Regulated Product(s)
Cosmetics

Introduction

Among the important differences between requirements for cosmetics in the United States and various other countries are the legal definitions of drugs and cosmetics, restrictions on the use of color additives and other ingredients, and registration requirements. Some products regulated as cosmetics in Europe, for instance, are regulated as drugs in the United States. Sunscreens are a case in point. There also are differences regarding prohibited and restricted ingredients, particularly color additives. Some countries may require cosmetic companies to register their establishments and list products and ingredients with the government; in the United States, cosmetic registration is voluntary but highly recommended.

How U.S. Law Defines Cosmetics

The Federal Food, Drug & Cosmetic Act (FD&C Act) defines cosmetics as "articles intended to be rubbed, poured, sprinkled, or sprayed on, introduced into, or otherwise applied to the human body...for cleansing, beautifying, promoting attractiveness, or altering the appearance." Included in this definition are products such as skin moisturizers, perfumes, lipsticks, fingernail polishes, eye and facial makeup preparations, shampoos, permanent waves, hair colors, toothpastes, and deodorants, as well as any material intended for use as a component of a cosmetic product.

How U.S. Law Defines Drugs

The FD&C Act defines drugs as "articles intended for use in the diagnosis, cure, mitigation, treatment, or prevention of disease...and articles (other than food) intended to affect the structure or any function of the body of man or other animals." Over-the-counter (OTC) drugs are drugs that can be purchased without a doctor's prescription.

The agency is conducting a review of all OTC drugs to establish monographs (rules) under which the drugs are generally recognized as safe and effective, and not misbranded. These rules are established on a class-by-class basis (for example, fluoride dentifrices, cough suppressants, and antihistamines). OTC drugs must meet the requirements of the appropriate class once that rule is published as a final regulation.

If an OTC drug does not meet the requirements of the appropriate final rule, it is considered a misbranded drug and a "new drug." A "new drug" must have an approved New Drug Application (NDA) before it may be introduced into interstate commerce. In addition, drug manufacturers must comply with Good Manufacturing Practice regulations.

Certain claims may cause a product to qualify as a drug, even if the product is marketed as if it were a cosmetic. Such claims establish the product as a drug because the intended use is to treat or prevent disease or otherwise affect the structure or functions of the human body. Some examples are claims that products will restore hair growth, reduce cellulite, treat varicose veins, or revitalize cells.

How a Product Can Be Considered Both a Cosmetic and a Drug

OTC drugs are often marketed side by side with cosmetics, and some products qualify both as cosmetics and as OTC drugs. This may happen when a product has two intended uses, with ingredients intended to do two different things. For instance, a shampoo is a cosmetic, since its intended use is to cleanse the hair. An anti-dandruff treatment is a drug, because its intended use is to treat dandruff. Consequently, an antidandruff shampoo is both a cosmetic and a drug. Among other cosmetic/drug combinations are toothpastes that contain fluoride, deodorants that are also antiperspirants, and moisturizers and makeup marketed with sun-protection claims.

Assuring Ingredient and Product Safety

Cosmetics imported into the United States, both ingredients and finished products, must meet the same criteria for safety and labeling as those manufactured domestically.

FDA does not pre-approve cosmetic products or ingredients, with the important exception of color additives. However, cosmetic firms are responsible for marketing safe, properly labeled products; using no prohibited ingredients; and adhering to limits on restricted ingredients. It is also considered good practice to follow industry safety guidelines and recommendations.

Before marketing a product containing a color additive in the United States, it is essential to determine whether the additive is approved for its intended use. A number of color additives must be certified for purity in FDA labs if they are to be used legally in a product marketed in the United States.

Although U.S. regulations do not specify any particular testing regimens for cosmetic products or ingredients, it is the cosmetic company's responsibility to substantiate product and ingredient safety prior to marketing.

Cosmetic Registration

Cosmetic companies may register in the United States through FDA's Voluntary Cosmetic Registration Program \(VCRP\). The VCRP assists FDA in carrying out its responsibility to regulate cosmetics. FDA uses the information to evaluate cosmetic products on the market. Because product filings and establishment registrations are not mandatory, voluntary submissions provide FDA with the best information available about cosmetic products and ingredients, their frequency of use, and businesses engaged in their manufacture and distribution (Federal Register, vol. 73, p. 76360, and vol. 69, p. 9339).

MIAMO: COSMECEUTICALS WHO COMBINE TRADITION AND INNOVATION

Miamo is a cosmeceutical brand created in Florida, Miami, in 2011, by two pharmacists, Elena Aceto di Capriglia and Camilla D'Antonio. I am mother and daughter and their collaboration has made it possible to combine tradition and innovation through dialogue between two generations and two countries; the common passion is the trait d'union between history and experience in Italian chemical laboratories and the most modern American scientific research. This collaboration has defined new quality standards and a new approach to beauty.

To respond in an ever more precise way to the needs of the skin accompanying it in all stages of life, making it reach and maintain an optimal state of health, Miamo cosmeceuticals use carefully selected active ingredients from the best raw materials, capable of carrying out targeted and proven actions, effectiveness. Precisely because formulated with skin health in mind, and to avoid the risk of potential allergies or forms of skin intolerance, Miamo cosmeceuticals do not contain common allergenic substances and each batch is tested for nickel.

