Philip Morris International (PMI) has announced that its new corporate headquarters will be located in the central business district of Stamford, Connecticut.

The move, expected to take place at the end of 2022, is another significant step on PMI's journey as it transforms to a smoke-free company.

With the support of Governor Ned Lamont and PMI's leadership, the new headquarters will initially bring around 200 jobs to boost Connecticut's economic growth.

In total, the economic impact of these jobs is expected to be approximately USD 50 million in 2022.

"Connecticut's position as a leader in innovation and forward thinking, paired with a commitment to open-minded civil discourse, allows us to foster an even stronger company culture," said Deepak Mishra, President of the Americas Region at PMI. "PMI will continue to attract an educated workforce, becoming an integral part of the local community and a source of pride for the state."
