a prima facie showing that Applicant’s mark is merely descriptive of its goods as all of the cited evidence is of Applicant’s own products.

V. Applicant’s Mark Should be Permitted to Register Because It is a Suggestive Mark

A mark that does not immediately or directly convey information about the goods or services is considered a suggestive mark, and is registrable on the Principal Register. “Thus, a suggestive term differs from a descriptive term, which immediately tells something about the goods or services.” TMEP § 1209.01(a). Unlike a descriptive mark, a mark “is suggestive if it requires imagination, thought, and perception to reach a conclusion as to the nature of the goods” or services.¹²

A. Suggestive marks may possess a descriptive connotation.

Significantly, registrable suggestive marks may even possess a “descriptive connotation” that conveys an impression of the goods. See The Coca-Cola Co. v. Seven-Up Co., 497 F.2d 1351, 1354, 182 USPQ 207, 209 (C.C.P.A. 1974) (“THE UNCOLA” for soft drinks is neither merely descriptive nor generic). In fact, “often the best trademarks are highly suggestive, and it is well settled that a valid trademark may be highly suggestive.” Minnesota Mining and Mfg. Co. v. Johnson and Johnson, 172 USPQ 491, 492 (C.C.P.A. 1972).

Applicant’s mark is at most suggestive of its goods. Applicant’s mark does not directly describe features or characteristics of its goods that would be immediately obvious to consumers. According to Applicant’s website, wheels under the COMPRESSION FORGED mark are made with a process that makes them lighter and stronger at the same time. (See Exhibit A) These features of Applicant’s goods would not be immediately apparent to consumers upon encountering the mark COMPRESSION FORGED. Rather, consumers would have to guess that Applicant’s wheels are made to be lighter and stronger as there is nothing that signals the features of Applicant’s goods from the mark. Therefore, Applicant’s mark is at most suggestive of its goods.

¹² Abercrombie & Fitch Co. v. Hunting World, Inc., 537 F.2d 4, 11, 189 USPQ 769 (2d Cir. 1976); See In re Mayer-Beaton Corp., 223 USPQ 1347, 1348 (TTAB 1984);

B. Applicant's Mark is not directly descriptive.

Compound definitions assembled by exhibiting the definitions of individual words are often inadequate to sustain a merely descriptive refusal. For instance in the case In re The Noble Co., the Board held NOBURST for liquid antifreeze and rust inhibitor for hot-water-heating systems suggests a desired result of using the product rather than immediately informing the purchasing public of a characteristic, feature, function, or attribute.¹³ Also in the case In re X-Calibur Construction Chemistry Inc., the Board found the Examining Attorney has not made a prima facie case on why CASTFLOOR is merely descriptive of “epoxy flooring.”¹⁴ The examining attorney in that case asserted that applicant's materials are "cast" or poured as a liquid, into a defined area, where they harden to create a "floor." The Board observed, however, that the presented definition of "cast" calls for "pouring molten material into a mold." Nothing in applicant's description of its goods refers to use of a mold. And the use of troweling to shape the floor appears to be inconsistent with a casting process. Thus, there was insufficient evidence to show that consumers would find the mark to be merely descriptive.

Applicant's case is similar to that of In re X-Calibur, as the combination of definitions of “compression” and “forged” are insufficient to find direct descriptiveness in the way “cast” and “floor” was insufficient. Additionally, the technique used to make the wheels is industry known as ‘Flow Forming.’ The term ‘Compression Forged’ was invented by Applicant and is solely used by Applicant as a source-indicator, as supported by the evidence attached by the Examining Attorney being instances of Applicant's goods.

VI. Conclusion

Applicant's mark is not merely descriptive of Applicant's business. For all the reasons set forth above, a descriptiveness refusal was inappropriate. Examining Attorney should approve Applicant's mark to proceed to publication in the Official Gazette.

Lastly, if the above arguments are rejected, Applicant argues acquired distinctiveness in the alternative. Based on Applicant's use of the mark, as supported by the Examining Attorney's citations to use in the marketplace and use in commerce since September 14, 2017, Applicant's mark if merely descriptive, should still be registrable on the Principal Register.

"Founded in 1990 in London England, with the vision to design and create some of the world's finest wheels"

Although Axe wheels started its journey in 1990 the expertise and visionary outlook began long before, dealing with such brands as AMG, BRABUS, HARTGE, TECHART & ALPINA to name a few gave us an unprecedented view into what was becoming the wheel industry as we know it today. With this philosophy it did not take long for Axe wheels to be one of the leading brands in Europe.

