Q: What does "non-circulating" mean?

Answered by: Laura Sider

If you see an item in our online catalog that is marked "non-circulating," it means that the book cannot be checked out for use outside of the building. You are welcome to use non-circulating items in the library.

The record for the item will always specify whether or not an item circulates. This information can be found in the "location field" or the "local notes" field.
