SAMSUNG ELECTRONICS CO. LTD.,

Opposer,

v.

APPLE INC.

Applicant.

Opposition No. 91199897

OPPOSER'S STATUS UPDATE AS TO THE CIVIL ACTION

Opposer Samsung Electronics Co. Ltd. ("Opposer") respectfully submits this status update as to the civil action that occasioned the suspension of this proceeding, as directed by the Board's Order dated August 15, 2016.

Proceedings in this matter were stayed pending the resolution of Apple, Inc. v. Samsung Electronics Co., Ltd. et al., Case No. 11-1846, in the United States District Court for the Northern District of California (the "Civil Action"). On March 6, 2014, the District Court in the Civil Action issued a final judgment, from which both parties appealed. These appeals were heard by the United States Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit under docket numbers 14-1335 and 14-1368. On May 18, 2015, after briefing and oral argument, the Federal Circuit issued its decision. A copy of the Court's Slip Opinion is attached hereto as Exhibit A for the Board's convenience. The Federal Circuit held, among other things, that Apple's asserted registered and unregistered iPhone trade dresses, which included square icons with rounded edges, were functional and therefore unprotectable. Slip Op. at 9-17. This ruling of unprotectability on functionality grounds extended specifically to Apple's icons (id. at 11, 13, 15-17) – the same element at issue in this Opposition proceeding.

Although neither Apple nor Samsung has sought further review of the Federal Circuit's relevant trade dress rulings, Samsung filed a petition for a writ of certiorari in the U.S. Supreme Court seeking review of the Federal Circuit's judgment regarding design patent infringement and damages. The U.S. Supreme Court granted Samsung's petition with respect to design patent damages. See Sup. Ct. Docket No. 15-777. The district court subsequently stayed all proceedings in the Civil Action pending resolution of matters by the Supreme Court. See Civil Action, ECF No. 3472 (March 22, 2016 Order). As of this date, briefing in the Supreme Court continues and the proceedings in the Civil Action are still stayed. Samsung therefore respectfully suggests that the instant Opposition proceedings remain suspended until all matters associated with the Civil Action are finally and fully concluded.