Although Axe wheels started its journey in 1990 the expertise and visionary outlook began long before, dealing with such brands as AMG, BRABUS, HARTGE, TECHART & ALPINA to name a few gave us an unprecedented view into what was becoming the wheel industry as we know it today. With this philosophy it did not take long for Axe wheels to be one of the leading brands in Europe.

With the obsession of being the best, many trips around the world took place and of course one of these trips lead us to the Sema show in Las Vegas. While in awe of all the varied designs and colours we understood it was not the time for Axe Wheels to be introduced into this market. years on and more visits to the USA we started to see an influx of European styled vehicles, and from this point on we knew now was the time to bring our style and quality to the American market. In 2012 Axe Wheels USA was launched and once again it did not take long for Axe Wheels to establish itself as the brand to watch. Over the past few years we have acknowledged certain markets and trends and have become the go-to wheel brand.

Through our friendships with our customers and continued listening to their needs we quickly learned Axe Wheels needed a 'Truck line'. However through research introducing a Truck line was going to be no easy task! We needed to be different and stand out as we always have, so over the past 2 years and many, many visits and conversations with our designers and factory we founded 'COMPRESSION FORGED' which we launched at the Sema show Las Vegas in 2017.

The response to 'COMPRESSION FORGED' has been overwhelming, not only did we design a stunning line up we once again showed the industry why we are the leaders, with the 'WORLDS FIRST' patented truck centre cap, to our super bright finish that requires NO hand polishing! With all this success we still 'LOVE' what we do and plan to continue pushing the boundaries in design and quality..

Keep watching!!!
Yours Sincerely
Axe Wheels

"Due to increasing demand from countries operating under a TÜV approval system, we took the necessary steps to achieve the TÜV Approval across our Manufacturing processes and Quality Management systems. TÜV is a European auditing and certification body that ensures wheels manufactured for sale in certain European Countries (primarily Germany, Switzerland and Austria) meet International Regulations (ECE), EC (European Community) directives, and German Motor Traffic Agency (KBA) road traffic legislation. This standard will be met across some of our Compression Forged designs and also Monoblock Cast alloy wheels.

Our aim is to always lead from the front in regard to design, quality and innovation, this ethos will be carried forward into the designs supplied with TÜV accreditation. With concise planning and execution the landscape of available designs currently supplied with TÜV certification will be transformed by our alloy wheel ranges.

COMPRESSION FORGED^{by}AXE

COMPRESSION FORGE IS A STATE OF THE ART WHEEL PRODUCTION PROCESS. THE RIM OF THE WHEEL IS COMPRESSED AT HIGH SPEED AND THE ALUMINIUM IS FORGED TO THE REQUIRED SPECIFICATIONS. THIS TECHNIQUE IS CALLED COMPRESSION FORGING, THIS PROCESS NOT ONLY ENHANCES THE STRENGTH OF THE WHEEL BUT ALSO CREATES A MUCH LIGHTER WHEEL THAN NORMAL CAST WHEELS RESULTING IN ENHANCED VEHICLE PERFORMANCE AND GREATER FUEL EFFICIENCY.

AXE Wheels is one of the World's most reputable alloy wheel providers with a stunning collection of innovative alloy wheels, built utilizing the latest alloy wheel technologies and elegant designs. The manufacturer continues to set new standards in quality, efficiency, and style. Providing unique, cutting-edge design, sophisticated sculpting, and unsurpassed ruggedness.

AXE wheels are sure to meet and exceed the most stringent quality requirements at a competitive cost. The company offers wheels from 15" to 22" in diameter to fit a wide range of vehicles. To create their top-quality alloy wheels, AXE uses Flow Forming Technology, which is a specialized process that begins with a low pressure casting, that is then placed in a forging machine that spins at high velocity. The outer barrel of the wheel is then heated to high temperature, steel rollers pressed against the rim to forge the barrel out to the desired width.

The outer barrel of the wheel is then heated to high temperature, steel rollers pressed against the rim to forge the barrel out to the desired width. Such a combination of heat, pressure, and spinning results in a wheel with strength similar to a forged wheel without the high costs. Choosing AXE wheels, you choose up to 30% lighter and stronger wheel that provides increased acceleration and better MPG.

★★★★★ Excellent Wheels for the Money

4.5 of 5

AXEB - AX1.1 COMPRESSION FORGED Silver Milled with Mirror Lip (22" x 12", -44 Offset, 5x127 Bolt Pattern, 87.1mm Hub)

If you want forged wheels that are clear coated for easy care, these are your wheels. Clean easy and will not peel like chrome. The only negative part is that you will not fit in an automated car wash where your wheels get pushed. They won't fit in the track. Style and quality is excellent. The wheels will last a long time. Plus you don't need to switch wheels in the winter like chrome.
