1 THE COURT: Good morning, everyone.

2 Suzanne, if you'd call the case, please.

3 COURTROOM DEPUTY: Sure.

4 Discovery Hearing in Civil Action W:20-CV-634,
5 styled Demaray, LLC, versus Intel Corporation, and
6 Discovery Hearing in Civil Case No. W:20-CV-636, styled
7 Demaray, LLC, versus Samsung Electronics Company Limited, a
8 Korean company, and others.

9 THE COURT: I'd like to have announcements from 10 counsel, please.

11 MR. MILVENAN: Your Honor, Plaintiff is ready.
12 Rick Milvenan from McGinnis Lochridge and Maclain Wells
13 from Irell & Manella on behalf of Demaray, LLC.

14 THE COURT: And --

15 MR. NASH: Good morning, Your Honor.

16 THE COURT: Good morning, Mr. Nash.

17 MR. NASH: Sorry, Judge, were you -- were you
18 talking? I never want to interrupt you.

19 THE COURT: I just saw you, and I said, good
20 morning.

21 MR. NASH: Okay. Good morning, Your Honor. Brian
22 Nash at Pillsbury Winthrop Shaw Pittman here on behalf of 23 Sam -- the Samsung entities. Also today are the Paul
24 Hastings team that are going to introduce themselves, and 25 they'll be taking the laboring oar on the discussion.

1 MR. RAVEL: Your Honor, for Intel, Steve Ravel
2 along with first and most importantly our client
3 representative, Jared Edgar -- Edgar.

4 The Paul Hastings usual suspects are here. From 5 Wilmer, Boston, we have an appearance from Joe Mueller.
6 And our primary speaker today is Claire Specht, also from 7 Wilmer, Boston.

8 THE COURT: Anyone else?

9 Okay. Very good. Okay. I'm happy to take up the 10 issues.

11 Jun has gotten me the list of topics and 12 questions, so I'm happy for -- for anyone -- whoever is 13 going to argue this to -- to take over.

14 MR. WELLS: Your Honor, there are motions. This 15 is Maclain Wells of Irell Manella on behalf of Demaray. So
16 it'd probably makes sense for me to go first. I'm happy to 17 take them in whatever order that you would like.

18 The first issue addresses both Defendants, and the 19 second issue relates to Intel specifically. And I think
20 they have some concerns about confidentiality. So it might 21 make sense for us to do the general one first. And then if 22 anybody needs to leave, we can cover the Intel one. Is 23 that acceptable?

24 THE COURT: That's great.

25 MR. WELLS: Okay. So just to reorient the Court,

1 very quickly. Two patents-in-suit, they relate to reactor
2 configurations used to deposit thin films. One relates to
3 method claims, one relates to apparatus claims.

4 And within these patents, there's various
5 limitations, including limitations relating to a DC power
6 that's used, an RF bias that's used, and an RF filter
7 that's used with specific characteristics.

8 Now, the parties have been going round and round
9 about identifying reactors that have DC power sources and
10 an RF bias, and then also the additional details on the RF
11 filters for other protective -- alternative protective
12 mechanisms that are used. And we've come to the Court
13 repeatedly on this.

14 So back in December of last year, we should have 15 gotten basic information on reactor configurations, but we 16 didn't. We had three motions to compel in the spring, we 17 had a stipulation by the parties in the summer, and this
18 all culminated with the latest hearing on September 27th
19 where we came to the Court and asked for specific
20 information, which the Court ordered, but we're still not
21 getting what we need, and so that's the background.

22 Now, if the Court will recall, at the last
23 hearing, there was a dispute regarding the RF filters. And 24 so there's a certain subset of reactors for which the 25 Defendants have identified an RF filter. And for those
