Marylee Robinson is a Managing Director in the Disputes, Compliance, & Investigations group. She specializes in providing expert testimony and litigation consulting services, including determinations of damages in commercial litigation matters and conducting fraud and forensic accounting investigations.

Marylee has over 19 years of experience preparing damages opinions in significant intellectual property infringement and breach of contract matters. These matters have included preparing lost profits, disgorgement of profits, price erosion, and reasonable royalty damage opinions involving design and utility patents, trademarks, trade dress, and copyrights. Her experience in these matters has covered such industries as pharmaceuticals, software, and, most recently, consumer electronic devices, including smartphones and tablets.

Marylee also has extensive experience providing fraud and forensic accounting services in white collar crime cases with an emphasis on matters involving the analysis of voluminous documents and data. Her fraud and forensic accounting experience includes assistance to the Department of Justice in a series of investigations of corporate executives indicted for white