WE MIAMO HEALTHY SKIN SYSTEM: THE WELLNESS PROTOCOL

The cosmeceutical Miamo summarizes the pay-off line, "HEALTHY SKIN SYSTEM" its mission. To keep the skin healthy, Miamo has structured a system of protocols called Miamo System, created by the Miamo scientific team. The protocol allows you to customize your skin wellness path thanks to the combination of several cosmeceutical products according to your needs, thus accessing a skin treatment of superior quality and effectiveness. The application of serums and creams follows a sequential logic that respects skin physiology and interprets its biological rules in order to guarantee the health and beauty of the skin.

MIAMO SYSTEM: 6 BEAUTY STEPS

The beauty routine gestures, according to the Miamo System, are divided into 6 steps. Cleansing and exfoliation prepare the skin for dermal stimulation which restores structural function: we then move on to the treatment to correct and improve the imperfections and then restore the essential amount of skin water, through a hydration step. The protection step completes the system to increase the protective functions, able to maintain the achieved state of well-being.

Mii amo

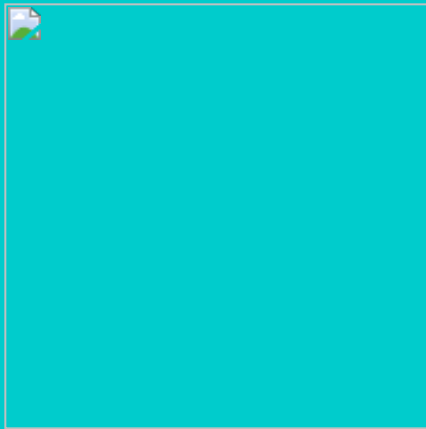

a destination spa at Enchantment

The Journey Begins...

In this lush, beautiful canyon, hidden away from the world lies an oasis. Here, there is a confluence of nature and the spirit world that has been recognized by Native Americans for thousands of years. Nestled in the heart of a private red rock canyon, bathed in beauty, one learns to walk in harmony with nature.

At Mii amo, we've endeavored to create a space where one can learn to live in harmony. We are creating a magnificent spa in one of the most sacred healing places on Earth. We invite you inside to explore what will be one of the most unique spa experiences of a lifetime, Mii amo.

Each product features Mii amo's famous custom blended essential oil, which captures the essence of luxurious days spent in this unique destination spa. Cedar, lemon myrtle and lemon peel infuse the warmth and revitalizing nature of the sun, while sage and cypress recall the purifying and uplifting qualities of the mountain air and of the rituals of the Native cultures that have inspired us.

Ayurvedic Treatments

According to Ayurveda (a 5000-year-old science of Life established in India) each of us inherits a unique proportion of three mind/body principles, which creates our specific mental and physical characteristics. These mind/body principles are called doshas. Most of us have one or two doshas, which are most lively in our nature, with the remaining one less significant. The three doshas are known as Vata, Pitta, and Kapha. We invite you to come to the Spa Scheduling Desk and fill out a questionnaire to find your dosha and what particular lifestyle habits might be most appropriate for your type. We are pleased to offer the following treatments that have been created to address specifically your dosha type to help bring you into balance.

Ayurvedic Herbal Treatment

90 minutes

The skin will be dry brushed to increase circulation and begin the exfoliation process. A blend of Indian herbs which detoxifies and nourishes the skin will be applied, followed by a massage with a dosha balancing oil. You will then be wrapped with steaming herbal sheets while a balancing facial massage is given. Your treatment will culminate by being escorted to a lounge chair for a cup of balancing tea and some time to meditate on the perfection of your life.

Shirodhara

60 minutes

$115

This is a traditional treatment found in India today. It begins with a slow pouring of warm aromatic oil onto the forehead which stimulates the pituitary gland and helps to balance the endocrine system as well as opening the third eye (the window to the soul). The oil is then massaged into the hair and scalp. Nourishing herbs are blended with the oil to cleanse and tonify the hair. While these product applications are working, a full clarifying Ayurvedic facial is performed. This is one of the most profound treatments offered here at Mii amo.

Dosha Balancing Wrap

$115/$155

After a light dry brushing to remove the top layer of skin cells which will allow the oils to deeply penetrate, you will be massaged utilizing the exotic, aromatic oils of India. These are chosen to balance your specific dosha of Vata, Pitta, or Kapha. Finally you will be cocooned, in an herbal infused sheet receiving a head, neck, and scalp massage.

Jojoba Flower & High Desert

Jojoba Flower is a line of natural skin care products inspired by the plants and herbs found in the high desert and red rock canyons around Sedona. This area's unique ecology and majestic canyons have long provided an important medicinal and spiritual resource for the Apache, Hopi, Sinagua and Yavapai Indians. Accordingly, we looked into the local folklore and the canyons rich and diverse plant life for inspiration in developing Jojoba Flower Skin and Hair Care Products. We hope you will enjoy these products, taking with you a bit of Sedona's past and present.

Jojoba Flower is a line of natural skin care products inspired by the plants and herbs found in the high desert and red rock canyons around Sedona. This area's unique ecology and majestic canyons have long provided and spiritual resource for the Apache, Hopi, Sinagua and Yavapai Indians. Accordingly, we looked into the local folklore and the canyons rich and diverse plant life for inspiration in developing Jojoba Flower Skin and Hair Care Products. We hope you will enjoy these products, taking with you a bit of Sedona past and present.
