1[P] A method comprising: performing by a first device:	LG performs either directly or indirectly, induces others to perform, and/or contributes to each step of this method as set forth below. The Accused Products meet the claim limitations by providing device-location tracking features described below. For example, the Accused Products meet the claim limitations by being pre-installed with Android mobile operating systems containing code for providing device-location tracking features as provided in the claims limitations herein. For example, the Accused Products include applications and/or software that run within the Android mobile operating system and take advantage of the Android mobile operating system to provide device-location tracking features. Under the belief, in addition to the components and features of the Android mobile operating system, the following applications and/or software run within the Android mobile operating system to provide device-location tracking features: Google Plus, Google Hangouts (including Allo and Duo), Google Maps, Google Chrome, and Android Messenger. Google Maps Share Location Share Location is currently included as a standard feature on the Accused Devices operating on Google Maps. Google Maps is a pre-installed software application in Android OS. The Accused Products have included the Share Location functionalities since 2009 as part of Google Latitude, a location feature for Google Maps on Android OS-based mobile devices, such as the Accused Products. The Share Location functionalities were briefly shifted from Latitude for Google Maps to Google Hangouts, until reappearing as a standard feature in Google Maps. Upon information available, the Share Location method also uses and/or works in conjunction with functionalities associated with Google Messages, Android Messenger, Location Access, and other features, which are included on the Accused Products. For the purposes of these contentions, AGIS sets forth Google Maps Share Location feature of the Accused Products as representative of this exemplary software. AGIS reserves the right to supplement these contentions to the extent that defendant requires additional information.
